SENATE DELAYS ITS SHOWDOWN ON RELIEF CUT

Claim 48 Votes for Restoring Slash.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Senate administration leaders delayed action on the pending 725 million dollar deficiency relief appropriation bill today in the hope that pressure from mayors of large cities would sway enough votes to increase the fund to the 875 million demanded by President Roosevelt.

A secret poll prepared by administration leaders showed forty-eight senators favoring restoration of the 150 million dollar cut voted by the house of representatives and sustained by the senate appropriations committee on this basis. If the full senate membership voted, an affirmative motion to increase the appropriation would lose in a tie. Moreover, one of the senators listed in favor of the increase was Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], who declared emphatically that he would vote to sustain the 150 million cut.

Pairing May Decide.

Republican and Democratic economy advocates, while claiming victory by two or three votes, also favored delaying a showdown because of the inability of absentees to obtain pairs. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] and Senator William H. King [D., Utah] were absent on account of illness, while Senator H. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.] had to visit his son.

The lineup on the relief appropriation, involving the first senate test in the new congress of President Roosevelt's deficit spending policy, is so close that the outcome possibly may turn on the failure of a senator to get a pair.

The 23 Republican senators, at a conference today, agreed that not more than 3 of their number would be lost to the administration. These are Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho], Senator Lynn J. Frazier [R., N. D.], and Senator James J. Davis [R., Pa.].

Democrats Favor Cut.

On the Democratic side, Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, and Senator Alva B. Adams of Colorado are leading the fight for a beginning toward curtailment of federal deficit spending.

The Roosevelt administration is moving heaven and earth in an effort to upset the 150 million cut voted by the house and the senate appropriations committee. The relief administration is warning local chambers of commerce, mayors and other officials of disastrous consequences if the President's demands are not met. This propaganda is having its effect, for letters and telegrams are pouring in by the thousands urging senators to support the President. As a result of the deluge of propaganda, half a dozen senators who have been counted upon for support by both sides are wobbling.

Kelly Sends Plea.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis [D., Ill.] sent up to the press gallery today a long telegram from Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, which was typical of the appeals being received from mayors throughout the country. Mayor Kelly's telegram, warning of "chaos," said in part:

"The Chicago relief administration says there are 42,000 employable persons on its direct relief rolls who are not working. It is urgent, to avoid difficulties, that WPA employment in Chicago be increased substantially. It now employs 105,000. That should be increased, as a minimum, to the October level of 121,000, and preferably higher. Lack of employment in Chicago is greater now than it has been at this season in the last three years, according to the Association of Commerce employé index. To provide for 120,000 employables on WPA it is estimated that $9,000,000 per month will be required."

Debate on Needs.

The senate debate on the relief issue for the most part was devoted to further wrangling over the funds actually needed to finance the WPA from Feb. 7 to June 30. Administration leaders contend that the 150 million cut will force a two-thirds reduction in the present roll—3,000,000 WPA workers—by the end of June. The opposition contends that no reductions need be made before the first of April and that only 300,000 a month will have to be laid off in April, May, and June.

JOE LOUIS STOPS LEWIS; BOUT ENDS IN 2½ MINUTES

Joe Louis, former Golden Gloves champion, retained his world heavyweight title last night by stopping John Henry Lewis, light heavyweight champion, in the first round of a scheduled fifteen round bout in Madison Square Garden, New York. The referee stopped the bout after 2:29 minutes had elapsed and Lewis had been knocked down three times.

The attendance was 17,350 and receipts were $102,015.34.

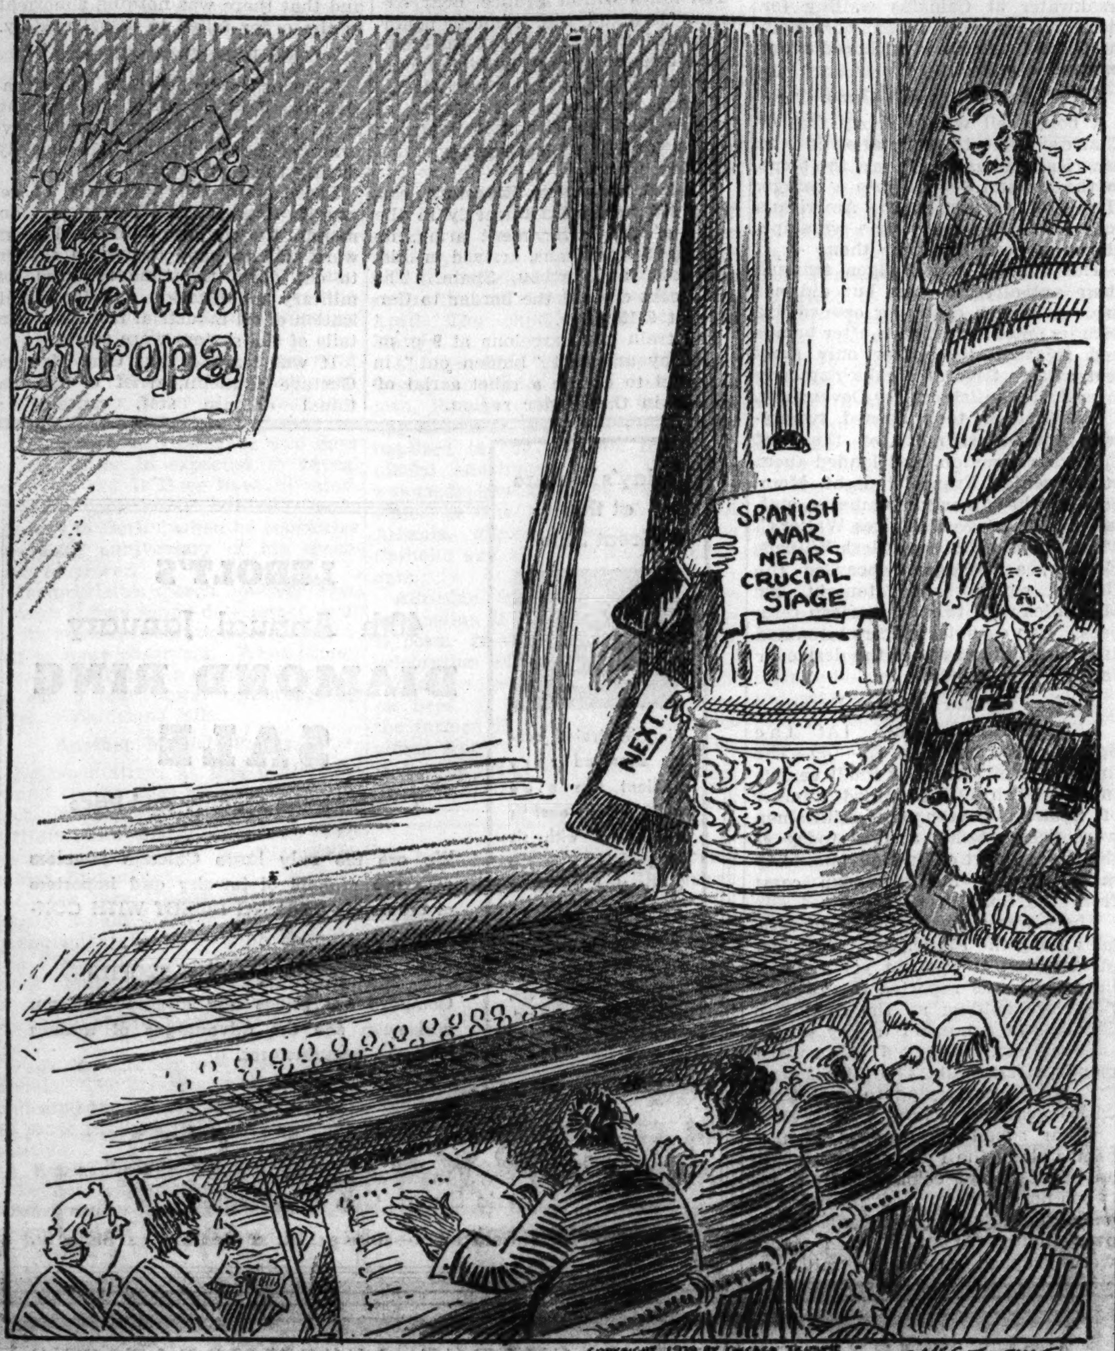
Barcelona Afire; Escape Is Cut Off

WHAT NEXT?



Feudin' Again! McCoys Shoot First, but Lose

Matewan, W. Va., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—The Hatfields and the McCoys, those fightin' families that four decades ago waged the bloodiest feud in mountain history, came together in Matewan again tonight.

Nine Hatfields there were this time, descendants of the notorious Devil Anse, the patriarch of the clan that battled the McCoys all over the hills of Mingo and Logan counties, across the Tug river, and up the hollows of Pike county in Kentucky. There were only six of the McCoys left to face them.

300 Partisans Follow.

Rallying behind the remnants of the two clans came 300 partisans, sisters, aunts, and cousins, mountaineers and miners. With them came steely eyed moonshiners whom nothing less than a flareup of the old family feud could have dragged from their moonshining strongholds.

Into the Matewan High school gymnasium they streamed. On one side the Hatfields, led by Glen, lined up, Sonny Cabell—named for the famous old Virginia governor—Walter, Sid, Carl, Frank, Early, and William. Rangy Sam McCoy had behind him Bay, Mack, Bob, Jim, and Pete, all purebred shootin' McCoys.

Sam McCoy Shoots First.

It was Sam who drew first blood. He drew a fine bead and shot. But from then on it was all Hatfield, just as it had been along before the turn of the century when the Hatfield scourge wiped out scores of the McCoys, all because a pig had strayed from the Hatfield plantation on to the McCoy land.

When the battling was over eight fouls had been called on the McCoys, six on the Hatfields, and the Hatfield basketball team had won, 17 to 5.

The Big Bass Player Huffs and Puffs, but No Oompah

Russell, Ky., Jan. 25.—(AP)—The big bass horn player of Russell High school took a deep breath and blew. There was no "oompah." Lodged in one of the horn's curves, he found a soft drink bottle, apparently dropped into the bell by an excited basketball fan.

WHIZ BANG BOMB RIPS HIS TROUSERS SEAT AND PUTS HIM ON THE SPOT

A number of young men have been frightened right out of their jalopies of late when they stepped on the starters and there was an ominous whizzing noise, followed by a terrifying "boom!"

Most of the explosions took place around New Trier High school. Police sought in vain for the culprit who attached the whiz-bang bombs to the spark plugs.

Yesterday Lawrence Cole, 18 years old, 320 South Auburn avenue, Winnetka, was sitting near a radiator in a New Trier classroom. There was a whizzing noise, followed by a "boom!" A bomb in Lawrence's pocket blew the seat out of his trousers.

Last night he was in Evanston hospital with burns that were classified as embarrassing, but not serious.

Chicago Gets Complete New Building Code

For the first time since 1911 Chicago today has a complete new building code. The final seven chapters were adopted by the city council yesterday. And Mayor Kelly indicated that he will soon appoint the members of a special commission to keep the code permanently up to date.

Ald. James J. McDermott [14th], chairman of the council subcommittee in charge of the code, said its passage should help break up the log jam that has tied up the building industry.

"Barriers to modern building have been removed," he said. "Many new economies are now possible for the first time. Those who invest their savings in homes can be safe in the knowledge that only materials and methods of proven worth are admitted under the Chicago code."

Amending Process Changed.

By setting up the commission those who drafted the new regulations tried to eliminate one of the evils of the old code—the almost impossible task of getting amendments passed by the council. Now the process of changing the code has been simplified and, officials said, made fair for every one.

The commission to be appointed will consist of three aldermen, three engineers or architects, and the building commissioner. It is authorized to inquire into new materials and construction methods. It will review all requests for amendments and report its findings to the city council.

Drafted by Citizens' Committee.

A citizens' committee appointed two years ago by Mayor Kelly did most of the work on the new code. The council subcommittee, headed by Ald. McDermott, worked through last summer on the final draft.

Chief reason for the delays in adopting a new code was the wrangling between building, labor, and manufacturing interests over the provisions.

Great savings are possible, according to experts, through the new chapter on the use of reënforced concrete; a reduction in the required thickness of walls and lowering of the ceiling height for dwelling rooms, and the allowed use of substitutes for lath and plaster wherever standards for fire resistance and sanitation are not violated.

REFUGEE HORDE TRAPPED; CITY DEFIES FRANCO

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier], Jan. 25.—(AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco's troops laid a ring of shellfire and steel about Barcelona tonight. They demanded surrender of the estimated two million inhabitants, refugees and defenders of the city. They were met by the challenge that the city would be defended "inch by inch, street by street and house by house."

The defenders broadcast their defiance as fires raged in the city. Bomb and shell-shattered buildings in the port section were in flames. Fires licked their way from the workers' sections in the old quarter of the city toward the crowded new city section where most of the refugees were housed.

Refugees Turned Back.

Rebel siege lines ringed Barcelona on the southwest, west, and northwest, and shellfire cut off the last overland escape for hundreds of thousands of refugees and the rear guard force left to cover the northward retreat of the main government army.

The rebels had penetrated Barcelona proper at its southern outskirts. Siege lines cut across every highway and railway from the city except the coast road to the northeast. Since midafternoon even that route had been under fire of big guns. Hordes of aged men, women, and children trying to use that exit were turned back tonight. Barcelona's only means of communication with the outside world was by radio.

The Barcelona radio station broadcast the challenge to a finish fight, as the Spanish press agency in London reported that Socialist and syndicalist trade union organizations had decided to hurl the joint declaration in the face of Gen. Franco's troops.

Leaflets Urge Surrender.

The broadcast declared:

"The taking of Barcelona will not be an easy matter. The population of Barcelona is ready and the city will be defended inch by inch, street by street, and house by house. Every man and woman is fiercely determined not to yield a step before foreign [Italians and Germans assisting Franco] invaders."

Rebel airplanes, which for days have been bombing Barcelona almost ceaselessly, today dropped bales of leaflets calling upon the city to surrender to save its inhabitants from a destructive attack.

More than 500 persons had been killed by aerial and artillery bombardments in the last five days. Meanwhile rebel shells dug holes in Barcelona's streets.

Poised for "Knockout Blow."

A rebel army was poised in the southern outskirts for a "knockout blow." Rebel announcements said other armies were rushing up for reenforcements for the west and northwest. One of these columns was reported by rebels to have passed Rubio, six miles to the west.

Rebel infantrymen were reported waiting until Barcelona was completely cut off so that simultaneous entry might be made from the north, west, and south.

Gen. Juan Yague's Moroccan legionnaires were in the southern outskirts. On the north and northwest Gen. Juan Solchaga's Navarrese [Spaniards] were at the gates, and the Italian Littorio division was moving in from the west.

Plan New Defense Line.

The government had moved to a new capital "somewhere" in Gerona province, followed by the bulk of the army which was said to be forming a new defense line just below the Gerona provincial border.

The government's new line of resistance was reported to run from the coast, near Arenys de Mar about twenty-five miles northeast of Barcelona, to the northwest through the hills south of Vich, a communications center, and thence to Solsona where it bent straight north to the French border.

EX-HEAD OF VETS DEMANDS TRUTH ABOUT ARMS RACE

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—A demand that President Roosevelt furnish congress with a detailed explanation of the necessity for his huge armaments program was voiced on the house floor today by Representative James E. Van Zandt [R., Pa.], former commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

James E. Van Zandt.

At the same time, the house naval affairs committee was quizzing Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, concerning the administration's proposal to spend $5,000,000 on naval improvements to the harbor of Guam Island, only 1,400 miles from Japan.

Suspicious of Program.

These developments indicated a growing suspicion in congress concerning Mr. Roosevelt's defense proposals, for which appropriations of 1 billion, 782 million dollars have been requested by the chief executive.

"By whom are we threatened that these vast expenditures are so essential at this time?" Van Zandt queried the membership of the house. "Why is it rumored in service circles that by 1941 we must have our army air force and our navy tremendously increased? Can it be that we are preparing to spend upward of two billion dollars on national defense only to use our army and navy for the protection of some other nation?"

Reviews Stages of "Crisis."

Van Zandt remarked upon Anthony Eden's recent visit to President Roosevelt and the coming visit of the king and queen of England. He spoke of the President's dramatization of the "crisis" by sending his ambassadors to France and England before the house and senate military affairs committees to urge upon congress the dangers of war with the dictator nations.

"Could it be that—almost without knowing it—we are preparing huge increases in the air force for the benefit of England?" he asked.

"England certainly could use our help. Japan threatens Hongkong. Japanese troops are almost to Burma, where vast India boils. Palestine is restless. Mussolini is astride the Mediterranean. England, to save London and her industrial cities, sold out Czecho-Slovakia at Munich. Do you think she would hesitate to sell out America to save her loosely bound empire?"

Purely Defensive, Says Leahy.

Admiral Leahy told the naval affairs committee that a proposed total expenditure of $65,000,000 on naval bases, recommended by the President, is purely a defensive measure.

"If the United States is to continue the maintenance of an Asiatic squadron, it is necessary that a base for repairs be available somewhere in the western Pacific," he said.

At present, Admiral Leahy said, the navy contemplates only an improvement of facilities for handling airplanes at Guam.

The navy chief estimated that $80,000,000 would be required to fortify Guam so that it could hold out against an enemy attack for three weeks or a month.

HOW COLD? THIS THERMOMETER IS SURELY CORRECT

An instrument that will measure temperature changes down to one-millionth of a degree was demonstrated yesterday at Northwestern university. But it isn't the kind of a thermometer a householder would want to put up outside the living room window. To protect the recording apparatus from shock, it is hung by a strand of wire attached to a framework resting on a 12 ton concrete base.

The instrument, called a micro-calorimeter, was developed by Prof. Frank T. Gucker Jr., Dr. Hugh Pickard, and Dr. Ralph W. Planck of the Northwestern chemistry department.

The micro-calorimeter is so sensitive it will measure the amount of heat produced when sugar dissolves in water.

TOWNS IN CHILE WIPED OUT IN GREAT DISASTER

Rush Aid by Planes, Trains, and Boats.

BY NORMAN INGREY.

(Map on Back Page.)

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 25.—Thousands of persons were reported to have been killed in a series of earthquakes today. The shocks spread death and destruction through a 400 mile strip along the Pacific coast and eastward seventy-five miles across the country.

President Pedro Aguirre Cerda [who left for quake zone].

Official bulletins issued by the ministry of interior left no doubt that the country had suffered the worst quake disaster since Aug. 16, 1906, when 1,500 persons were killed in Valparaiso.

"The number of deaths certainly is some thousands," Acting Governor Herrera Reyes said in a radio report from Concepcion, capital of the province of Concepcion.

Reports 10,000 Killed.

The newspaper Imparcial, which is usually well informed, confirmed a report that no less than 10,000 met death. An aviator, who flew over Chillan, said that city of 40,000 was "completely destroyed." He reported that he believed 15,000 were killed there alone.

Two other aviators reported 4,000 and 5,000 fatalities in Chillan. One of them said 10,000 were injured, many fatally. He reported that the roof and walls of a theater collapsed during a charity show, killing the entire audience of 300.

[The area stricken by the quake is in an agricultural zone, the products including wheat, barley, wool, hides, and skins. There is coal mining also in the region south of Concepcion. The great majority of Chile's population is of European origin, though there are three groups of native inhabitants: The Fuegians, the Araucanians, and the Changos. The foundation of the Chilean race came from such unions as those of Spanish soldiers and the fierce Araucanians, whom they were sent to conquer.]

Fires Rage in Two Cities.

Concepcion, a city of 77,500 and 250 air miles south of Santiago, the federal capital, felt the full fury of the quakes, which began shortly before last midnight. First reports said 2,000 persons were killed in Concepcion. Blocks of business houses were reported destroyed. Fires raged there and at the neighboring naval base of Talcahuano, where 30 were reported dead. Both cities were placed under a state of siege. Many villages were demolished in that area.

Cauquenes, a city of 6,500 population, famous for its mineral springs, was officially reported largely in ruins, with the inhabitants camping in the streets. The number of victims was not known, but was believed large. The city is 60 miles south of Santiago.

Numerous deaths were reported from the coal mining area known as Lota, while the seaside resort of Tome was destroyed entirely.

Some privately operated short wave radios said that the cities of Los Angeles and Parral, in addition to Chillau, were wiped out completely. Officials were unable to confirm the reports.

Dead Buried in Ditches.

The National Air Line issued a statement, based on the report of one of the pilots who flew over Chillan, 220 miles south of Santiago, which said that only three houses appeared habitable in 144 city blocks.

The pilot said he could see large numbers of injured lying on the ground and a house converted into a hospital.

The dead were being buried in large ditches dug in streets converging on the plaza where there were several piles of bodies, he reported. Because of midsummer heat burials were hastened to avert epidemics.

Reports told of death and destruction in the following places:

Renaico, a small town fifty miles

Angol—Five dead.

Talca—Great damage.

President Leaves for Area.

President Pedro Aguirre Cerda, accompanied by Minister of Interior Pedro Alfonso, left Santiago for Concepcion by special train this noon to gain first hand information of the disaster. It was doubtful whether the train, which carried forty-one physicians, medical supplies, and police detachments, would get through, because the quakes broke rails in several sections.

The government commandeered all private planes to convey physicians, nurses, and medical supplies to the stricken zone. As fast as national and international airplanes arrived at the city airport, Los Cerrillos, they were refueled and sped for the south.

Two destroyers, the Riquelme and the Serrano, left Valparaiso at 6 o'clock this evening for Talcahuano with a relief expedition.

The British cruiser Exeter, which was visiting Valparaiso, prepared to leave that port to assist in rescue work.

National Mourning Proclaimed.

National mourning has been proclaimed. The Socialist party, which exerts a strong influence in the government, announced it will present a bill for an enforced loan of 500,000,000 pesos [about $20,000,000] to reconstruct the devastated cities. The government issued orders to all public officials to return to their posts. Most of them are on vacations.

The government in a proclamation admitted that the quakes had assumed more serious proportions than was at first realized [this presumably because slight damage occurred in Santiago and Valparaiso].

A decree of the ministry of interior placed all radio broadcasting stations under military control with strict prohibition against broadcasting any information concerning the earthquake except official bulletins.

The licenses of a number of amateur stations also were suspended. Since telegraph and telephone lines already were out of commission the order greatly restricted sources of information.

The ministry of interior appealed to foreign correspondents to accept only official figures of the dead and injured.

Observatory Explains Quakes.

The national observatory at El Salto in a statement explained the quakes were preceded by intense atmospheric depression which provoked torrential week-end rains. Years of observation of quakes and the weather in Chile by this observatory, the statement continued, proved that tremors and quakes always are associated with abrupt changes in the weather.

Concepcion, which suffered severe damage and casualties, was founded by the Spanish conquistador, Pedro de Valdivia, but was moved to its present site on the banks of the Bio-Bio river in the year 1751 because of a succession of earthquakes and tidal waves.

In its new position the city was razed in a quake in 1835 when a tidal wave also destroyed Talcahuano. The citizens of Concepcion rebuilt their city.

It is a center of textile, pottery and coal mining industries, besides possessing its own university. It is the only city in a country of earthquakes which moved its site to attempt to escape from the convulsions of nature. In recent years civic leaders congratulated themselves on the relative earthquake calm.

Rebels Prepare Final Blow to Barcelona

Spanish rebel armies yesterday were poised for a "knockout blow" to capture Barcelona. Troops and guns cut off escape from the city. Fires raged in the port district. Map locates the position of a new Catalonian defense line being prepared in event of Barcelona's fall. Bombs fell in France during yesterday's aerial activities along the northern frontier.

The Spanish civil war began with uprisings in the principal garrison towns and initial troop movements from Cadiz, Burgos, and Pamplona.

After a year of war the rebels had linked their southern and northern territories, except for a strip of the northern coast.

Early in 1938 the rebels completed occupation of the northern coast and also split Catalonia from the rest of loyalist Spain.

In the drive which began last Dec. 23 Gen. Franco extended his holdings on the coast and captured all but a third of Catalonia.

CHILEAN QUAKE IS RECORDED ON U. OF C. MACHINE

The seismograph at the University of Chicago registered the severe earthquake that did tremendous damage in southern Chile yesterday. Calculations by Milton Swenson, junior meteorologist in charge of the weather bureau office on the campus, indicated that the shock occurred 5,350 miles south of Chicago.

Swenson said the first wave was recorded at 9:44 a. m. and the second at 9:54. At 10:10 a. m. there was a prolonged temblor. Lesser waves were noted for three hours longer.

The same shocks were recorded by the Loyola university seismograph.

52 AMERICAN REFUGEES TAKEN FROM WAR ZONE

Leave Spanish Port in Midst of Bombing.

ABOARD U. S. CRUISER OMAHA, Off Spain, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The American warships Omaha and Badger evacuated fifty-two American refugees today under salvos of bombs from twelve rebel planes off the coast at Caldetas, twenty-four miles northeast of Barcelona.

The Americans escaped injury from the bombs which killed at least four persons in the village of Arenys de Mar, in the Caldetas harbor zone. The coastal road was continuously strafed. Several trucks were set afire, congesting trafic.

One bomb fell near fifteen American refugees as they stood on the breakwater at Caldetas waiting for the motor launch and whaleboat from the Omaha which was anchored about two miles out.

Man Anti-Aircraft Guns.

A bomb fell within thirty feet of Charles Gilbert, secretary of the American embassy. He saw the bomb in the air and dodged into a refuge. More bombs burst as the Americans rode the rough sea to the warships, although none fell near them.

The Omaha and Badger manned their anti-aircraft guns but did not fire. A French destroyer opened fire with its anti-aircraft guns after bombs had splashed the water only sixty feet away. Several bombs narrowly missed the British cruiser Devonshire.

The Badger took aboard twenty-two Americans, most of them of Spanish extraction, and landed them at Marseilles, France, tonight. Members of the American embassy staf, including Chargé d'Affaires Walter C. Thurston and Embassy Clerk William Krieger, a Chicagoan, boarded the Omaha which sailed tonight for Marseilles with thirty American refugees. Two consular officers remained ashore at Caldetas with the destroyer Jacob Jones standing by.

Refugee Stream Reaches France.

PERPIGNAN, France [At the Spanish Frontier], Jan. 25.—(AP)—The first three of a fleet of small vessels in which an undetermined number of Spanish government militiamen were fleeing Spain arrived today at the French port of La Nouvelle, forty miles up the Mediterranean coast from the Spanish border.

There was a steady trickle of refugees along the French-Spanish border all day, but it was not yet a major influx. It was reported Spanish police were holding up the exodus of Catalans at a number of key points.

Rebel airmen dogged the government's withdrawal. They attacked retreating forces, trying to rout them with machine gun fire.

Other squadrons dropped tons of bombs along the Pyrenees frontier in an effort to cut communications between northeastern government Spain and France. Aerial warfare extended over the border. Seventeen bombs were dropped on French soil near Fourmigueres. They exploded in woods and open fields, causing little damage.

Ten miles within France, near Arrens, a German made, tri-motor bomber crashed, killing all five of the crew. It had been pierced by bullets, apparently in a loyalist-rebel air battle.

French anti-aircraft batteries at Cerbere had to fire two warning rounds at four trespassing rebel bombing planes.

The last train from Barcelona, carrying 400 foreigners formerly in the ranks of the government army, including 95 Americans, arrived in mid-afternoon at Portbou, Spain. The volunteers crossed the border to Cerbere at 5:15 p. m.

FRANCE RUSHES DEFENSE; FEARS SUDDEN ATTACK

Speed of Mobilizing Army Is Nearly Doubled.

PARIS, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The French general staf has nearly doubled the speed of the nation's wartime mobilization system to be prepared against any possible lightning attack, it was learned tonight.

This and other precautionary measures have been taken in view of widely expressed concern lest the Mediterranean situation suddenly come to a head upon the fall of Barcelona.

The calling up of 60,000 reservists in Italy added to the concern expressed by officials and press. Explanations from Rome that only a relatively small number were called and that there was nothing abnormal in the order failed to dispel anxiety.

Stock Exchange Reacts.

Nervousness concerning the situation has been manifest also on the stock exchange, where French government bonds have fallen heavily during the last month.

Faced with the possibility of renewed Italian Mediterranean demands, the nation's military leaders were said to have evolved a system to cut down the time required for military mobilization and for mobilization of all industrial facilities. Details of the system were secret.

It was learned that Gen. Maurice Gustave Gamelin, chief of the national defense staf, canceled a projected tour of north Africa and was remaining with the supreme war council. Vice Admiral Jean Darlan, chief of the naval staf who was to have been accompanied by Gamelin, will sail tomorrow from Toulon.

Preparations Are Pushed.

Preparations have been pushed throughout French territory bordering on the Mediterranean to meet any eventuality which might come from demands for slices of France's colonial empire.

Le Temps said that upon the fall of Barcelona, and regardless whether the rest of government Spain held out, the question of Premier Mussolini's keeping his promise to withdraw his troops from Spain would come to a head.

The chamber of deputies foreign affairs committee voted to ask the government to take immediate steps to intensify French propaganda throughout the world. This would be accomplished by radio, printed matter, and dispatch of official missions to offset German and Italian propaganda putting France in the light of a decadent power.

Britain Moves Barcelona Embassy to French Port

LONDON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The foreign office announced that Ralph Stevenson, the British minister to government Spain, left Barcelona this afternoon with his staf on the British cruiser Devonshire. The staf was to proceed to Port Vendres, France, and remain there for developments.

[Several other embassies, including the American, are remaining at Caldetas, twenty-four miles northeast of Barcelona.]

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SECOND MUNICH PARLEY PLANNED BY CHAMBERLAIN

England Expected to Put Pressure on France.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain held a three hour meeting with his cabinet today to consider possible effects of the fall of Barcelona upon the European situation.

It was announced that all other business had been set aside to permit full debate when parliament reassembles Tuesday, by which time it is feared that Europe will have reached another crisis.

London had a bad spell of "Hitler jitters," and the prolonged cabinet meeting was a measure of it. So far, however, despite increasing pressure on all sides and growing street demonstrations, Chamberlain is holding to his purpose not to lend aid—which in any case would be too late now—to loyalist Spain.

7,000 to Strike Today.

Seven thousand London aircraft factory workers decided to go on a one day strike tomorrow and march to Downing street to demand that Chamberlain send arms and food to the loyalists and protect British shipping and trading in Spain.

Chamberlain may issue a warning to Premier Mussolini of Italy and Reichsfuehrer Hitler of Germany in a speech Saturday in Birmingham.

The speech will be made two days before Hitler is expected to reveal what he and Il Duce have in mind. Hitler's declaration will be made Monday in Berlin, when he celebrates the sixth anniversary of his ascension to power.

Chamberlain's speech, however, even though it may sound determined, will be for home consumption only, according to some observers. What Chamberlain really has in mind, they say, is to call a four power conference as soon as Barcelona falls.

Another Munich Parley.

Representatives at this conference would be the ones who went to Munich in September, when France, Britain, and Italy agreed to Germany's annexation of the Czecho-Slovakian Sudetenland.

At the new Munich parley Chamberlain would advance new plans of appeasement by putting pressure on the French to make them agree to meet "Mussolini's legitimate claims" and by promising British financial and economic aid to both Italy and Germany.

How the French will react is not certain. The press in London tonight indicated that the British already are at work persuading Paris to be reasonable.

Report Recognition of Claims.

London papers said that certain French realist elements are willing to recognize that the Italians have cause for grievance in Tunisia and Djibouti.

[The Fascists recently raised a clamor for possession or control of French lands, among them Tunisia, French protectorate in northern Africa, and Djibouti, port of French Somaliland on the eastern African coast and terminus of the railway to Italian Ethiopia.]

Those who foresee Chamberlain's policy taking this direction discount the present war scare and the pessimism in London, which is said to be intended to have an effect on the French and on popular opinion in Britain.

War Bluff Expected.

They also believe that Hitler and Il Duce will put on a theatrical war bluff next month, but that Hitler has limited the extent to which he actually will back up Il Duce's claims—a limit short of going to war. The outcome of the next few weeks seems to hang on this.

Chamberlain's position was strengthened today in facing parliament and in dealing with those who oppose his policy by another signal split in opposition Labor ranks.

The Labor party executive expelled Sir Stafford Cripps from the party and from membership in the executive.

Cripps was a rebel who tried to organize a popular front of all parties opposed to Chamberlain after the idea had been rejected by the executive. The rank and file of the party, however, may not back up its executive, it was indicated tonight.

Queen Awaits Heir

QUEEN GERALDINE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The birth of a child to Queen Geraldine, consort of King Zog I. of Albania, will revive the religious controversy aroused at the time of the royal wedding last April. The child is expected in March.

At the time of his wedding to Queen Geraldine, who is half American, it was understood that King Zog consented that their children be baptized in the Catholic faith. No official announcement of this ever was made, however. Zog is a Moslem, which is the religion of most of Albania, although there are some Catholic and Greek Orthodox adherents.

Albanian tribesmen plan a huge celebration if an heir to the throne is born. If the baby is a girl, the celebration will be smaller.

Zog was proclaimed king of Albania on Sept. 1, 1928. Queen Geraldine, the former Hungarian Countess Geraldine Apponyi, is 22 years old. Her mother is the former Gladys Virginia Stewart of New York.

THREE INDICTED FOR TAKING $2,100 FROM OLD TRUNK

Three young men were indicted by the grand jury yesterday on larceny charges involving the theft of $2,100 from an old trunk. The trunk was given to Mrs. Sidney Beauchamp, 85th street and Cicero avenue, Stickney township, by her aunt, Miss Margaret Stewart. Miss Stewart died shortly afterward on Dec. 10 in the Blaine-Ramsay hosptial.

Mrs. Beauchamp's son, Warren, 18 years old, found twenty-one $100 bills in the trunk. He told Robert Sheldon, 18, of 4811 South Lockwood avenue. The grand jury indicted Sheldon and Robert Martin, 18, of 2626 West 35th street, and Peter Dutkiewicz, 21, of 4350 South Knox avenue, who shared in the money. They pleaded not guilty and will be tried Feb. 14 before Judge George Fred Rush.

HITLER BACKS UP ITALIAN CLAIMS; WARNS FRANCE

Fuehrer Receives 260 Nazi Military Leaders.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—Official Germany today stressed that after the fall of Barcelona to the Spanish rebels, Germany's support of her axis partner and ally, Italy, will be stronger than ever.

This emphasis was made public while Reichsfuehrer Hitler received in his chancellory 260 generals and admirals, including all army corps and divisional commanders, as well as the highest ranking officers of the air force. Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop also addressed the officers.

The Frankfurter Zeitung, organ of the foreign office, said: "Germany will continue to support most emphatically Italy's justified claims and complaints."

Refers to French Warnings.

Referring to French warnings that France may seize Spanish Morocco and the Spanish island of Minorca as security if Italy fails to withdraw her troops immediately after Gen. Francisco Franco's rebels are victorious in Spain, the newspaper added: "Such a game would be dangerous and would mean asking Mussolini to grab as much as he can between France's southern border and North Africa."

American demonstrations for loyalist Spain were attacked by the Frankfurter Zeitung.

"The war ideology in Spain is nearing its end," it said. "This moment is being seized by American circles, who wage war with words and ink rather than blood, to demand arms for red Spain in order not to be forced to admit their own decisive defeat."

Other papers referred to the "systematic bolshevist agitation in America, which is openly tolerated and even supported by American authorities."

Receive Italian Leader.

To further strengthen the Rome-Berlin axis Hitler and Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, today received Roberto Farinacci, Italian editor and former secretary of the Fascist party. Nazi circles said that Count Galeazzo Ciani, Italian foreign minister, has accepted Germany's invitation to attend the sixth anniversary of Hitler's assumption of power next Monday. The reichstag of 855 members will meet at 8:30 p. m. on that day to hear a message from Hitler.

The Fuehrer's meeting with his military leaders was interpreted to mean that he and his aids are having some difficulty in explaining the need of placing the semi-military training of "all men able to bear arms" under the supervision of the Hitler Troopers.

All attempts by Hitler Troopers to share in the military training of the population hitherto was opposed by the military leaders. The aspirations of Capt. Ernst Roehm to become war minister resulted in his execution by a firing squad.

CZECHS ORDER INQUIRY INTO JAN MASARYK'S STATEMENTS IN U. S.

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The Czecho-Slovak foreign office has ordered an investigation of statements made by Jan Masaryk, the republic's former minister to London, on his current visit to the United States, it was announced tonight.

The investigation is directed principally against a newspaper article Masaryk wrote and two addresses he delivered on his lecture tour in the United States. The addresses were criticized in the Czech press.

[Last Monday in an address in New York Masaryk said there was little chance for success of further appeasement in Europe by the methods of Munich, which he attacked. "Soon," he said, "nothing will be left to give away except territory belonging to the great powers." Speaking Jan. 18 in Chicago, he said that the judgment of history will be against the majority groups in countries in which minorities are mistreated.]

'Lowest Form of Thief' Sent to Jail for 2 Years

When Jerome Astamsky, 17 years old, 946 West 18th place, was arraigned in Boys' court yesterday, Judge Joseph B. Hermes told him, "you are guilty of the lowest form of thievery." Astamsky was seized last Friday in the Church of the Sacred Heart, 1901 South Peoria street. He had taken $1.57 from the poor box and a microscope from the parochial school next door. Hermes sentenced him to two years in the Bridewell.

60,000 ITALIAN RESERVES CALLED TO WAR TRAINING

France Gets New Warning to Stay Out of Spain.

ROME, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Italy today started calling army reservists for training in modern warfare and voiced a new warning to France against sending troops into Spanish territory.

A first quota of 60,000 men of the class of 1901, now 38 years old, was ordered to report for duty Feb. 1. This first contingent represented slightly less than 1 per cent of the estimated 6,700,000 reservists available. It was not disclosed how many additional men would be called.

Report Others Summoned.

Italians said that reservists of some other classes, including men born in 1913, had received a summons for eventual training service. There was an unconfirmed report that a heavy force of the regular standing army had been concentrated near Genoa, ready to embark for Spain if France intervened in the civil war.

Fascists charged that France and soviet Russia were sending arms, munitions, and other aid to "Red Spain" [government Spain].

An article in Informazione Diplomatica, bulletin of the foreign office, repeated a previous Italian threat to back Spanish insurgents with more of Italy's armed might if France intervened to save Barcelona. The article was believed to have been written by Premier Mussolini.

Warning Aimed at France.

The authoritative Fascist editor, Virginio Gayda, indicated that the warning applied specifically to any French occupation of Spanish Morocco or Minorca, Balearic Island near Mallorca, where an Italian air base is situated. France has been reported to be considering such occupation to protect her Mediterranean ship lanes and her North African territory.

French have indicated alarm at having Italians and Spanish insurgents on their frontiers. They have fears Mussolini would keep a permanent air and naval base in the Balearics despite repeated statements by Spanish rebel Generalissimo Franco that no Spanish territory would be turned over to foreign control.

The Italian press tonight reported that four army corps of Italian and Spanish troops were encircling Barcelona.

REDS TELL OF EXPLOITS

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Jan. 25.—Most of the soviet Russian forces in Spain have been evacuated to Russia, and compared with a year ago only a small number of staf officers, flyers, and tank specialists remains with the Spanish loyalist forces, the soviet press asserts.

Both the Krasnaia Zvezda [The Red Star], newspaper of the Red army, and the Krasnaia Flot, newspaper of the Red fleet, are publishing many articles signed by generals and officers of other ranks relating to their experiences abroad.

While the articles have been censored and Spain is not mentioned by the writers, still their accounts of battles with Italian troops and airplane combats with German machines reveal that Spain was the scene of the hostilities.

Submarine in Action.

The Krasnaia Flot revealed that soviet submarines also were active in Spanish waters. Commander Burmeisterov wrote about an unsuccessful attempt to torpedo a Spanish rebel cruiser. Finally, because the submarine was spotted and bombed by Gen. Francisco Franco's rebel planes, the crew returned to its Black sea base, he wrote.

Another officer author, Gen. Petrov, analyzed the use of tanks on the Spanish front. He admitted his battallion lost several through direct hits of German artillery which he praised as very efficient. From accounts published in the Krasnaia Zvedzda, the failure of soviet tanks was more than covered by the success of their combat planes, which downed the best German fighters.

460 Russians Decorated.

The soviet press also published the names of 460 Russians who were decorated. Some of them achieved the coveted Lenin order and the title of "hero of the soviet union" for their exploits in the Spanish civil war.

None of the repatriated officers is returning to his old command. Instead, after vacations in special sanitariums of the Red army, these officers are being sent to China where soviet military specialists are leading the campaign of guerrilla warfare against the Japanese.

Guardsmen Missing

Arrow locates Drummond Island in upper Lake Huron, where three fishermen who had been lost on ice floe were found. Five coast guardsmen still are missing after setting out from Bois Blanc Island to find them.

Cheboygan, Mich., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Pilot Harry Young flew back to Sault Ste. Marie at dusk tonight and reported he found no trace of five coast guardsmen missing in a lifeboat on icy upper Lake Huron.

Likewise a Pennsylvania-Central air line transport which crossed the straits of Mackinac on its flight from Sault Ste. Marie to Detroit failed to sight the men, who set out yesterday in a thirty-five foot power boat to hunt for three fishermen missing on an ice floe.

The fishermen had reached Drummond Island safely about the time the five men began their expedition in subzero weather without a stove and with only scant food supplies.

The coast guard cutter Escanaba left Grand Haven for the scene and was crashing its way through six inch ice in the straits tonight. It was expected to arrive tomorrow afternoon.

ARMY GETS BIDS ON AIRPLANE TO FIGHT BOMBERS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—(AP)—The army air corps opened bids today at Wright field, Dayton, O., on a new type of fast interceptor pursuit plane designed as a weapon against the bomber.

Able to climb rapidly and attain high speed, the new craft in the event of war would be employed with anti-aircraft artillery in providing protection against air raids.

Air corps specifications are secret, but one builder indicated his entry also was designed as a fast bomber equipped to carry a 500 pound bomb under the fuselage and three of 25 pounds each under each wing. There were hints it mounted a gun considerably larger than the machine guns now used on planes; that it had a cruising range of 1,500 miles, and a speed loaded of 280 miles an hour and well beyond 300 miles an hour when used as a defensive fighter.

BRITON SCOFFS AT TALE OF NAZI AIR SUPREMACY

Report Credited to Lindy Described as False.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—C. G. Gray, one of Great Britain's authorities on fighting planes, today asserted that Germany's air strength was only "something over 3,000 machines" and sought to reassure those who fear that Britain is far behind.

He described as "bunk" a statement attributed to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh that Germany has 9,700 fighting planes to Britain's 1,500. Gray said he had "too much respect for Lindbergh's intelligence and honesty to believe he told a story anything like that."

Tells of Plane Construction.

He said it was a joke to put Britain's fighting air strength at 1,500 planes and added: "I do know on quite reasonably good authority of one particular type of British high speed bomber of which more than 1,000 have been delivered, and there are several others of which production already runs into many hundreds.

"Possibly Italy has 3,500 machines, and France must have more than 600, even if half of them are in poor condition."

[French official sources, while declining to give specific figures, said France has "more than 600 first line planes and probably 1,800 usable fighting machines altogether."]

It was recalled that Gray, in a preface to the 1938 edition of "Jane's All the World's Aircraft," said: "In France untold harm has been done by M. Pierre Cot [former air minister]. His nationalization of French aircraft firms has cut up that part of the industry which was making military planes, and forced many industrialists and engineers to retire."

Halls U. S. Program.

In his magazine article Gray said the United States rearmament program is "definitly a good thing." "I would not mind betting that the United States has a good deal more than 1,500 airplanes," he said.

Meanwhile, Lindbergh who was here to get his plane relicensed, was said to have decided against returning to the United States to report to congress on the state of European airplane rearmament.

Representative Carl Vinson [D., Ga.], chairman of the house of representatives naval affairs committee, had announced he would ask Lindbergh to break his four year exile to make such a report.

BLAST OF BLOW TORCH INJURES 1; 9 FLEE 4 BLAZES

Joseph Evangelista, 30 years old, suffered severe burns yesterday when a blow torch exploded as he was attempting to thaw frozen water pipes in the frame house at 2456 Moffat street, where he lives on the first floor.

The explosion overturned coal stoves in the four flats in the house, starting four small fires. It shattered nearly all the windows, tumbled bricks from the chimneys, tore floor boards loose, shook plaster from the walls, and left the roof sagging. Three children and half a dozen grownups fled to the street. Evangelista was taken to the County hospital. Firemen under Chief George Dolan of the Fourth battalion put out the fires.

FAIL IN POSTAL STATION BURGLARY.

Burglars knocked the combination off two safes in the Wilson avenue finance station of the postoffice, at 1812 Wilson avenue, early yesterday, but failed to open either one. They entered through a skylight.

LOAN TO CHINA IS TERMED WAR AGAINST JAPAN

Senate Democrat Assails U. S.-British Pact.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Senator Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], a member of the foreign relations and military affairs committees, charged in the senate today that the United States is engaged in an undeclared war against Japan.

Senator R. R. Reynolds.

The senator said the United States was maneuvered into an undeclared war against Japan by Great Britain through a deal whereby each country agreed to lend China 25 million dollars.

"Senators, regardless of what interpretation you may put on it or what conclusion you may reach, you may put this in your pipes and smoke it: The United States is in war with Japan," Senator Reynolds said.

Assails United States Meddling.

Reynolds discussed the joint British-American loan to China in the course of a three hour speech on foreign affairs, during which he assailed the administration's meddling in other parts of the world as the dupe of Great Britain.

He demanded that Great Britain and France be forced to cede to us their possessions in the West Indies and the North Atlantic, which could be used as air and naval bases, in settlement of the war debts they owe and refuse to pay.

Reynolds said the Chinese loan deal was discussed with officials of this government by Anthony Eden, former foreign secretary in the British cabinet, during his recent visit to the United States.

British Investment Heavy.

Reynolds said that Great Britain admitted an investment in China of 1 billion 500 million dollars, and that it probably totaled 3 billion dollars. He said the United States' investment was not more than 250 millions.

The United States, he said, had not made any money out of its investment in China because, in order to maintain its position there, and keep face, it had been necessary to maintain a large fleet at a tremendous cost.

Great Britain, Reynolds said, was sorry to see this country give up the Philippines.

"Of all the people in the world at the present time who are desirous of our making fortifications abroad, which is entirely out of our sphere, it is the British people, because they want us to have a position on a keg of explosives so as to retain our interest there," Reynolds declared.

Reynolds explained that our military experts had told the committees of congress of our need for defense establishments in the West Indies and the North Atlantic. He then demanded that Great Britain cede to us Bermuda, 40 miles east and off the coast of North Carolina; Labrador, New Foundland, and perhaps Nova Scotia, in the North Atlantic. He also demanded that France, in settlement of her war debt, cede Martinique, in the West Indies, and her two islands in the North Atlantic—St. Pierre and Miquelon.

FLAME THROWER PLOT SMASHED BY RUMANIANS

25 Seized for Scheme to Fire Bucharest.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Rumanian police tonight uncovered a terrorist plot to destroy public buildings by a simultaneous attack with flamethrowers. Authorities said they believed that remnants of the illegal Nazi-inclined iron guard were back of the plot.

Announcing the arrest of an officer of the chemical section of the Rumanian army who later was reported to have committed suicide and the roundup of 25 other persons, police said they had seized 21 of the flame throwing devices which had been collected for the attack.

"The ultimate object undoubtedly was political," a police official said.

Buildings marked for destruction, authorities said, included the electric light plant, waterworks, postoffice, radio building, and the American-owned telephone building.

Among prisoners being questioned were said to be a girl student, a corporal of the army, the director of a petroleum works, an engineer, a doctor, a lawyer, and several chauffeurs and workmen.

The inquiry which revealed the plot started with an investigation into an explosion in a suburban house Jan. 8 in which a public school instructor was killed.

Authorities learned that the instructor had a brother in the chemical warfare section of the army and found evidence of chemical substances in the house.

RAYMOND PRUITT FORFEITS BAIL IN FIGHT CASE

New York, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Raymond S. Pruitt, Chicago lawyer and business man, forfeited $500 bail today when he did not appear in court on a charge of having assaulted a night club doorman. Told that Pruitt was too ill to appear, the magistrate adjourned his case until Friday and said he would rescind the forfeiture order if the defendant appeared then.

Pruitt was arrested and jailed last night after a fight at the Gay Nineties, a night club. Police said the Chicagoan swung twice at the club doorman, missed and smashed the front door glass, cutting his hand. The attorney said he was defending himself.

Pruitt is a member of the Chicago law firm of Pruitt & Grealis. He is president of a realty company and is general counsel and director of several corporations, including the aviation interests formerly controled by the Cord corporation. His home is at 2440 Lake View avenue, Chicago.

BATTLE TO LIFT SPAIN ARMS BAN NEARS CONGRESS

Radicals Seek Definition of President's Power.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—The battle over the American government's attitude toward the civil war in Spain is about to be transferred to the floors of congress.

Forces contending for lifting of the embargo on the shipment of American arms and munitions of war to loyalist Spain are preparing to appeal to congress from the position assumed by President Roosevelt up to date that he lacks the power to wipe out the embargo.

Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], a leader in neutrality legislation, today announced that he agrees with former Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson that the President possesses the power to abolish the embargo.

"If the government lawyers," he added, "should rule that the President does not possess this power, the question would be placed squarely before congress."

Strange Group Alignments.

Groups advocating the lifting of the embargo are a strangely assorted combination. Communists and other radicals animated by partisan support of the radical loyalist government of Spain and by antagonism to the Fascist Franco insurgent government are joined with conservatives like Mr. Stimson. These conservatives regard the Hitler and Mussolini dictatorships supporting Franco as a more immediate menace to the United States than the Russian communists backing the Spanish loyalists.

Hence these otherwise hostile aggregations of citizens are finding common ground in urging the lifting of the arms embargo, which is operating to deprive loyalist Spain of American war supplies while not hampering the insurgents, who are being armed by Italy and Germany.

Catholics Back Franco.

The forces contending for the retention of the embargo also comprise diverse elements. The backbone of the element is the Roman Catholic church, which favors Franco, and is exerting its powerful influence toward the defeat of the loyalist government, which is accused of confiscation of church property, anti-clerical legislation, and persecution of Catholic clergy.

Allied with the Catholics are many Protestants who hold that a proper observance of neutrality by the United States requires the embargo of war supplies to both sides of a civil war.

Both parties to the controversy are maintaining active lobbies in Washington, which are organizing mass-meetings and flooding the capital with propaganda. The lobby working to lift the embargo is official and financed by the communists and other left wing elements. The "Keep the Spanish Embargo" lobby is an agency of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, with headquarters here.

Linked to Foreign Policy.

The history of the Spanish embargo illuminates the Roosevelt foreign policy. When congress met in January, 1937, the President was aiding and abetting the nonintervention policy of the British and French, designed to confine the civil war to Spain.

In furtherance of this policy, Mr. Roosevelt initiated the embargo of arms to both sides of the Spanish conflict. He sought legislation clothing him with discretion to impose the embargo. Congress, unwilling to intrust such power to the President, passed legislation explicitly forbidding export of arms to Spain, giving Mr. Roosevelt the discretion only of lifting the embargo when the civil war should end.

The following May congress amended the neutrality law providing for such embargo whenever the President should find in progress—anywhere—a civil war of such magnitude that the export of arms to either side "would threaten or endanger the peace of the United States." He was empowered to revoke the embargo whenever he found such conditions no longer obtaining.

Under the May legislation he could call off the embargo on the ground that the conditions surrounding our export of arms had changed, but under the January law he could not abolish the embargo until the civil war actually ends.

Eighty-five Park district lagoons and flooded areas were opened for ice skating yesterday. George Ehmann, park landscape maintenance supervisor, said the north and south ponds in Lincoln park and the Humboldt and Washington park lagoons also were sufficiently frozen to permit skating.

Appeal for Blood Donors to Save Patient on Relief

The Wesley Memorial hospital yesterday appealed for blood donors for transfusions on Richard Bober, 48 years old, a patient who is on relief. Bober already has had eight transfusions for an internal bleeding ailment and needs at least three more before an operation can be performed, physicians said. His blood is type 4.

Marshall Field & Company
presents here each day observations intended to be of value to those it seeks to serve.

UNKNOWN TO THE PUBLIC

By CALEB

"FURNISHINGS by Marshall Field and Company" is a widely known phrase among those who own and manage theaters, hotels, hospitals, colleges and institutions of other types. The activities of that division of our organization which does business with these institutions are largely a closed book to the general public, however.

Our Contract Division, originating some thirty years ago as the "Hotel Bureau," was so designated because its major operations lay in that particular field. Indeed, the roster of Field-furnished hotels and clubs in the Chicagoland area alone constitutes almost a "Who's Who" of its best-known establishments; while the array of such operations in other cities is also impressive. A peak record claimed by the division, for example, was its complete equipping of no less than thirty-five theaters in the short space of eighteen months.

Another outstanding accomplishment, typical in many features of this division's resources, was the commission executed last Fall for supervising the furnishing of one of the most famous new hotel developments on the Atlantic seaboard—Hotel Roanoke, owned and operated by the Norfolk and Western Railway, at Norfolk, Virginia.

Field's was finally selected for the task because it presented a completely visualized proposal—embracing detailed floor plans, color sketches, examples of fabrics and finishes, and original designs for furniture, for every public and private room in this ultra-modern, million-dollar version of an old English inn. Federal-American-style chairs were Field-studio reproductions of 18th century antiques; and all guest and public rooms were equipped with Field-designed furniture. Among other modern notes were the architects' recommendations for integral radio installation in each room, indirect lighting, and tiled baths with tub, shower and ice-water. Hotel Roanoke was also reported to be the first hotel in America scientifically designed for air-conditioning throughout.

Taken in its stride as a specialized phase of Field service, the thoroughly organized detail and magnitude of such an operation are none the less a tribute to our contract division's efficiency in a tremendously important field. While the majority of its accomplishments remain for the most part unknown to the public—they have a definite place in the story of Field progress that often warrants expression in print.

RESUME PARLEY ON EMIGRATION OF GERMAN JEWS

Scheme Expected to Be Drawn Up Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—George Rublee, American director of the international refugee committee, today resumed negotiations with the German government concerning the emigration of Jews. The talks were taken up at the same point where they had been interrupted last Friday by the dismissal of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht as president of the Reichsbank. Dr. Helmuth Wohlthat of the ministry of economics replaced Schacht as the German negotiator.

Julius Streicher.

Rublee returned from Paris, where he reported to the steering committee of the intergovernmental refugee body about his previous talks with Schacht on the so-called Schacht plan for connecting Jewish emigration with increases in German exports.

It was understood that a few minor changes in the emigration plan were made at today's conference. It is believed the final agreement will be drawn up tomorrow and then presented to the international committee.

Streicher Attacks Churches.

Addressing a vast audience in the Berlin palace, Julius Streicher, the Nazis' No. 1 Jew baiter, attacked the Protestant and Roman Catholic churches.

Streicher branded the Rev. Martin Niemoeller, Confessional Evangelical Lutheran leader and world war U-boat commander, a "cowardly traitor who exchanged the heroism of a submarine for the hypocrisy of a pulpit."

Niemoeller is a prisoner in the Oranienburg-Sachsenhausen concentration camp. He has been there since last March. Previously he had spent eight months in prison awaiting trial on charges of "endangering public security, exploiting the pulpit, and incitement to resistance against the government."

The Confessional synod which opposes Nazi domination of church affairs was declared by Streicher to be secretly united with the Jews.

Denounces Parishioners.

He denounced Niemoeller's parishioners in the fashionable Berlin suburb of Dahlem, who, he asserted, consisted of "retired generals and other officers."

Speaking at the same meeting, Roberto Farinacci, Italian editor and former secretary of the Italian Fascist party, said: "Today the Catholic church has more sympathies for the Jews than for us Fascists."

Nazi authorities in the Salzburg district today forbade Catholic priests to conduct religious courses in schools, informing them such courses must be taught in the churches. The order, it was said, resulted from failure of the archbishop of Salzburg to dismiss an anti-Nazi priest.

BLAZE DESTROYS 7 OLD RAIL CARS.

Firemen yesterday fought four hours to extinguish a fire that destroyed six old passengers cars and one box car on the Illinois Central railroad tracks at 99th street and Vernon avenue.

Courtney Assails Deserters; Triner Comes Out for Kelly

BY PARKE BROWN.

The Democratic mayoral campaign was enlivened again yesterday by developments bearing on the question of where the Horner forces in Chicago are lining up. State's Attorney Courtney charged that those not supporting him had deserted the cause. Joseph Triner, Horner appointee as chairman of the Illinois athletic commission, came out for Mayor Kelly. News from the rival Democratic camps follows:

COURTNEY—

In a press release from his Hotel Sherman headquarters, State's Attorney Courtney assailed supporters of Gov. Horner who are not supporting him as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor.

The release described a meeting in the Rose room of the hotel Tuesday night. It included quotations from a speech Courtney delivered to the assembled ward leaders and candidates for aldermen. The meeting had been closed to reporters.

"We have been fighting for principles of democracy and clean government," said Courtney, according to the quotations released from his headquarters, "and I have been happy to lend all my support to the things for which Gov. Horner and I have stood together.

Assails Deserting Hornerites.

"Some of those aligned with him in the fight three years ago and again last year were not in sympathy with the Horner principles and the fight for the abolition of Mayor Kelly's one-man machine control. They seem to have been actuated by selfishness and, the reëlection of Gov. Horner having been attained, they decided to abandon the fight for principle and honorable political action.

"That some of those who fought with us before have decided to bow to the machine's wishes and desert the cause makes no difference. This is a people's fight, and the people haven't deserted. That I am the candidate for mayor is only technically so. The cause is really the candidate.

Asks Votes of Jarecki Backers.

"Those people who voted for Judge Jarecki last spring are all eligible to vote for me in this primary. It is far more important for these independent citizens and voters of the other parties to exercise their franchise and clean up this city through their votes in February than to vote for delegates and alternates to the two big national conventions."

Courtney said, according to the press release, that voting in the Democratic primary on Feb. 8, would not bar a citizen from voting in the Republican primary next year. [Other lawyers say the contrary is true under either the present provisions of the primary law or under the proposed provisions of the Bidwill-Pelka bill now before the general assembly.]

KELLY—

Joseph Triner, in supporting Mayor Kelly for renomination, became the second head of a Horner commission to choose sides in the mayoral battle in the last two days. His announcement followed a similar statement by Peter J. Angsten, chairman of the state industrial commission. At regular Democratic headquarters it was said that declarations from other Horner appointees will appear later.

Triner, a Chicago business man, was appointed chairman of the athletic commission, which regulates boxing and wrestling in the state, by Gov. Horner six years ago.

"My interest in the Chicago mayoralty," read the statement, develops from consideration of the opportunity it offers for serving a three-sided objective which I feel to be of the greatest importance to the people.

Explains 3 Viewpoints.

"As chairman of the Illinois boxing commission, I want to assure the advancement of the clean sports movement in the city and state. As a business man, I am vitally concerned with all that has been done to promote trade and provide work and wages to the end that economic recovery will be achieved.

"As a Democrat, I am obligated to work for the further progress of the party, and I am convinced that its capacity for worth while public service can best be implemented if the traditions and principles of the late Mayor Anton J. Cermak and of the present governor, Henry Horner, are adhered to.

Holds No Other Course Tenable.

"It is for these reasons that I have decided to support the candidacy of Edward J. Kelly, the friend and coworker in public service and in political enterprise of my good friends, Cermak and Horner. To my mind there is no other tenable position in this campaign for any individual who has had the same political associations as I have had and who espouses identical ideals for Chicago."

Triner referred to Mayor Kelly as the builder of Soldiers' field, as the sponsor of the annual high school football championship game, as a builder of playgrounds and beaches.

"My support," he concluded, "goes to Mayor Kelly without solicitation upon his part. Politically my first loyalty is to Gov. Horner, and I know that if he were able to participate in this campaign he would want me to take the course I have chosen."

U. S. SETTLES ITS TAX SUIT AGAINST HUEY LONG'S AID

New Orleans, La., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Charles P. Smith, member of the federal tax appeals board, said here today that the government's income tax claim against Seymour Weiss, president of the New Orleans dock board, and the Roosevelt Hotel corporation, has been settled.

Weiss was one of several political lieutenants of the late Huey Long who were indicted on charges of evading income tax payments. One state representative was convicted and sentenced to the federal penitentiary. Another was acquitted.

After Long's death his political heirs reëstablished friendship with the national government and the criminal indictments against the others were quashed.

John Szumnarski Named to Vehicle License Post

The city council yesterday approved Mayor Kelly's appointment of John A. Szumnarski as public vehicle license commissioner to succeed Thomas S. Gordon, who resigned to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for city treasurer. Szumnarski is the regular Democratic committeeman of the 35th ward.

Studies Elevated Highway Plans with Experts.

BY HAL FOUST.

Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for mayor, surveyed Chicago's main physical problems yesterday from an airplane hovering between 1,500 and 3,000 feet over the city. With this broad perspective he viewed the problems that, he said, must be solved to assure the city's growth.

He rode in a chartered Transcontinental and Western Airlines plane with detail maps on his knees and planning experts at his elbows.

Suggests Elevated Road Routes.

"Those are likely routes for a future elevated highway system," Green said, peering from his window. He point to the far off railroad embankments that radiate from the central business district. He remarked that the elevations were made at about the time of the Columbian exposition because of grade accidents and that the death rate then was far below the present rate from auto trafic on grade streets.

The plane soared over the business district at Lawrence and Milwaukee avenues. Automobile trafic was heavy and pedestrians could be seen hesitating in attempting to cross.

"Such business districts must be relieved of this dangerous trafic congestion," Green commented. "Elevated highways would remove through trafic and make such districts more accessible for shoppers."

Views Proposed Airport Site.

Along the lake front, at Green's request, the plane circled the proposed site of a passenger air station. He noted that the visibility on the water front was clear whereas a pall of smoke hung over the rest of the city.

"The city must leave nothing undone to promote its future position in air commerce," Green commented. "That smoke pall is another city problem."

Arthur Bohnen, federal housing consultant, pointed out slum removal problems. Calumet harbor was inspected.

Mr. and Mrs. Green, with several other candidates and their wives, were guests last night at a banquet given by the South Shore Chamber of Commerce in the Southmoor hotel.

Green will speak at a 39th ward meeting tonight in Odd Fellows hall, 4221 Irving Park boulevard.

Dave Miller, Referee, Wins Dismissal of Gun Charges

Dave Miller, 540 Briar place, prize fight referee, was freed yesterday by Judge Joseph B. Hermes on charges of carrying a concealed weapon and possessing a revolver from which the serial numbers had been obliterated.

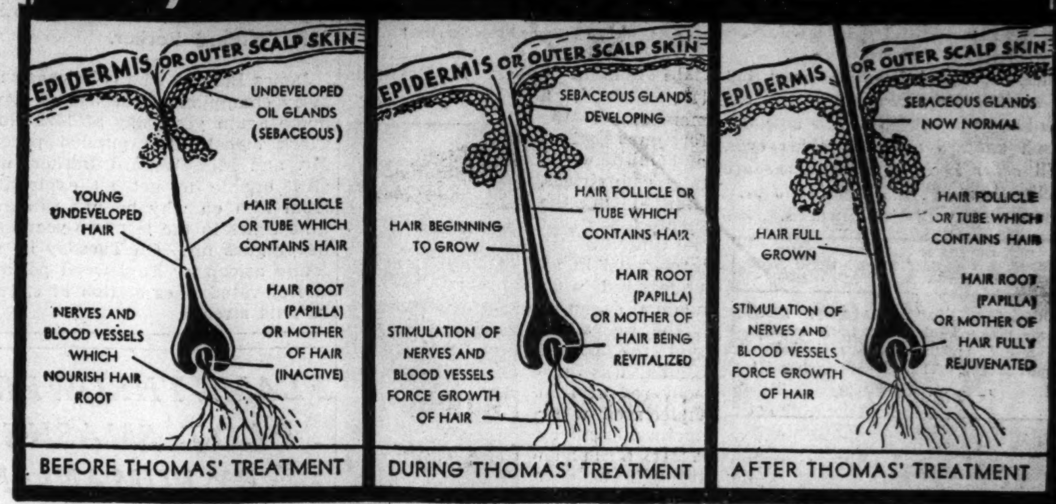
Why Thomas Grows Hair



THE "hair root" (papilla) rarely dies. Even in long-standing cases of baldness this inactive source of hair growth is alive and ready to respond to proper scientific stimulation. Thomas' treatment skillfully supplies this necessary stimulation and makes it possible for hair to push through the scalp and again grow normally. Local scalp disorders—such as extreme dryness or oiliness, dandruff, or irritable itching—which cause the "hair roots" to become inactive, are readily overcome by Thomas' treatment.

Twenty years of success and more than a quarter-million satisfied clients recommend Thomas' scalp treatment. It is physiologically sound—it produces positive benefits. Thomas' can help you, too, to end dandruff, stop falling hair, or to re-grow hair on the thin or bald spots. Call today for a free scalp examination. Learn for yourself how this reliable dignified scalp service is benefiting others and exactly how it can help you.

BULL GIVES UP HALF A MILLION IN SIDLEY WILL

Is Slated for $250,000 Share in Settlement.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Racine, Wis., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—W. Perkins Bull, bearded Canadian barrister and man of mystery, today renounced $500,000 of the fortune willed him last April by Mrs. Mabelle Horlick Sidley, heiress to the Horlick malted milk fortune. He will receive a $250,000 bequest, possibly more.

Judge J. Allan Simpson.

Bull's surrender ended abruptly a contest action brought by William Horlick Sidley, 27 years old, the heiress' son. He charged that his mother was of unsound mind last April when she made the will and had been coerced by Bull, in whose Toronto, Ont., home she spent the last eighteen months of her life.

Opening testimony and cross-examination in the contest hearing indicated last week that a settlement would be to the advantage of both sides.

Litigants Issue Statement.

County Judge J. Allan Simpson, before whom it was being held, then granted the litigants forty-eight hours in which to agree. They appeared in court this morning and after gaining a postponement to Feb. 2, when necessary legal steps will be taken, issued the following statement:

"Subject to carrying out of the various necessary legal arrangements, the parties have agreed to disposition of the contest and all related matters on the following basis:

"Mr. Bull is to renounce his interest as a residuary legatee only, which interest is estimated to be of the order of $500,000. William H. Sidley is then, with the approval of the court, to withdraw his objections to probate of the will. The estate is to be administered by two of the named executors, Col. Roy F. Farrand and William H. Sidley."

Mrs. Sidley's will left Bull a specific bequest of $250,000 as well as a third of the residuary. This $250,000 he will keep.

May Get Half Stock Value.

Inasmuch as the residuary estate is made up chiefly of Horlick malted milk stock, which is not supposed to go out of the family, it is understood that, despite the renunciation, Bull will be paid approximately half the $500,000 valuation set upon it. Such a deal would give the barrister approximately half a million dollars. None of the principals, however, would confirm this.

The cryptic statement in court today revealed that the settlement drops three of the estate's five executors. Those eliminated are William Horlick Jr., Mrs. Sidley's brother; Bernard F. Magruder, assistant to William Horlick in the malted milk company, and Miss Andrea Pultz, former secretary to the late Col. William Horlick, founder of the company.

Col. Farrand, who will serve with young Sidley, is headmaster of St. John's Military academy at Delafield, Wis., and his part in the compromise has caused much speculation. St. John's and certain charities shared alike with Bull and young Sidley in the estate and in the stock of the company.

Horlicks Chief Stockholders.

Of three large blocks of stock, William Horlick Jr. owns one; his brother, A. J., owns another, and Mrs. Sidley owned the third. Her will cut this share into three parts: one to Bull, one to her son, and one to St. John's. In the contest William Horlick Jr. sided with Bull. A. J. Horlick sided with young Sidley, thus aligning four-ninths of the stock on a side.

Col. Farrand, for St. John's, had control of the deciding ninth. It would be to the interest of St. John's to either settle on this will or have it probated, since Mrs. Sidley's 1934 will leaves the school considerably less. If the 1938 will were voided, the one made in 1934 probably would stand.

It was reliably reported that St. John's was willing to contribute toward the settlement made with Bull. Col. Farrand would neither deny nor confirm this tonight. It was also reported that young Sidley would pay nothing from his share.

Between now and Feb. 2, the details of the compromise will be worked out and reduced to writing. Bull will sign a disclaimer and on that day William Sidley will move to withdraw his objections. Inasmuch as Judge Simpson was sympathetic to the effort toward settlement, it is expected that he will permit the withdrawal.

BLUNDERING CHARGE SPURS INVESTIGATION INTO CAVALIER CRASH

New York, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—A board of inquiry headed by a representative of the British air ministry continued here today an investigation of the crash of the Imperial Airways flying boat Cavalier, which went down in the ocean on Saturday half way between Port Washington, N. Y., and Bermuda, with a loss of three lives.

Capt. George C. Pirie of the British embassy in Washington, heading the quiz, announced that the board's findings would be submitted directly to the air ministry in London before they are made public.

British government and aviation officials today were said to have been spurred into taking seriously the implications of grave blundering in the Cavalier tragedy, by criticism of American experts of the lost Bermuda airliner's equipment, and of the way she was managed in a dire emergency.

Youthful Burglar Seized with His 'Shopping List'

Leo Stapinski, 16 years old, who was arrested in a loop store when detectives found him carrying a burglar's kit on Tuesday, was turned over to the juvenile authorities yesterday. Leo, who lives at 3230 Milwaukee avenue, said he had intended to hide in the store until it closed and then steal some things he wanted. A list of 106 articles was found with his kit. The idea for the burglary, Leo told the police, came from a movie.

PLEADS GUILTY FOR MONGOVEN; PAYS $750 FINE

Leo Mongoven, prohibition era gangster now reputed to be the head of the Lake county slot machine racket, pleaded guilty yesterday to three charges of effacing serial numbers of firearms. Justice of the Peace Harry Hoyt of Waukegan fined him $250 on each charge.

Mongoven was not in court, and his plea was entered by his attorney, Harold J. Tallett of North Chicago. The fine was recommended by Charles E. Jack, special Lake county prosecutor in charge of gambling investigation, who explained later that it would have been difficult to prove Mongoven personally responsible had the state insisted on a trial and a heavier penalty.

Harry La Bounty, caretaker at Mongoven's estate near Antioch, was fined $250 on the same charge. The charges were filed after Jack's men raided the estate and found an arsenal in Mongoven's home.

Attribute Colorado Hotel Fire to Chimney Defect

Steamboat Springs, Colo., Jan. 25.—(AP)—A defective stone chimney was blamed today for a fire that destroyed a 100 room resort hotel and burned two guests to death. The two victims were Miss Mildred Keltner, 21 years old, of Meade, Kas., and Merle E. Sweet, 60, Strawberry Park, Colo., rancher. Fire Chief Lavern Nelson said the fire which burned the building yesterday apparently started on the second floor near the chimney.

SLOT MACHINES ROUTED, STATE POLICE REPORT

Racketeers Quit Illinois; Local Officials Comply.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Illinois highway police used newly granted authority for the first time yesterday and at nightfall Chief Walter Williams announced that the war on slot machines was well along to being won. The slot machines in the main had vanished from the state as if by magic, he informed Acting Governor John Stelle and Attorney General John E. Cassidy, who had given the clean up orders. Telegrams from cities all over the state reported that slot machine racketeers had fled.

Walter Williams.

Highway police lieutenants under Chief Williams reported to the sherifs of each county that they were ready for action. It was made plain that if the sherifs did not stop the slot machines the highway lieutenants would, and if state's attorneys of the counties did not proceed at once against the operators the attorney general was ready to supersede any who failed to act.

"There was a quick response," Chief Williams said at Springfield. "The machines had been taken down every where our men went. They went down like tenpins in a bowling alley but the difference between this and other drives is that they are not going to be put up again. They are out of order in Illinois from now on."

Attorney General Cassidy came into office last Nov. 23 and Lieut. Gov. John Stelle became acting governor at about the same time. Possessed of new authority, they combined forces to fight the racketeers whom Chief T. P. Sullivan of the state bureau of criminal information said were corrupting public officials and fostering crime.

Without regard to political consequences, these two officials armed the 350 state highway policemen with the right to go into each county and enforce the law.

"If you see a slot machine, make an arrest," state police were told. "If the state's attorney does not prosecute, report to the attorney general."

Heretofore sherifs and state's attorneys have guarded their counties against any exercise of police powers by the state police. In prohibition days local officers said they didn't need outside help to enforce the laws.

Chief Lester Laird of Cook county highway police, under the jurisdiction of Sherif Thomas O'Brien, said he welcomed coöperation from the state police to fight slot machines. He admitted that there had been occasions when the rights of the state force were questioned in Cook county.

After several clashes of the two forces an arrangement was reached under which the state police confined themselves to trafic regulation, while Laird's 100 men handled all other rural police problems.

Late last night county highway deputies from the Willow Springs station raided five establishments southwest of Chicago and seized a slot machine in each. Two of the places are at 111th street and Archer avenue; one at 111th street and Keene avenue; one at 106th street and Archer avenue, and the fifth at 119th street and Archer avenue.

County police of the Homewood and Morton Grove stations also made several raids and confiscated machines. No action was taken in the north end of the county and machines were still reported operating there.

FOES OF MARTIN FIGHT TO SMASH HIS U. A. W. GRIP

Aim Drive at Employers and Union Members.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Opponents of Homer Martin in the fight for leadership of the United Automobile Workers of America today started a double barreled drive to undermine the influence of Martin with employers in the industry and with the rank and file of the union.

To employers they advanced their claim to be the rightful representatives of the union in bargaining agreements. In this they are backed by John L. Lewis' Congress of Industrial Organization, which has recognized them and their appointment of R. J. Thomas as acting president in Martin's place.

Martin, however, has suspended the leaders of the opposing faction, which has nineteen of the twenty-four members of the union's executive board; repudiated his own C. I. O. connections, and accused the C. I. O. of aiding communists in an attempt to wreck the union.

Ford Negotiations Issue.

In the drive to win the support of the rank and file, it became apparent that the anti-Martin organization is making its main issue Martin's negotiations with Harry Bennett, personnel director of the Ford Motor company, to unionize Ford employés.

In a variety of statements, his opponets charged today that Martin betrayed the union and conspired with Bennett to set up a company union in the Ford plants. This was denied by Bennett and by associates of Martin.

Martin was in New York today, where he employed counsel to resist legal attacks by his enemies and was reported to be seeking a conference with David Dubinsky, who led the International Ladies' Garment Workers union out of the C. I. O. last fall.

Thomas sent a letter tonight to all employers having contracts with the U. A. W A. saying the union will observe all its contracts scrupulously and asserting the right of his group to administer them. This, of course, would include the important business of negotiating renewals of agreements.

Jurisdiction Fight Impends.

Earlier, the anti-Martin group notified the General Motors corporation that Vice President Ed Hall, one of its number, had been placed in charge of negotiations for revision of the present agreement. Martin previously had appointed Elmer Dowell to this task. Negotiations were halted during the inter-union fight, but Martin is expected to act soon to assert his authority to negotiate.

The contract with the Chrysler corporation expires March 30. Failing a settlement of the union struggle, that corporation also will be faced with the problem of picking the group with which to negotiate.

Officially no employer has said what course will be taken in the situation that has in it the seeds of jurisdictional warfare as tempestuous as any that has torn Pacific coast water fronts in the last two years. Off the record, most of them indicate they will sit tight and see what happens.

Three Developments Possible.

Three types of action may solve the motor companies' dilemma. They are a ruling by the courts on the rival factions' claims, the action of the conventions that each group has called, or intervention by the National Labor Relations board. The board may step in on its own motion and hold elections to determine the wishes of the rank and file, although this is a step it is usually reluctant to take.

Acting President Thomas opened the attack on President Martin today in a radio appeal to members of the union.

"The issue is clear," he said. "On one side are the C. I. O., the executive board of the U. A. W. A., and nearly all the membership. On the other side are Ford's Harry Bennett, the most notorious foe of labor in the country, and Homer Martin.

"Bennett's revelation that he was prepared to turn over the list of Ford employés to Martin confirms the executive board's charge that Martin and Bennett were conspiring to form a company union. Who ever heard of a legitimate union getting a list of prospects from the company?"

Martin Foes Give Version.

In the press headquarters of the anti-Martin faction, two officials of the Detroit Ford local of the union gave that group's version of the Ford negotiations. The speakers were Paul Ste. Marie, recording secretary, and Percy Llewellyn, president of the local.

In a series of meetings in a hotel here from Nov. 7 to 9 last year, Ste. Marie said, an agreement with the Ford Motor company was suggested by Martin and John Gillespie, former Detroit police commissioner, who appeared on the final day as a Ford spokesman.

This first plan, St. Marie charged, was that the union should drop several thousand cases under the Wagner act charging the Ford company with discriminating against union members, and drop its support of personal injury suits brought by union members against the company. In return committees were to be set up in the plants to handle grievances, union members might wear their union buttons, and the union would be permitted to seek enrollment of other Ford workmen.

Asserts Proposal Failed.

When pressed for the nature of the contract, Ste. Marie charged, Gillespie finally said that the only agreement would be a verbal one between Bennett and Martin, without witnesses, in Bennett's office. This proposal fell through, Ste. Marie said.

On Jan. 7, Ste. Marie charged, other officials of the Ford local, who he said were speaking for Martin, broached to him a second plan. Under this proposal, he said, Ford would recognize the U. A. W. so long as Martin was president, but would not recognize it under another leader or if Martin accepted dictation from the C. I. O.

Ford, Ste. Marie said, was prepared to rehire 600 union members who had been dismissed from the River Rouge plant, but all these men, before they returned, would have to swear they were not communists and that they indorsed Martin's leadership.

Bennett Ridicules Charges.

Both Bennett and Gillespie ridiculed the charges of the two union officials, Bennett saying that the only thing true about them was that he had agreed that union men might wear their buttons in Ford plants.

"This is a lot of silly propaganda," said Bennett. "There was no question of an agreement. Mr. Martin was interested in getting the men back to work, and so was I. I did not try to make any deal about the discrimination cases or about the personal injury cases."

Gillespie said that neither he nor Bennett had suggested any plan, but that the plans were all proposed by various union officials. He also denied he had been a Ford employé for two years. He talked to the union men as a personal friend of Bennett, interested in meditating differences, he said.

John Tate, publicity director in Martin's office, issued a statement on behalf of his chief charging that in making their statements Llewellyn and Ste. Marie had violated the injunction of the executive board before Martin suspended fifteen of its members, that no details of the Ford negotiations should be made public.

OTHER WOMAN DENIES MISCONDUCT CHARGE MADE IN SUICIDE NOTE

Mrs. Blanche Grimme.

Mrs. Blanche Grimme, named as the other woman in a wife's suicide note, was present yesterday when an inquest was opened into the death of Lawrence J. Wade, an employé of the telephone company. Wade, 52 years old, was found shot to death Tuesday in his apartment in the Milner hotel, 536 Rush street. Nearby lay his wife, Sarah, 59, with her wrists slashed and a bullet in her head. Her condition was reported critical last night at the North Chicago hospital.

Police found two letters written by Mrs. Wade. In these she complained that her husband and Mrs. Grimme had carried on a love affair for several years. On the witness stand yesterday Mrs. Grimme identified herself as Blanche Trojan, her maiden name, and said she was 33 years old. The inquest was continued to Feb. 10. Outside the hearing room Mrs. Grimme denied any misconduct with the slain man.

"Our love was not the sordid kind, but purely platonic," she said.

Auto Union Leader Quits Executive Board.

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Homer Martin, storm center of a fight within the United Automobile Workers of America, charged tonight that C. I. O. Chieftain John L. Lewis is adopting the methods of his Stalinist allies and splitting the forces of labor by dictatorial policies.

Martin's broadside at Lewis was included in a letter to the president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations in which Martin resigned from the C. I. O. executive board because, he said, he could "no longer subscribe to the policies and tactics to which you and your representatives have resorted."

Martin, "deposed" yesterday by the C. I. O. as president of the auto workers' union, insisted he is still president of the U. A. W. and said 300,000 or more of the 400,000 members are behind him in his fight with the "majority clique" of the U. A. W. executive board.

Refuses to Bow Down.

The C. I. O., through Vice Presidents Philip Murray and Sidney Hillman, recognized as the U. A. W. board the fifteen members whom Martin had suspended; and recognized R. J. Thomas, instead of Martin, as president.

Martin declared he could not and would not bow down to dictators and expected no one to kneel to him. It was for that reason, he said, that he had decided to withdraw from the C. I. O. executive board.

He said the move did not mean he is withdrawing the U. A. W. from the C. I. O. The union action, he added, would be decided by the workers themselves at their convention in Detroit March 4.

Martin has received no overtures from the rival American Federation of Labor, he said, adding that the A. F. of L. is not connected with the present situation in any way. He also said he has not talked with William Green, A. F. of L. president, and has no plans to do so.

Seeks Legal Counsel.

He said he came to New York to obtain legal counsel to fight suits brought in Detroit by the union officers he has suspended.

In his letter of resignation, Martin told Lewis that his action "has convinced me and multitudes who have followed you that you are unable to rise above your personal ambitions and dictator complex."

"It is now clear," he said, "that you have lost sight of the basic ideals of the labor movement and have given yourself over to a policy of rule or ruin. Your manipulations and those of your lieutenants in the affairs of the international union United Automobile Workers of America afford the clearest and most tragic confirmation of this fact."

Charges Conspiracy.

Martin charged Lewis also with representing the C. I. O. as guaranteeing the autonomy of the U. A. W. "at the very moment when you and your lieutenants were conspiring to destroy it." He said his group had tolerated the work of the coördinating committee, of which Murray and Hillman were members, in the hope the "situation might be saved until the automobile workers, in a democratic convention, might decide the issue for themselves.'

"But your brazen conspiracy tactics to destroy the autonomy of the union have forced me to take drastic action in the interests of scores of thousands of its members, to save its very life," he said.

LEGATION REOPENED BY KINGDOM OF IRAN AFTER 2 YEAR LAPSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—The United States and the Kingdom of Iran [Persia] today resumed diplomatic relations which were broken off two years ago by the Shah of Iran, Riza Pahlavi, because the Iranian minister to this country was jailed in Maryland for speeding in 1935.

The legation was reopened by Dr. Ali Akbar Daftari, charge d'affaires, who called upon Secretary Hull.

The shah's anger now is being directed at the French government over a pun involving the French word for cat which is pronounced like shah. In his indignation over the French incident, the shah kicked the Gallic diplomats out of his country. This step was not taken against the United States. American diplomats have been going about their business during the break.

Secretary Hull said it was a matter of genuine gratification to officials of this government that the two countries were again resuming agreeable relations.

EASE Discomfort OF Miserable HEAD COLDS

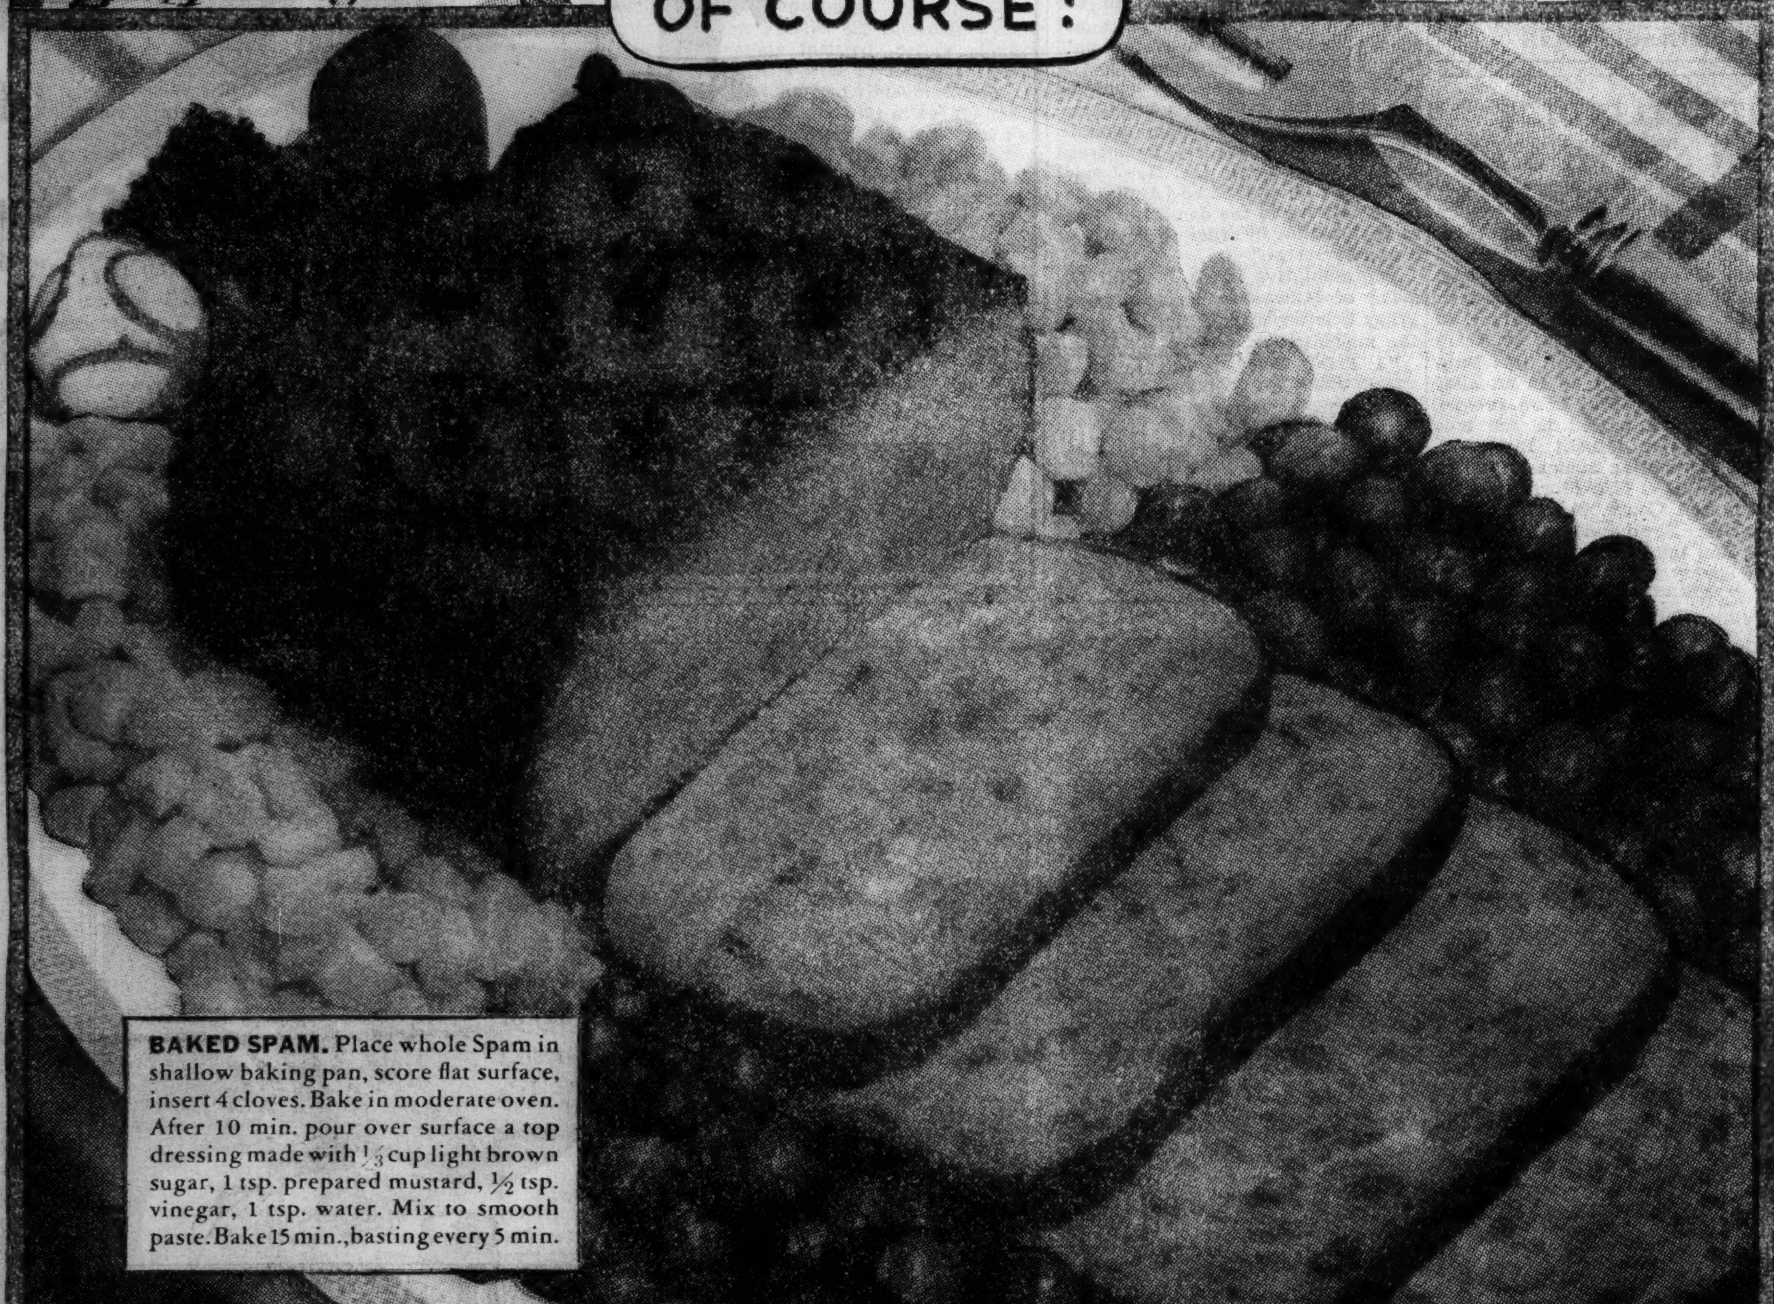
LET'S HAVE A SPAM BAKE!

THAT'S THE LATEST TIME-SAVING WAY TO ENJOY THE HORMEL MEAT OF MANY USES!



BAKED SPAM. Place whole Spam in shallow baking pan, score flat surface, insert 4 cloves. Bake in moderate oven. After 10 min. pour over surface a top dressing made with 1/3 cup light brown sugar, 1 tsp. prepared mustard, ½ tsp. vinegar, 1 tsp. water. Mix to smooth paste. Bake 15 min., basting every 5 min.

Gather 'round the hearth after your next outing . . . and have a SPAM-bake! How? Just pop a whole Hormel SPAM into the oven, then top it off with the succulent dressing described at the left. There's your SPAMbake, ready in only 25 minutes . . . a festive feast for week-end frolics, a distinguished main course for formal dinner!

But as every true SPAM-fan knows, this is just one of the wonderful things you can do with this time-saving meat treat. For a delicious one-plate lunch it's Hot SPAMwich. For a new breakfast surprise, it's SPAM & Eggs. For convivial gatherings, it's SPAM canapes. And, of course, when you're really in a hurry for something good to eat, it's SPAM sliced cold, just as it comes from the can.

Hormel makes SPAM only from purest pork. And your food store sells SPAM only in 12-ounce cans. Remember . . . if it doesn't come in a can, it isn't SPAM! A product of Geo. A. Hormel & Co., Austin, Minn.

OPEN PRIMARIES BILL SURVIVES ATTACK IN HOUSE

Predict Adoption Today in Original Form.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—All efforts to amend the Bidwill bill for an open mayoral primary in Chicago on Feb. 28 were defeated by the house of representatives tonight. Thus the measure will be ready for passage tomorrow in the form passed by the senate.

Rep. Schaefer O'Neill.

With passage—which is forecast—the primaries will be declared open to members of both parties as soon as Acting Governor John Stelle affixes his signature.

Benjamin S. Adamowski of Chicago, Democratic floor leader and a supporter of State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney for the mayoral nomination, sought to kill the Bidwill bill by striking its enacting clause. His motion brought on a lively debate which lasted for hours.

Charges Secret Alliance.

The feature exchange was between Adamowski and Representative Schaefer O'Neill [D., Alton], a supporter of Acting Governor Stelle, who in turn is behind the Bidwill bill.

Adamowski declared that any legislator voting for the Bidwill bill was aiding what he termed a "Democratic-Republican alliance" for the benefit of the Nash-Kelly Democratic machine in Chicago. He declared 29 G. O. P. ward committeemen in Chicago secretly are in league with the Nash-Kellyites.

O'Neill replied with the charge that Adamowski merely was paving the way for his own nomination for state's attorney of Cook county. O'Neill said that Adamowski suffers from a persecution complex, and interprets all legislation he doesn't like as opposed to his own ambitions.

Republicans Deny Deal.

Two Republican leaders were quick to deny that any bi-partisan deal is behind Republican sponsorship of the bill. The rest of Adamowski's accusations also were challenged.

"As for the charge that twenty-nine Republican committeemen are working with the Democrats in Chicago, that's just the old story of 'Take a number,'" said Edward P. Saltiel of Chicago. "He could just as well as have said ten as twenty-nine. Of course it isn't true."

Majority Floor Leader Robert J. Branson of Centralia added his denial that a bi-partisan arrangement had been made.

Prof. James Weber Lynn, Democrat from the University of Chicago district, made his maiden speech during the debate, declaring he was voting for the measure in order to release the Republicans who voted for him in the 5th district last April.

In addition to defeating Adamowski on the Bidwill bill, the house also resisted attempts to amend the Ward senate bill to provide a means for voting registered persons whose names do not appear in the permanent registration precinct binders.

Republicans Battle for 10% Slash in State Expenditures

BY GEORGE TAGGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—A Republican economy committee, consisting of senators and house members, will be formed to devise means of ending the long series of record breaking state budgets, it was disclosed today.

Robert J. Branson.

Picked for this committee will be financial experts who can be relied upon to delete nonessential items in the budget and slash the overgrown ones. The proposed expenditures for general purposes in the two years starting next July 1 total $244,455,531—the highest in the state's history.

Because the G. O. P. has only a small majority in the house, while the senate remains heavily Democratic, the economy committee will study parliamentary rules carefully to get the maximum leverage for its strength.

Flat 10 Per Cent Trim Is Goal.

Indications that the Republicans will aim at a 10 per cent cut—about $24,000,000—were seen today. Robert J. Branson of Centralia, majority floor leader in the house, spoke his mind on this.

"It is possible that a 10 per cent reduction could be taken care of by cutting out waste, without crippling any needed branch of state government," he said. "There is no doubt that the usefulness of some divisions and bureaus, however great in the past, has ended. And there are plenty of padded pay rolls that could be cut down."

Branson said he expects to see house Republicans carry out the party's No. 21 plank made at the Peoria convention last year. It reads:

"We pledge a drastic cut in administrative costs in all branches of local, state and national government, with a nonpolitical annual audit of all accounts."

Three Million Increase.

Representative Branson noted that state administrative agencies are asking a total of $38,992,646 for the 1939-'41 biennium—an increase of $3,097,713 over appropriations for the current two year period.

Yesterday the chairmen of the house committees on appropriations and efficiency, both Republicans, expressed determination to slash state spending. Today the Democratic chairmen of similar committees in the senate evinced a less positive attitude.

"I haven't looked at the budget," said Senator L. C. Sieberns of Gridley, head of the committee on efficiency and economy.

"The basic idea is to stay within income," said Senator W. E. C. Clifford of Champaign, chairman of the appropriations committee. "Of course, sooner or later, we will have to show a tendency to get away from high relief expenditures."

ANOTHER BILL TO REDISTRICT STATE OFFERED

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—A bill to give Cook county its rightful number of state senators and representatives was introduced in the senate today by Harold G. Ward of Chicago.

Not even the most optimistic Cook county member of the legislature, however, saw any chance of averting the defeat which since 1901 has doomed every attempt to carry out the constitutional requirement of reapportionment every ten years on the basis of the federal census.

Under Ward's bill, Cook county would have twenty-six instead of nineteen senators and its number of state representatives would be increased from fifty-seven to eighty, giving it a majority in both houses.

Cook county has 52 per cent of the state's population according to the 1930 census figure of 7,630,654.

1,735 Federal Pay Checks Stolen in City Last Year

In Chicago last year, Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan of the secret service said yesterday, thieves stole 1,735 government pay checks, principally WPA checks. The checks were for $46,845. In northern Illinois the check thefts amounted to $100,000 and throughout the country $5,000,000. Capt. Callaghan said most such thefts are professional thieves, who follow mail carriers on the days WPA checks are delivered.

Robs Till After Locking Clerk in Refrigerator

Joseph Jankis stepped into the refrigerator last night to get a steak for a young man in the market where Jankis works, at 4202 South Campbell avenue. The young man locked him in and stole $19 from the till. Hearing his clerk's cries, the proprietor came running from the living quarters and fired at the thief. He missed.

VOTE TO INDICT 3 IN SOUTH SIDE BOOKIE SLAYING

Three young men, one of them awaiting transfer to Joliet penitentiary as a robber, were reported named by the grand jury yesterday in true bills charging the murder of John Delcourt. Delcourt, 49 years old, a handbook operator, was slain by robbers last Feb. 10 in an alley near his home at 6604 Lowe avenue. Those reported named in the true bills are Peter [Husk] Biron, 22, of 5518 Dorchester avenue; Charles McCarthy, 21, of 5158 Morgan street, and Stanton Cooke, 21, alias Roger McPatrick. Biron and McCarthy confessed and implicated Cooke, who is in the county jail.

BATTLE ON AMLIE SELECTION UNDER WAY IN SENATE

Washington, Jan. 25.—(AP)—A formal protest by both houses of the Wisconsin legislature added fuel today to a developing senate controversy over the appointment of Thomas R. Amlie to the interstate commerce commission. The resolution urged President Roosevelt to withdraw his nomination of the former Wisconsin congressman, a Progressive party member, to succeed Balthasar H. Meyer.

Chairman Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] said the interstate commerce committee would consider the resolutions when it holds hearings on Amlie's nomination.

Wiley to Study Record.

Although Senator Robert M. La Follette [Prog., Wis.] said he was not surprised or disturbed by the Wisconsin legislature's action, Senator Alexander Wiley [R., Wis.] said he intended to study Amlie's record thoroughly before determining his stand.

There were indications that Republican senators might vote as a unit on the Amlie appointment, after a caucus this morning at which the matter was discussed. Some senators said several voiced opposition at this meeting.

Democrats Join Opposition.

Opposition also developed in the ranks of Democrats who have not always supported administration policies. Discussing President Roosevelt's statement yesterday that he had appointed Amlie as a non-Democrat on the eleven member commission which includes six Democrats, Senator E. R. Burke [D., Neb.] said:

"I don't know that he [Amlie] has to be opposed to the democratic form of government in order to qualify as a non-Democrat."

Representative Lewis D. Thill [R., Wis.] of Milwaukee wrote Senator Wiley a letter urging him to oppose the appointment.

"I know that his reputation is 'leftist,'" Wiley said, "but I don't know how much so."

Denounced as Communist.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Both houses of the Wisconsin legislature, controled by Democrats and Republicans, today charged [Thomas R. Amlie of Elkhorn is a communist and requested President Roosevelt to withdraw his nomination as a member of the interstate commerce commission.

Two Democrats, State Senator Harry Bolens of Port Washington and Assemblyman Maurice Fitzsimons of Fond du Lac, sponsored resolutions charging that Amlie, former Progressive representative in congress from the 1st Wisconsin district, is unfit for the appointment.

The resolutions stated that in the event President Roosevelt refuses to rescind the nomination that the United States senate should deny confirmation of Amlie.

HOPE HAMPTON'S HUSBAND HELD ON GUN CHARGE

Actress Refuses to Talk to Grand Jury.

New York, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Hope Hampton, actress and singer, frustrated police and prosecutors today in their feverish attempts to rip the veil of mystery from the shooting of her wealthy husband, Jules E. Brulatour.

Brulatour, who made millions in the sale of film to movie companies, was arrested in bed in Lenox Hill hospital this afternoon on a felony charge of possessing a loaded gun. After he was fingerprinted and posted $500 bond a patrolman left his bedside. But Miss Hampton, his third wife, flatly refused to testify before the grand jury under a waiver of immunity—the only way the district attorney's office would consent to her appearance.

Shooting Still a Mystery.

Thus the Sunday night shooting in the Brulatour Park avenue home, which police didn't learn about until Tuesday, was as baffling as ever. Police still didn't have the gun and what Brulatour, 68 years old, said about it puzzled them more than before.

Miss Hampton and Brulatour considered the whole business lightly. But neither District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey nor police did.

"We are by no means sure it was an accident," said Detective Captain James Pritchard. "Otherwise we wouldn't be continuing the investigation."

Meanwhile Miss Hampton—with three maids, a chauffeur, and a lawyer—was in the criminal courts building in response to a forthwith subpena from the grand jury.

Three Maids Quizzed.

Miss Hampton's maids were questioned by Assistant District Attorney Herman S. McCarthy. They failed to clarify matters much. As police heard it Tuesday, Miss Hampton called Dr. Carl Theobald, who found Brulatour with a bloodstained towel around his head.

Today David Fine, a drug store clerk, said one of the maids ran screaming into the shop shortly before 11 p. m. Sunday. He told McCarthy about that, and so did the maids. The maid who gave the alarm in the drug store had said Brulatour fell and cut himself.

In his talks with detectives today Brulatour further deepened the mystery about the gun by admitting that he had two guns. "I destroyed them—also the bullet," he told one investigator. Then Assistant Chief Inspector Francis J. Kear quoted Brulatour as saying he had locked the guns in a vault and would produce them later.

Two Women Freed in Quiz Over Missing Hotel Funds

Mrs. Dorothy Ball, 28 years old, 1129 Wolfram street, and Miss Ellen Bradle, 23, were freed by Town Hall police yesterday after they were questioned about a party Sunday in Miss Bradle's room at the Carlton Terrace hotel, 4626 Magnolia avenue. The manager, J. J. Griffith, had charged that $110 of the hotel's money disappeared from his pocket while he was drinking at the party. Griffith was seized later with another $190 in hotel funds in his possession. He was charged with petty larceny.

WOMAN INJURED BY AUTO CRASH DIES IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Anna Stasiek, 56 years old, 2427 Hubbard street, died in West Side hospital last night of injuries suffered in an automobile collision at California and Grand avenues on New Year's day.

Albert Markiewicz, 50 years old, of 1644 North Kolmar avenue, died in Danish-American hospital of injuries suffered on Sunday when he was struck at Grand and Kolmar avenues by a motorist who failed to stop.

William Luther Moore, said to have been a descendant of Ralph Waldo Emerson, died in Berwyn hospital last night of injuries suffered in an automobile collision in Lyons Sunday. Mr. Moore, retired Quincy manager for the Western Union Telegraph company, was 84 years old. He came to Illinois when he was a boy and helped his father chop down trees to build a log cabin. Mr. Moore's home was at 228 South 8th avenue, La Grange. The other car in the collision was driven by Dr. Jack Rosenberg, 26 years old, of 225 9th street, Aurora.

Miss Mary Keating, 24, of 8101 Ellis avenue, was critically injured when her automobile skidded and crashed head-on into a street car in front of 2550 South State street. She was taken to the Wesley Memorial hospital.

At 4 p. m. yesterday 82 persons had been killed in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of this number 67 were killed within Chicago, where 1,451 were injured in the same period.

Truck Backfire Blamed for $50,000 Fire Loss

The backfiring of a truck was blamed yesterday as the cause of a blaze that swept through the plant of the Royal Continental Box Company, Inc., 324 North Leavitt street, early in the day, causing a loss estimated from $50,000 to $60,000. Charles Drucker, plant foreman, told fire officials he was taking a truck to the loading platform when it backfired and set fire to its load of cartons. Six employés ran to safety.

AUTOIST GETS 30 DAYS FOR LEAVING ACCIDENT SCENE

Judge Jay A. Schiller of Safety court yesterday sentenced Alfred Elmberger, 5253 Agatite avenue, to thirty days in jail for leaving the scene of an accident. Witnesses testified that Elmberger drove away after his automobile struck and injured a pedestrian last Oct. 22. Elmberger filed notice of an appeal.

John Fairlie, 425 Sherman avenue, Evanston, insisted before Judge Harry H. Porter of Evanston yesterday that he had consumed only two glasses of beer. But a test for intoxication, said the judge, indicated Fairlie had in his blood the alcohol from nearly a pint of 100 proof whiskey. Fairlie was fined $100 for reckless driving.

FIRE DESTROYS FOUR TRUCKS.

Four trucks, loaded with merchandise, were destroyed by fire yesterday in a garage behind 316 West 104th place. The damage was estimated at $2,500.

JUSTICE NODS AT OFFENSE OF SLEEPY DRIVER

Early in the morning of Jan. 8 the automobile of Fred Hansen Jr., 24 years old, 1344 Thorndale avenue, bounced over the curb at Sheridan road and South boulevard, Evanston, and tore up some young trees.

This happened, Hansen said yesterday in Evanston Municipal court, because he was asleep. He was returning late from a party with a young woman who already had fallen asleep and finally, he said, he couldn't keep awake either.

Judge James M. Corcoran dismissed a charge of reckless driving. Morpheus, the god of sleep, is a tricky fellow, said the judge.

BANDIT GAGS WOMAN VICTIM.

A gray haired gunman took $30 yesterday from Mrs. Genevieve Rywniak, 31 years old, in her grocery at 1925 West 69th street. When she resisted he forced her into the back room and bound and gagged her.

PARKS IN WRONG PLACES.

Ten million dollars is being spent on a program of construction and reconstruction in Lincoln park. By Lincoln park is meant the land along the lake and for varying widths back of it, extending all the way from North avenue to Foster avenue. Much of the work is already completed or under contract and to that extent comment on the plan can have only the limited usefulness of prompting reëxamination of the unfinished portion of the project and preventing the repetition of mistakes which may have been made.

Ten million dollars is a lot of money. It is being spent chiefly to serve two ends—automobile transportation and recreation. For neither purpose is the land along the eastern edge of the city particularly well adapted. Parks should be as accessible to the people as possible. Lincoln park reverses the rule. It is at the point of maximum inaccessibility—at the edge instead of the center of the district it serves. It provides a spacious and often magnificent playground close to the homes of those who need it least and far from the homes of those who need it most.

The site is also a thoroughly undesirable one for the city's only high-speed trafic artery. This is true for two reasons. The first is that a trafic artery ought to cut through the middle of the region it serves; if it runs along the edge of it, the average ride is lengthened, the side streets are needlessly congested, and the growth of the city becomes lopsided. The second is that a high-speed road can only detract from the beauty of the lake shore.

The use of the boulevards and parks for automobile right of way came about insidiously. It was Chicago's misfortune that the Burnham plan, with its emphasis upon the improvement of the lake shore, was drafted before the motor car came of age. We have reclaimed the south side's lake shore from the railroad only to give the lake shore, north and south, to whizzing automobiles. The drives restrict the use of the parks for recreation, and, as many property owners have discovered, reduce property values in the vicinity, particularly the values of residential property. Formerly the presence of a park or boulevard enhanced real estate prices, produced an additional tax yield, and, accordingly, helped pay the cost of the park itself. That is no longer invariably true, as South Michigan avenue, to choose one example, abundantly proves. The roar of automobiles, day and night, and the stench of their exhaust gases have not enhanced the attractions of Lake Shore drive as a residential street.

There is much truth in the assertion that the speedways have driven families from homes in what were formerly and might still be the most desirable residential areas in the city and sent these people into the suburbs for peace and quiet. The park drives have enhanced suburban values by making it possible to get out of town in a hurry. At the expense of taxpayers in the city, the advantages of the city have been in part destroyed and those of the suburbs have been greatly enhanced.

So far as Lincoln park and Burnham park are concerned, it is too late to change the fundamental plan in this generation. The money that might better have been spent on parks and a north-south elevated highway in the vicinity of Ashland avenue has been spent for a far less serviceable highway and park along the lake shore. The best that can be done now is to look forward to the time when a more rational plan can be carried out and to appraise present and future expenditures on the lake front in the light of the real needs of the city for trafic arteries and recreational areas.

O, YES, GIBRALTAR.

Capt. Anthony Eden in his speech at Coventry repeated his warnings to his fellow countrymen to watch out for Italy and Germany. Mentioning Spain, he said: "No foreign power or powers should be allowed to establish themselves in Spain or Spanish possessions."

The British national spectacles are so perched on the nose of Gibraltar that the eyes cannot see the nose but look over it at the Suez canal and India. There is probably not a great deal of hypocrisy in the view which cannot see Gibraltar but can see the possibility of a foreign power establishing itself in Spanish territory.

Gibraltar is something that is. Presumably it just happened in the ordained or natural course of events. Moreover, time has validated it and its authority is to be found in an ancient charter of rights which for other powers has been abrogated by new international moralities. They, not being retroactive, do not apply to any of the processes by which the British empire threw out its lines.

Capt. Eden would probably be much astonished if it were suggested to him that Gibraltar compromised his declaration that no foreign power should establish itself in Spain. He can perceive the inconsistency in the German and Italian policy which, while insisting that there shall be no intervention in Spain, permits the Italians and the Germans to send as many men and materials of war as they care to supply and at the same time insists that nonintervention is prevailing and that France must not lend any aid to the Barcelona government.

The British interpretation of the statute of limitations by which it holds possessions the like of which must not be sought by other powers is observed by the new pushful nations as an indication of British perfidy. The English would search their souls in vain to find any whisper of conscience telling them that they might be insincere. They know they are not. It may all seem strange when viewed by other eyes, but it is quite simple and the English think everybody should understand it and would if they were not intentionally evil-minded.

THE ISSUE IN CONGRESS.

Money appropriated for relief has been used in the past for three purposes. In part it has been employed for its avowed objective, to provide subsistence for those without jobs. In part relief money has been set to work for the rankest political purposes. The investigations of the senate committee under the chairmanship of Senator Sheppard have established it, and the man who administered the money has admitted it. Finally, money appropriated for relief purposes has been spent to inflate the credit. Both the President and Chairman Eccles of the federal reserve board have openly avowed that the maintenance of an excess of expenditures over receipts was a deliberate policy of the administration.

In furtherance of one or another of these objectives, expenditures in the amount of 20 billion dollars in excess of receipts have been made since 1932. The direct debt of the government is crossing the 40 billion dollar mark and, including the debt of some of the government corporations, the national debt is well advanced toward the 50 billion dollar mark. The President has repeatedly promised economy and a balancing of the budget, and has failed to keep his word. He has stated many times in the past that no nation can continuously spend more than its income without producing a collapse.

With a debt already at 40 billion dollars [much more by the other reckoning], we face the fact that a world is in a state of disorder. If we are drawn into a new world conflict where will the nation's debt go then? The last war brought about an increase of 25 billions in the national debt. And after wars come depressions. If the credit of the government is sustained at 40 billion dollars can it stand up at 65 billions? Apparently all banks are not convinced of the government's credit now. One of the nation's largest financial institutions, with 939 millions in deposits, has 640 million in cash on which no return is being had. It can get a return out of governments, but doesn't believe the yield is worth the risk. What will happen if a number of banks come to the same conclusion?

It is this larger question which the senate must consider now in voting funds for relief for the next five months. If money is needed for the relief of human misery, it should be supplied. But the administration cannot justify its request for 875 million dollars on this ground.

Congress appropriated 1 billion 425 million dollars last June, with the provision that it was to last until March 1, 1939. At the time when the bill was passed the index of manufacturing production in the United States stood at 76. In July an astonishing rise in business activity got under way, and by the end of the year the index had reached 104. This was an improvement more rapid than congress or the President could possibly have anticipated. If the fund was adequate for relief, judged by the conditions existing last June, it must have been superfluous under the conditions which actually prevailed. Boosting of the expenditures to the highest point ever reached just before the election, in the face of business improvement, showed why the money was being spent. It is also indicated that Marriner Eccles' naïve spending theory also was being followed.

For the next five months the President is demanding that supplementary appropriation of 875 million dollars be provided. The report of the treasury shows that WPA had 482 million dollars of unobligated balance the first of the year. Therefore the President proposed that the government be authorized to spend for relief in the first six months of 1939 the 482 millions remaining of previous appropriations and an additional 875 million or 1 billion 457 million dollars. That would be at the rate of nearly 250 million dollars per month. In the year 1937 WPA expenditures averaged 126 million dollars per month. In the first six months of 1938 WPA expenditures averaged 141 million dollars per month. Conditions now are better than they were in the first half of 1938.

Clearly a large appropriation for the next five months is being asked in the belief that prosperity can be obtained by squandering. As President Roosevelt so well said in a speech on Oct. 19, 1932: "Our federal extravagance and improvidence bear a double evil: first, our people and our business cannot carry their excessive burden of taxation; second, our credit structure is impaired by the unorthodox federal financing made necessary by the unprecedented magnitude of the deficits."

With the volume of business substantially better than a year ago, the administration cannot justify its expenditures as poor relief. It is a deliberate attempt to inflate the credit or the theory that if the public credit is inflated enough we'll all get rich. At least half of what the President asks for is inflation; no more than half is for relief. The house of representatives has lopped off 150 million per month. Another 150 million dollars will be subtracted if the present congress means to stop spending for the mere sake of spending. The vote on relief will be important in indicating where congress stands. Is it for heading off the financial collapse or does it desire to accelerate it?

Editorial of the Day

USED FOR A DAY.

[Boston Evening Transcript.]

Careless shopping is receiving serious and well merited attention at the National Retail Dry Goods association convention in New York. Return of purchased goods, one delegate estimated, costs the retailers, and through them the American public, $32,000,000 a year, an estimate which seems high at first glance but quite reasonable when we consider that from 10 to 30 per cent of garments purchased in our stores are sent back.

Retailers have studied this problem, but because of competitive conditions they cannot deny customers the exchange privilege, no matter how much it is abused. The best they can do is fight to keep down the chiselers who take an article on approval, use it, then send it back. But the public itself could, through consumers' organizations, women's clubs and such media, take constructive action in this regard, and it would be to its interest to do so. The more unnecessary charges are cut down the cheaper goods will become.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

A MEMBER OF THIS FAMILY.

The tragic note is not struck often in this column, but we cannot let the death of E. Leslie Spaulding pass without comment, for he was a well-remembered poet of the Line from 1927 to 1934. He died by fire, with seven others, in McGregor, his home town in northeastern Iowa, and apparently his first thought, when aroused in bewilderment and suffocation at midnight, was to save the collection of his verses. When he was found his hands still clutched a briefcase full of notebooks that were filled with clippings of his verses as published in many newspapers and magazines. They included a poem from the Line o' Type column, "I Shall Sing Again," which is now reprinted in his memory:

I feel that some day I shall sing again,
That past this desert of unhappy days,
Beyond these mists of doubt and tears of pain
There will be waiting for me sunlit ways.

Old dreams die hard; the breath of April still Stirs me a little, and I see afar,
Above the ramparts of the last long hill,
The pallid gleaming of one friendly star.

No matter what may come, I'm sure of this:
That all the mangling fingers of despair
Can never take from me the certain bliss
Of siren music on the desert air.
Somewhere beyond the present hurricane
Is calm and peace, and I shall sing again.

"Colorado Pete, and Jay Sigmund, and many others will meet him at the end of the trail," writes Elenore Lee White, another Iowa member of the Line family. "Les Spaulding has started on a new adventure."

My SITAR strumming as I troll a lay;
My PROA waits upon yon silver strand,
And LUNA fades as SOL proclaims the day.

No RIO'S flood shall stay my earnest quest,
No REDAN grim shall daunt my fighting heart,
And though no PICE or ORA weight my chest,
No clashing TAL shall signalize my start.

When I return to claim thy fairest boon,
With gleaming HELM and mighty CELT in hand,
I swear by RA, and ISIS, and the moon
That thou shall have an AMT of finest land,

A Hobby for Sugar Daddies.

Be sure to have a hobby; it gives you "class." If your hobby involves lifting small articles from restaurants, hotels, and cabarets it stamps you as "sophisticated." The latest wrinkle in this form of kleptomania and squirrelitis is the collecting of lumps of sugar that have some device or identifying label on the paper wrapper. A pair of such saccharinologists, swapping specimens, would be a sweet sight.

The Dictionary Wrestling Match. I.

ANSWER TO AN ANSWER.

[Lyrical retort to "Si, Si, Modesta" [1-12-'39], which replied to "To Donfarran" [1-11-'39].

There's a bitter note in your song today
That never was there before,
When you sang your songs of the dusty roads
And the lure of a foreign shore.

But men are quick to cynical talk,
The wandering saint or the rake,
And they blame the lady, or Satan, or God
For the bargain they strained to make.

A maid there was that you might have had,
With the honest gypsy feet,
She'd have roamed the uttermost isles of the earth
And spurned the city street.

But you whistled her by with a careless nod
And she lifted high her head,
And gravely she watched you woo the maid
Who bound you to board and bed.†

There's a note in your song that wasn't there
When you were a younger lad.
If the housewife shattered the dream you loved,
Believe me, I'm very glad.

California, Stay Out of This.

California has a bigger oak tree than the champion in Berkey's woods near Warsaw, Ind. [Circumference 22 feet, breast high.] It is the Hooker oak in Bidwell park, Chico: species, valley white; circumference at ground, 25 feet 7 inches; at eight feet above ground level, 28 feet 4 inches. In this park "Robin Hood" was filmed. Ione Baskett.

[Note by Linemaster: California trees are barred from this contest. We want normal trees, not the pampered, hypertrophied botanical monsters of an abnormal climatic zone.]

This morning I gazed unbelievingly! Can it be that I ——? It can't be true that I ——? Oops, I fooled you! I didn't make the Line.

Annabelle Lee.

The author of the verses, "Dreamers in the Snow," printed without signature 1-23-'39, is Catherine Mayer of Chicago. This was her debut in the Line and the field of newspaper verse, although her work has been published in various poetry magazines. She writes: "The Line first made me poetry-conscious."　CHARLES COLLINS.

HELIUM FOR EASY BREATHING.

ONLY in recent years has it been possible to employ helium for the purpose of aiding respiration. This rare gas was first identified by astronomers who studied the atmosphere surrounding the sun—whence the name. But this was in 1868, long before it was discovered on our earth. The substance is colorless and odorless and—with the exception of hydrogen—is the lightest known gas. Its value in airships and balloons is well understood because of its noninflammable character.

Its medical uses, however, bid fair to be more important than all others. Because of its lightness it is of advantage in diluting oxygen and a proportion consisting of helium 79 per cent and oxygen 21 per cent will render breathing so easy that little effort is required. Furthermore, it can travel where ordinary air [nitrogen 79 per cent, oxygen 21 per cent] cannot. Whenever there is obstruction along the smaller bronchial tubes it may be possible to pass the barrier with the mixture because it weighs so much less.

Severe cases of asthma, therefore, or any interference with respiration due to sensitivity [allergy] may be improved in spectacular fashion through this helium-oxygen combination. Particularly is it helpful to those patients who do not respond to powerful medicines.

Again, with many individuals suffering from overstretched air sacs [emphysema] the effect is striking. Lung cells which have not received a full breath for months or even years—that have become practically useless—may be made to function, at least in part.

In difficult respiration during the course of anesthesia, considerable relief is afforded by mixing a small quantity of this element with the anesthetic and oxygen. In fact, many operating rooms are now equipped with a tank which is available should the need arise.

Not long ago it was my privilege to witness the dramatic influence of helium inhalations in a distressing asthmatic attack, with the patient struggling for breath. Every item in the pharmacy that offered the slightest hope had been resorted to without avail. The victim was terrified and in collapse because no matter how desperately he fought, air could not reach the absorbing surfaces of the lungs. In addition, heart failure was impending because the return flow of blood from the chest was interfered with and the circulating fluid was inadequately supplied with oxygen. The change from a critical situation to one of safety was as astonishing as it was gratifying. The patient was later controled by drugs and while the chronic condition still persists he is now carrying on in reasonable comfort.

It is understood, of course, that the percentages must be accurately gauged as it is seldom safe to allow oxygen to drop below one-fifth the total volume. If an insufficient ratio of this vital gas is furnished some danger from asphyxia will be encountered. The plan gives the same amount of oxygen that is found in ordinary air but it is increased manyfold in its power of penetration.

Occasionally during one of these serious seizures administration must be maintained for several hours. The cyanosis [blueness] fades away and respiration becomes quieter. While we must understand that recourse to this regimen is not curative, nevertheless, we may regard it as lifesaving. It may be the means of tiding over a desperate siege until the balance of body functions can be restored. The original malady—whatever it may be—still remains and may constitute a major medical problem.

Fortunately, helium does not exert the slightest poisonous influence. This has been tested over and over again. While administration may be given via the ordinary anesthetic mask, it is frequently possible to utilize a simpler arrangement such as a double nasal catheter inserted along the floor of the nostrils with the tips resting at the back of the throat.

ASK YOUR PHYSICIAN.

A. F. writes: Is charged water beneficial in kidney trouble?

REPLY.

Since carbonated waters usually give an alkaline reaction to the urine, they may be contraindicated in those cases in which an acid reaction is desired. Follow the advice of your physician as he is familiar with your particular type of renal inflammation.

AND HOW!

A. D. writes: Can any harmful effects result from drinking an average of three quarts of home brew daily over a period of years?

REPLY.

CLOSING ESTATE.

Cicero, Ill., Jan. 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. A will is filed in Probate court in 1932, and estate is not closed [because the other heirs say the property won't bring enough money]. I was appointed executor and paid all bills charged against estate. The will stipulated a cash consideration for me besides an equal share.

2. I would like to get my money and can I charge interest at what rate?

3. How could I go about it to close the estate?

4. Can I charge an executor's fee and how much?

5. I would like to close the estate with the best of feelings toward the other heirs, and I know a foreclosure would create a family quarrel, which I wish to avoid.　O. P.

1. We do not see why you did not close the estate immediately upon the expiration of the year for filing claims and collect your compensation.

2. You are not in a position to claim interest accruing while you were unreasonably delaying the closing of the estate.

3. Depends in part on what steps you have already taken. If you have had no previous experience in such matters it will probably be advisable to employ an attorney.

4. Yes. The statute says not over 6 per cent of the personal property.

5. You give us no facts even as to the existence of a mortgage, much less as to reasons for foreclosing it.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES.

Carbondale, Ill., Jan. 21.—In reply to your editorial this morning on foreign languages may I state that we teachers of language are fully conscious of the defects in our own teaching and would be glad to remedy the same? A student is expected to master a language in only one or two years of high school or college, whereas no chemist, physician, lawyer, or teacher is qualified to speak or act with authority without years of training. These same European schools mentioned begin the study of languages early in the grades, and the pupils feel the need of knowing well at least one of the tongues spoken in neighboring nations so near at hand.

Nevertheless, in spite of these handicaps of insufficient time, training, etc., there are here in this country many schools and colleges where excellent work is being done in teaching pupils how to read, write, speak, and understand a foreign language. At least a student should not have to fight for an opportunity to study such a language because of too many other requirements.

It generally takes ten or twelve years for an American girl or boy to gain a fair command of the English language; why expect superhuman results from the foreign language teacher?

J. CARY DAVIS,
Assistant Professor of French, Southern Illinois State Normal university.

SCARLETT AND WALLY.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—I quite agree with Mrs. George E. Stendel relative to the selection of an English actress to play Scarlett O'Hara. The selection, however, was made by an American whose judgment can scarcely be worse than Mrs. Stendal's, who vents her spleen on England because of her compatriot's mistake.

It does seem a little odd that any good American can work up steam over England's decision to call the ex-Mrs. Simpson "the duchess of Windsor" instead of "her royal highness, the duchess of Windsor."

In the olden days Wally might conceivably have done worse. It's only we good Americans who lose our heads nowadays.　G. O. DAWE.

UNDERPRIVILEGED.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—As I sit in my office watching twelve WPA men standing around a fire after having removed approximately 200 bricks from the pavement during a period of two working days I sympathize with these men and blame the health department for the fact that they have to drink out of one cup.

I think it would be well that the government also furnish rocking chairs and more wood for their fire, as it makes me nervous to watch them stand around all day long.

If you would please arrange to have these men removed from in front of my office I will finish their work in about one hour and a half.

If they are there all next week I will write you again.　EMIL C. ERICKSEN.

OUR EMBANKMENTS.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—As one approaches the river from the north the view of Wacker drive with its splendid buildings and embankment is quite stunning, but the approach from the south is quite different. West of the Wrigley buildings it is ugliness itself, old tumble down buildings and a terminal for unused freight cars.

Can you not start a movement to make the north bank of the river in harmony with the south bank?

EMILY LARNED.

ALIMONY.

Marcell, Minn., Jan. 19.—All down the ages men have exploited women. Now women are exploiting men, and alimony has become one of the major rackets of America. What priceless thing a woman brings into marriage [that a good man does not] will forever remain a mystery. Yet, the marriage ceremony automatically makes a wife eligible for lifetime support. Nothing could be more inequitable, more unjust.

Children should always be provided for, and no father should be permitted to evade his just obligation. Likewise, if a wife helps lay the foundation for a man's success in later life she should receive compensation for her loyal efforts. This should be in the nature of a cash settlement to be paid over a period of years, if necessary. The amount should be determined by the length of service and the degree to which she has been helpful.

Self-respecting wives do not live on alimony. They prefer to work for their living. The day is coming when decent society will ostracize women living on alimony, together with the framing detectives who aid and abet them.

MRS. BESSIE COOLEY.

GEN. JACKSON'S MANTLE.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 21.—Since President Roosevelt seeks to identify the present Democratic party with Andrew Jackson, it might be well to point out that Andrew Jackson did not favor expenditures by the federal government for highways or anything else except a very restricted list of objects derived from a very strict construction of the consitution, and that the budget was so well balanced during Jackson's administration that the national debt was extinguished. The business panic which occurred at the close of his adminstraton was handled locally, without federal assistance or legislation to ameliorate the situation. Jackson appointed the conservative states rights Democrat, Taney, to the Supreme court with a view to restricting federal powers to the utmost. Just what is there, save the introduction of the spoils system, that the President can admire?

L. A. CHASE.

TERMS STRICTLY CASH.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 20.—I'll marry anybody. I'll go anywhere, do anything or marry anybody for sufficient financial remuneration or a job.

I'm 24 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, and weigh 165 pounds. I've seen homelier men than myself. I have the equivalent of a high school education, have traveled quite a bit and know my way around.

MICKEY.

FOR WHOLESALE SPELLING REFORM.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—You would confer a great favor on practically all of your readers by discontinuing your practice of mis-spelling numerous words. It accomplishes nothing, is an irritation to most readers, and certainly must be confusing to nearly all.

English spelling and grammar admittedly need many reforms, but your plan merely adds to the difficulties of most readers. If you wish to do something constructive why not advocate the creation of a high commission to do a thorough job, revising the alphabet so as to have a character for each of the forty-eight sounds, eliminating nearly all irregular verbs, perparing a new dictionary some ten years in advance of the time the new spelling was to become effective, and making all other changes that would aid in clarifying the subject? Such a course would be a great help in extending the use of the English language, for even the Chinese might become interested. As matters now stand I do not see how foreigners ever learn the language, for few of the natives ever do.　H. E. BARTLETT.

DEMOCRATIC ADVANTAGES.

Park Ridge, Ill., Jan. 17.—In perusing the paper we find a great deal of Fascist news, Nazi news, and news of Japanese progress in China, and very little about the wonders and advantages of our glorious democracy.

It is very evident that we need more space allotted to the advantages of living in a democracy; the freedom of the press, the freedom of speech, the advantages of religious worship, our fine educational systems, our public parks, our freedom of travel from one state to another without having to stick out one's tongue for a physical examination or having one's baggage searched for contraband as in Europe.

There are millions of people in this country whose only reading matter is the daily newspaper. It is time the newspapers get on the job by figuring out ways and means to get the great news about democracy to their readers quickly, intelligently, and in such a way that it will be news. It can be done, so as to create more circulation and prestige.　ISOLATIONIST.

THE PAUSE WORD.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—We have been trying to decide how to spell the pause word used between words and sentences by both high and low alike. Some think it should be spelled "and-a" others "and-oh" or "and-dow." Could some one please tell us the correct way?

CURIOUS.

COMPLETE JURY FOR 2D TRIAL OF JAMES J. HINES

2 Alternates Are Chosen for Racket Case.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—A jury of middle aged business men with a mixture of political leanings was completed late today to hear the second trial of Tammany Leader James J. Hines. The Democratic boss is charged with selling political protection to New York City's policy game racketeers.

Ninety-three veniremen ran the gantlet of questions fired by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey and the defense counsel before the jury of twelve and two alternates was finally selected. Judge Charles C. Nott Jr. presiding over the case in General Sessions court, also took an active part in the questioning.

This painstaking procedure started on Monday and consumed three days. The lengthy examination was made necessary because so many of the prospective jurors had formed opinions from the first trial of the Democratic machine boss.

Personnel of Jury.

Herman E. Nathan, 38, married, Democrat, insurance.

Louis S. Dorsey, 42, married, Democrat, manufacturer.

Frederick A. Childs, 65, single, Democrat, salesman.

Basil H. Anglin, 57, married, no party, assistant manager, refining department of Texas company.

Two Alternates Available.

The two alternates who will serve only if regular jurors become incapacitated are:

George Kraus, 67, married, Republican, insurance broker.

Before sending them on their way Judge Nott cautioned the jurors not to talk about the case among themselves.

Woman Stabber of Nurse Will Get Sanity Hearing

Miss Ellen M. Coolidge, 28 years old, 2400 Harrison street, Evanston, who stabbed her nurse with a carving knife, Monday, will be given a sanity hearing next Wednesday at the Psychopathic hospital where she is being held.

Hospital Graduate

Jeanette De Fonzo, with her high school diploma in St. Luke's hospital room yesterday.

Jeanette de Fronzo was graduated from Lucy Flower Technical High school yesterday. She had her own commencement exercises in a ward on the fourteenth floor of St. Luke's hospital, where she has been confined since last October. The regular commencement exercises for the school will be held this evening.

Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson handed Jeanette her diploma in the presence of about fifty persons, including her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nick de Fronzo, 850 South Morgan street.

"Nothing as grand as this has ever happened to me before," Jeanette exclaimed.

She wore the traditional gray cap and gown over her blue pajamas. Superintendent Johnson praised her for her courage and wished her a speedy recovery. On Jan. 9 she was operated on for a pelvic abscess. She is 20 years old.

STUDY DEMANDS FOR OUSTER OF MADAM PERKINS

Washington, D. C, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—The twenty-six members of the house judiciary committee today studied a resolution calling for an investigation of the conduct in office of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins with a view to impeachment of the cabinet officer.

The forty-four page resolution charging high crimes and misdemeanors against Mme. Perkins and two of her aids was read by the committee in executive session. The committee will meet again tomorrow to consider the question of hearings and also whether to give the secretary an opportunity to present her side of the case in person.

All the members of the committee are lawyers and a number have served on the bench prior to their service in congress. A member of the committee said that the charges would first be considered as if a demurrer had been filed in court against an indictment.

"In other words," he explained, "the committee will first ascertain if the charges are grounds for impeachment, assuming they are true. If that is determined, the committee then will proceed with an investigation into the truth of the charges."

DIES AT 68 OF EXPOSURE.

SPURNS HUSBAND AND HER CHANCE TO AVOID PRISON

He Goes Free on Charge of Embezzlement.

Mrs. Hazel Cornwall refused a reconciliation with her husband yesterday, even though it meant losing a chance to avoid serving a one to ten year sentence in the penitentiary. She was sentenced on Dec. 1 for embezzling $4,300 from the Western Springs State bank, where she was a teller. At her trial she said she took the money because her husband complained of their poverty.

Yesterday the husband, Francis Cornwall, 32 years old, was acquitted by Judge Walter T. Stanton on charges of embezzlement and receiving stolen property. The charges were based on his wife's assertion, at her trial, that she bought him an automobile and gave him spending money when he was out of work.

Confers with Bank President.

Cornwall told the court of going to Oklahoma City, Okla., to take a $35 a week job as manager of an ice cream plant. When his wife wrote him last May that her accounts had a large shortage, Cornwall said he returned and talked with the bank president, Hiram A. Parks.

"That certainly was damaging to your conduct as a husband," commented Judge Stanton. "Instead of going to the bank president with your information which started the action against your wife a good husband would have thrashed it out with her first. It's very strange, anyway, that you say you did not know where all the money was coming from.

"Do you think you can live this thing down, be a good husband to her, go back to Oklahoma, find a small apartment, and live on your salary?"

Willing to Go Back.

"I think I can," replied Cornwall. "I'd be willing to go back to her."

Judge Stanton then consulted with Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley, who will hear a motion to vacate Mrs. Cornwall's sentence on Monday. Judge McKinley agreed to take into account the husband's acquittal.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles McNamara asked Mrs. Cornwall if she wanted to take back her husband. Said Mrs. Cornwall:

ROOSEVELT LAYS ASIDE HIS WHIP OVER CONGRESS

Soft Pedals New Bills to Save Earlier Gains.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt tacitly acknowledged today that his sole concern with the present congress is to keep the New Deal from being overhauled. He will make no fight for new social legislation, but will struggle to retain what he won from rubber stamp congresses, it was learned.

The White House announced that Mr. Roosevelt has completed his recommendations so far as the present congress is concerned. Stephen T. Early, presidential secretary, reported that the President's legislative slate is clean.

Fears Economy Wave.

The proposed legislative breathing spell was interpreted by members of congress as an admission that the White House is worried that the congressional anti-spending bloc may cripple the New Deal. Leaders feel confident the President will not renege on this breathing spell, as he did on the one he promised business before the 1936 campaign.

To futher woo congress, Mr. Roosevelt has thrust Thomas C. Corcoran, lobbyist brain truster, so far into the background as to cause reports that he is on his way out. In the last three congresses, Corcoran and his pal, Benjamin Cohen, lobbied for administration measures almost from the floors of the house and the senate.

Puts Congress on Spot.

Other brain trusters have been told to turn their minds from thinking up new ideas to thinking up schemes to save the old ones.

The President's soft pedaling of new legislation is considered as advancing his effort to pass the buck to congress when the administration comes under fire. He will be able to say that he gave congress a free hand to do anything it wanted to correct any situation that might cause complaint.

The new White House policy adds to the influence of Vice President John N. Garner. It is expected that members of congress will turn to him for guidance even more than they have been, because Mr. Roosevelt is going to leave congress alone.

DEBATE WISDOM OF SOCIALIZED MEDICAL PLANS

500 Hear A. M. A. Editor and Critic Speak.

Widely differing views on the wisdom of compulsory sickness insurance and other social experiments in the medical field were expressed last night at a meeting in the Congress hotel. Listening to the exposition were 500 guests invited by Charles H. Schweppe, president of the Chicago Hospital council.

Dr. John P. Peters, professor of medicine at Yale university, and Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical association, were the principal speakers. Dr. Peters is secretary of the Committee of Physicians for the Improvement of Medical Care, which has referred to the medical association as standpatters.

Calls for Greater Service.

"Some method," he asserted, "must be devised by which the great mass of our middle class population may get medical attention without being subjected to indignity."

Dr. Peters said organized medicine has fought attempts of laymen and physicians to experiment along new lines for the organization of medical services on a coöperative basis. He added that recent government reports showed shocking lack of medical care for many Americans.

Fears Effect on Profession.

Dr. Fishbein contended that compulsory sickness insurance would result in a deterioration of quality in medical service, and would be a step toward a fascist or communist system.

"America cannot exist with its medical profession enslaved to make a politicians' holiday," he asserted. "If individual initiative in medicine is destroyed, progress will cease."

Dr. Peters retorted that physicians on salary would work as efficiently as if they collected fees.

BILL TO OUTLAW SITDOWN FILED IN LEGISLATURE

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald's labor relations bill, accompanied by a special message, was introduced in both houses of the Michigan assembly today. The measure is designed to substitute mediation for destructive strikes in settling employer-employé disputes and to eliminate most of the conditions that made possible the law-defying sitdowns during the administration of former Gov. Frank Murphy, New Deal Democrat, now attorney general of the United States.

The bill would create an administering board made up of five members, including two representatives of labor organizations, one of industry, one of retail business, and the fifth, of the general public. Appointees, chosen by the governor without regard to political affiliation, would serve five year staggered terms.

The board could conduct a secret vote among employés to learn their favored bargaining agents. Its jurisdiction in mediation and adjustments of disputes would include "grievances, conditions of employment, wages, hours, and all other matters which may result in a strike."

JURY WILL HEAR MANY WITNESSES IN CRABB QUIZ

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 25—[Special.]—Twenty or more witnesses will be called before a federal grand jury in Springfield Monday in the investigation of the Tazewell County National bank of Delavan, Ill., it was announced today.

Howard L. Doyle of Decatur, United States district attorney, held a long conference with Circuit Judge John T. Culbertson Jr., who was named president of the bank after Willis W. Crabb admitted irregularities and was removed. The prosecutor said he was awaiting complete reports from examiners who are investigating the bank's affairs.

It was reported that the irregularities in Crabb's accounts were due, in part at least, to the defense of his son, James W. Crabb, in criminal trials last year and to losses in business ventures.

ASK AMENDMENT OF CIVIL SERVICE TO AID LABORERS

A bill to amend the civil service act to benefit city laborers will be introduced at this session of the state legislature, it was announced yesterday by the Civil Service Boosters' association. One amendment would provide that those laborers who have had the longest service should be the first rehired after layoffs. They are now chosen by lot. The other amendment would require action of a trial board on complaint of a supervisor before a laborer could be discharged. The proposed legislation will be discussed Sunday at a meeting of civil service workers in the Capitol building, 159 North State street.

ORDER UTILITIES TO MOVE LINES FOR THE SUBWAY

Ordinance Passed by City Council.

The city council yesterday passed an ordinance requiring utilities companies to relocate underground lines which would interfere with the construction of subway stations at the intersections of State street and Grand and Chicago avenues.

The ordinance declared that because there is no agreement between the utilities and the city on how the cost of such removals should be borne, the companies must make the changes at their own expense.

Five Companies Affected.

The companies named in the ordinance are the Commonwealth Edison company, Peoples Gas Light & Coke company, Illinois Bell Telephone company, Western Union Telegraph company, and the Chicago Surface lines. The utilities' lines are so located that they must be moved to permit the building of mezzanine stations on the first section of the State street subway.

The city is empowered by law to order the utilities to relocate their lines. If the utilities refuse, the city may move them and attempt to collect the cost from the companies.

The question of who must bear the cost of relocation—the city or the utilities—has not been finally determined. The city claims the companies must pay and the companies hold the city is liable. Mayor Kelly has proposed that the utilities move them at their own expense and later, if they wish, submit the question to the courts.

Objection by Surface Lines.

Before it was passed by the coucil the ordinance was approved by the local transportation committee over the objections of Attorney Harry P. Weber, representing the surface lines. Weber asked for amendments making specific provisions for maintenance of service during construction.

He said that if the ordinance were passed and literally enforced service would be cut at the intersections on three main car lines. In such an event, he said, the company would fight the ordinance. The committee members held there would be no interruption of service and approved the ordinance without amendment. Weber also asked for an amendment stipulating that the utilities have the right to sue the city for the cost of relocation.

DELEGATES SEEK U. S. FUNDS FOR NORTH SHORE RD.

A delegation of north shore residents will leave today for Washington, where they will present a request that the government advance $3,500,000 to modernize the North Shore railroad and keep it in operation. Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, is to receive the delegation tomorrow.

A petition for government help for the road, which has been in receivership for some years, has been signed by 67,103 persons. It asserts that discontinuance of the North Shore service would lower real estate values, halt new building, and lower employment in twenty-five communities.

Those who will go to Washington are Harry C. Kinne, president of the Wilmette village board; Frank H. Just of Waukegan; Frank R. Thiery of Racine Wis.; Marvin Wallach of Highland Park, and James F. Stiles Jr. of North Chicago.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Isa Gillmore Smith.

Funeral services for Mrs. Isa Gillmore Smith, will be held at 2 p. m. today in the Christ Episcopal church, 65th street and Woodlawn avenue, which she helped found. Burial will be in Oak Woods cemetery. Mrs. Smith, who was 79 years old, died Monday in the home of a son, Robert G. Smith, 7647 Coles avenue. Mrs. Smith was the daughter of Col. Robert A. Gillmore, who was postmaster of Chicago from 1865 to 1867. Her grandfather was Judge Robert Stacy Wilson, whose picture was placed in the county building cornerstone. For more than fifty years she was well known as an artist, particularly on the south side. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Archie G. Rockwell, and two sons, Robert and J. S. Smith.

Miss Leila May Thomas.

Miss Leila May Thomas, 72 years old, a child welfare worker for many years, died yesterday in the Highland Park hospital. Miss Thomas, who lived in Evanston, for nearly twenty years had been a member of the staf of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society, working with dependent girls. She also had done similar work with the Indiana board of state charities. Funeral services will be held at 4 p. m. today in St. Luke's Pro-Cathedral, Evanston. Burial will be at Hancock, Md.

Alexander Robertson Carman.

Alexander Robertson Carman, 75 years old, died yesterday in his home at 1632 Sheridan road, Evanston. Mr. Carman founded the Stationery Manufacturing company in 1892 and was its president until three years ago. He was also active in the development of summer resort property at Northport Point, Mich. He leaves his widow, two sons, and a daughter. Funeral services will be held in St. Mark's church in Evanston at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Helen Ware.

Carmel, Cal., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Helen Ware, 61 years old, veteran actress, died today from a throat infection. She made her stage debut in 1899 with Maude Adams in "The Little Minister," and once co-starred with Lou Tellegen. She is survived by her husband, Frederic Burt, writer, actor and artist.

Patrick Hackett.

Patrick Hackett, 50 years old, a civil service employé in the city bureau of streets, died of heart disease Tuesday in his home at 2950 North California avenue. He was a veteran of the world war. Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow in St. Benedict's Catholic church.

Charles W. Frost.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Charles W. Frost, 90 years old, writer and inventor, died last night. He was a former proprietor of Godey's Lady's Book, the famous fashion magazine founded in this city by Louis A. Godey in 1830.

Harry B. Muir.

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Harry B. Muir, managing director of the Kingston Whig-Standard and co-publisher of the Whig-Standard and the Peterborough Examiner, died today. He was 48 years old.

2 CHICAGOANS WIN CARNEGIE HERO MEDALS

Cited for Risking Lives to Save Drowning.

Two Chicagoans were awarded hero medals by the Carnegie hero fund commission yesterday for risking their lives to save others from drowning.

Sally Siniawski.

Miss Sally Siniawski of 4034 South Campbell avenue is the winner of one medal. Miss Siniawski, who is 19 years old, was canoeing on Aug. 8, 1937, with two men at Powers Lake, Wis. The canoe capsized in ten feet of water.

One of the men, Aloysius Adamczyk, became panic stricken and seized the young woman. She broke his grip, clutched his hair, and held his head above water.

Tows Him to Pier.

Adamczyk, who then lived at 4553 South Fairfield avenue, lost consciousness. Supporting him, she swam close to a pier, where others lifted him from the water.

The other Chicago hero award winner is Bruce A. Young, 47 years old, a printing company superintendent living at 7350 Clyde avenue.

He saw two small boys break through thin ice on the Douglas park lagoon on March 5, 1938. They were Ezra Aranoff, 11 years old, and Sidney Richter, 8. Although they were 90 feet from shore in 10 feet of water, Young swam through an open channel to the rescue. Ezra was unconscious and Sidney was dazed, but Young held them both with one hand and swam to shallow water, according to the hero commission report made public in Pittsburgh.

A second rescuer swam out and pulled Young and the boys ashore. Young was so numb from his icy swim that he could not stand when he reached shore.

Wins Posthumous Medal.

Another hero, whose bravery cost him his life, was awarded a medal posthumously. It was given into the care of his wife, who was also granted a $20 monthly pension. The dead hero was William Lancaster of Newton, in Jasper county.

On May 20, 1938, he found Mrs. Meredith Watkins clutching a live wire. She was unable to free herself. He seized the wire, breaking the circuit and freeing her. His widow lives near Greenup, in Cumberland county.

JUDGE GRANTS $25 A WEEK ALIMONY TO MRS. WEYMER

Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday ordered Earl M. Weymer, head of an ornamental iron manufacturing company, to pay $25 a week to his estranged wife, Mrs. Ann Weymer, 27 years old. For several weeks the Weymers have engaged in a hot court contest.

SNORKY PROVES A PIG CAN SWIM WHEN IT'S A LIFE AND DEATH ISSUE

Now, Mr. Leibforth assured himself, this couldn't be. He recalled the old axiom that pigs are the only animals which can't swim.

Patrick Loftus, a stockyards employé, arrived at this moment. Yes, he said, it really was a pig. It was Snorky, a 170 pounder. Snorky had escaped from the yards at 39th and Morgan streets as he and 150 of his fellows were being led to the slaughterhouse.

Leibforth and Loftus hurried to a rowboat and set out after Snorky. For twenty minutes they circled about the squealing porker. Finally Leibforth lassoed him with a bull rope and, with Loftus' aid, pulled the pig into the boat. They took him ashore, and then Snorky started back on the last mile to the slaughterhouse.

"Talk about a greased pig," said Leibforth. "It's harder to catch a wet one."

ARMY ASSIGNS GEN. PROSSER TO FORT DOUGLAS

A war department order transferring Brig. Gen. Walter E. Prosser, commandant of the 6th Field artillery at Chicago, to Fort Douglas, Utah, was announced yesterday in Washington. Brig. Gen. Robert C. Foy, commandant of the 11th Field artillery at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, was ordered transferred to Chicago. Lieut. Col. Harding Polk, now at Fort Bliss, Tex., also will come to Chicago. The reassignments are effective in June.

Navy department orders yesterday included the reassignment of Lieutenant Commander Allen D. Brown of the U. S. S. Oklahoma to become instructor of the naval reserve at Chicago, and Lieuts. Benjamin R. Crosser and Frank L. Durnell, both now at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, to the U. S. S. Maryland.

EXTORTION NOTE WRITER TRAPPED BY U. S. AGENTS

Edward Lee Cody, 58 years old, a former landscape gardener, was arrested by federal agents yesterday when he picked up a decoy extortion package in Newberry park, near Walton place and Dearborn street.

The package had been left under a bench by an agent, posing as Morris Klein, a pawnbroker, at 749 North Clark street. Cody confessed that he sent Klein a letter demanding $200 upon threat of death.

Cody, who lives at 450 North Clark street, said he had been on relief for eight years. He said he would prefer a long prison term to going hungry. United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker held him to the grand jury for sending an extortion letter through the mail.

WILLIAM A. FOX, FORMER UTILITY EXECUTIVE, DIES

William A. Fox, an official and director in several Chicago corporations, died yesterday in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Florence Below, at 600 Greenleaf avenue in Glencoe. The Fox residence is at 665 Greenleaf avenue. Mr. Fox was 73 years old.

A native of Sandwich, Ill., Mr. Fox was identified for many years with the Chicago Edison company and its successor, the Commonwealth Edison company. He was secretary and treasurer from 1902 to 1914 and a vice president from 1914 to 1926. He was president of the Airmaster corporation, vice president of the Chicago and Illinois Midland Railway company, treasurer and a director of the Illinois Maintenance company, a director of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, and secretary-treasurer of the Commercial National Safe Deposit company. He also was secretary of the Chicago Fresh Air hospital.

Mr. Fox had been ill since last July, when he suffered a heart attack. His widow, Ella, their daughter, Mrs. Below, and two sons, Dr. Arthur L. Fox and W. Everett Fox, survive. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the North Shore Methodist Episcopal church in Glencoe.

EMILE SHNABLE, RETIRED BUILDER OF DAMS, IS DEAD

Funeral services for Emile Ralph Shnable, retired contractor, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 1118 Greenleaf avenue, Wilmette. Mr. Shnable, who was born in Chicago eighty-three years ago, died Tuesday night in his home at 1005 Michigan avenue, Wilmette.

Mr. Shnable was a charter member of the Cornell University Glee club and rowed on the crew before being graduated in 1881. He became an engineer for railroad construction in the east and later served as chief engineer for the old Chicago, Fort Madison, and Des Moines railroad. He was an engineer of the Chicago sanitary district from 1892 to 1898.

From 1898 until his retirement in 1934 he was a general construction contractor, building dams and locks. He was a member of the Western Society of Engineers, the Press Club of Chicago, the National River and Harbor Congress, and the Mississippi Valley Waterway association. Two sons, Barnes D. and Earl P. Shnable, survive. His wife died last October.

CHICAGO AIRPORT GETS RADIO BLIND LANDING SYSTEM

Will Guide Planes Down in Any Weather.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Engineers yesterday completed the installation of a radio blind landing beam at Chicago airport, 63d street and Cicero avenue. The field is one of four in the world equipped with this device—one of the newest and most important developments in aviation history.

Beginning today, test flights will be carried out at the field to adjust the signal strength and the pattern of the signals to the approaches of Chicago's field. When these have been completed airplanes properly equipped with radio receiving sets to pick up the beam signals will be able to land safely on Chicago airport regardless of weather conditions.

Explains How It Works.

J. R. Cunningham, chief of communications for United Air Lines, who headed a committee representing all the eight airlines flying off the Chicago field, explained the beam system yesterday. He said the air line engineers prefer to call it an "instrument landing system."

The beam is sent out by a special ultrahigh frequency transmitter housed in a little unit at the southeast end of the northwest, southeast runway. Its frequency is 93,900 kilocycles. The waves sent out by this transmitter are not affected by day or night, rain, snow, sleet, dust, or other weather conditions, Cunningham said. Nor are the signals affected by any static.

The transmitter's signals go out over two antennas. From one goes a pattern of signals in a horizontal plane that gradually curve away from the earth to form a perfect glide path for an airplane. The other antenna sends out signals in a vertical plane forming a narrow, precisely directed runway path.

Two Needles Guide Pilot.

Planes using the beam are equipped with receivers and an electrometer dial with two needles—one horizontal and one vertical. The pilot tunes to the beam frequency, then flies so that the needles cross at a 90 degree angle.

This brings the plane exactly down the glide path and also keeps it in the runway path. The beam is curved and flattens out close to the ground and literally guides a plane to earth. Tests elsewhere have shown that it is not difficult to fly the beam to a landing even when the pilot does not see the ground at any time during the approach.

Other cities where similar transmitters now are installed are Oakland and Burbank, Cal., and Cleveland, O. Newark, N. J., is to have one soon. The transmitter, built by the Bendix Radio corporation, has been given to Chicago for $1. The eight air lines using the field here paid for the installation.

Only a few receivers capable of using the instrument landing beam are now installed in transport planes. Transport pilots will practice on the various beams around the country for a year or more before they will be used in regular services where passengers are carried.

EXPOSE ATTEMPT TO HELP FRANCE BUY AIR POWER

Senate Inquiry Faced by Administration.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—The senate military affairs committee received information at a secret meeting today that may result in a sensational scandal and a congressional investigation of attempts by the Roosevelt administration to assist the French armament program.

Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps, admitted after a sharp exchange with Senator Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.] that Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. went over the heads of the army high command and permitted a French military agent to make a test flight in this country's most modern light bomber. The sale of an American military plane to a foreign country is prohibited by law until it has been used for a year or rejected by the army or navy.

Morgenthau Faces Quiz.

Senator Clark, it was learned, served notice on the military affairs committee that he would demand the appearance of Morgenthau. Senator Clark and other isolationists, notably Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], want to ask the treasury secretary what authority he had for making available to an agent of a foreign country, over the protests of the army high command, this country's latest military secrets.

The questioning of Gen. Arnold resulted from the crash on Monday of a new Douglas light bomber at Los Angeles. Pilot John Cable was killed and Paul Chemidlin, a representative of the French air ministry, was injured.

It was announced that the injured man's name was Paul Smithin, but as he was known at the aviation field by his right name, he was so registered in the hospital.

Air Corps Not Consulted.

Questioning of Gen. Arnold, it was learned, revealed the air corps had not approved the permission given to Capt. Chemidlin to view the new Douglas experimental bomber and that such permission had been obtained from Morgenthau.

"I certainly intend to find out what is back of this," said Senator Clark tonight. "By what right can the American government simply hand over to France or any other country military secrets which have been obtained as the result of long research and technical experimentation paid for by the American taxpayers?"

The crash of the new bombing plane with a French military agent aboard has resulted in disclosures that the Roosevelt administration is determined to assist the French armament program in every way possible.

It is understood that American aircraft manufacturers have been ordered to give preference to France in military airplane production. Members of the senate military affairs committee want to know, and intend to find out, why France should be given preference in the purchase of American military planes if the national defense is in such a desperate need of airplanes as President Roosevelt's messages to congress and the new armament program indicate.

The senators have been informed that the administration wants France to receive preference in American airplane construction because Great Britain is better equipped to construct planes. The French government owned airplane factories are bogged down by politics.

The crash of the new bombing plane led to the disclosure today by Lieut. Col. Rene G. P. Weiser, air attaché at the French embassy, that a French air mission is negotiating for the largest order of fighting planes ever placed in this country by a foreign power.

$36,000,000 Order.

Weiser said the mission came here to purchase 600 planes of a type said by air corps experts to cost $60,000 each. This would mean a 36 million dollar purchase. It is in addition to a previous French order of 100 pursuit planes from the Curtiss-Wright corporation, which are in production. The British government has placed orders for 400 fighting planes in this country, and the first of them have started across the Atlantic.

ELEVATOR BANDIT ROBS HOTEL.

An elevator bandit took $39.70 last night from Clerk Patrick Maloney Jr. at the North Dearborn hotel, 1117 North Dearborn street. The robber then forced Maloney to take an elevator ride.

NAVAL OFFICER DIES WHEN HIS PLANE CAPSIZES

Newport, R. I., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Commander Francis Marlin Maile Jr., recently naval attaché at the United States embassy in Berlin, died of a heart attack today after a seaplane accident at the naval station here.

Maile took a ship up this morning to get in some flying time. He landed safely on his return, but a gust of wind capsized the plane as he was taxiing to a landing ramp. At first it was thought he drowned, but an autopsy revealed the heart condition.

Maile was 47 years old and was a native of Vincennes, Ind. His sole surviving relative is a sister, Mrs. W. A. Harmer of Wilmette, Ill.

CATCHING COLD? DO THIS For Fast Relief from Painful Discomfort

1. Take 2 Bayer Aspirin Tablets and drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

2. If throat is sore from cold, dissolve 3 Bayer Aspirin Tablets in 1/3 glass of water and gargle.

3. If temperature does not go down—if throat pain is not quickly relieved—Call your family doctor.

HERE is a bit of sensible advice on what to do to relieve the symptoms of a cold the moment you feel a cold coming on.

Just follow the pictured directions above: Take two Bayer Aspirin tablets with a full glass of water—instantly. Next—dissolve three Bayer Aspirin tablets in one-third of a glass of water and gargle with this mixture twice. Do this at once to relieve the pain, rawness and symptoms of sore throat accompanying colds almost immediately. THEN—because any cold can lead to serious consequences . . . SEE YOUR DOCTOR. He will tell you what treatment to follow.

In all probability, he will tell you to continue with the Bayer Aspirin because it acts to relieve the painful discomforts of a cold with remarkable speed. And because it acts to reduce fever.

This simple treatment has largely supplanted the use of strong medicines in the treatment of cold symptoms. And thousands will tell you it is the simplest and most effective method yet discovered.

When you buy, always ask for "BAYER ASPIRIN" by its full name — never ask for "aspirin" alone. Take this precaution to be sure you get the genuine Bayer.

PAINS—Fast-acting Bayer Tablets are used by millions on doctors' advice for fast relief of Headache — pain from Rheumatism, Neuritis, Neuralgia.

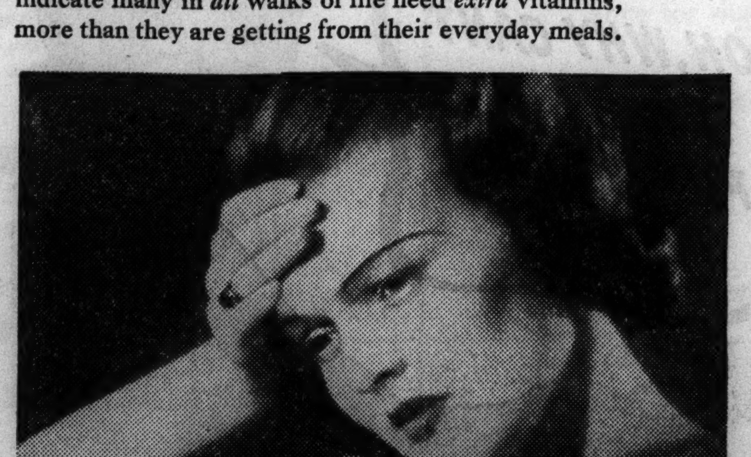
Try this EFFECTIVE way to get your Extra Vitamins

Now—new High-Vitamin Yeast gives a richer combination of 4 essential vitamins, plus the "Booster Action" of fresh yeast

Rich man, poor man, white-collar worker—studies indicate many in all walks of life need extra vitamins, more than they are getting from their everyday meals.



Even if you think your vitamin supply is good—slow digestion may keep you, like so many others, from taking up all the vitamins you should.

GREAT NUMBERS of people live on diets which do not supply enough vitamins for glowing health, many studies indicate.

You—like so many others—may have slow digestion with poor secretion of digestive juices. If this is not stimulated you may fail to get full use of the vitamins you eat.

Eat your extra vitamins this effective way—in Fleischmann's new High-Vitamin Yeast. The remarkable "booster action" of fresh yeast, by stimulating slow digestion, can help you take up the vitamins you eat more fully—give more complete results than vitamins alone.

Eat 2 cakes a day to get all the average person needs of extra Vitamins A, B, D, and a rich supply of the Vitality Vitamin G.

THREE QUESTIONS MANY PEOPLE ASK:

1 "How can I tell whether I need extra vitamins?"

If you catch severe colds that "hang on," you very likely need more Vitamin A.

If you feel nervous, irritable and have poor digestion, B is often needed.

Plenty of Vitamin D is essential for the proper use of the calcium and phosphorus in your diet, which are necessary for strong bones and hard teeth.

Tiring easily, too early aging may be due to a shortage of Vitamin G.

2 "Do people ever eat extra vitamins and not feel improvement?"

Yes. Slow digestion may cut down your assimilation of vitamins so you don't get the full good you should from them.

3 "Can poor vitamin assimilation be helped?"

Slow digestion can often be stimulated by eating Fleischmann's new High-Vitamin Yeast. This better digestion helps the body make fuller use of the vitamins. It "boosts" their assimilation.

2 cakes of Fleischmann's new HIGH-VITAMIN Yeast eaten daily will give you . . :

Vitamin B1—300 Units (Int.) Vitamin G—100-120 Units (Sh. Bour.)

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"A woman may be a vision of loveliness in evening clothes," says Actress Bess Johnson, "until her back is turned. Then a hollow back, poor posture, or a blemished skin can mar the total effect."

Since this winter's formal gowns reveal so much of the shoulders and back, it is every woman's duty to herself to do all she can to make this part of her body as attractive as possible.

"So many women rely on the artificial means of covering up any defects with whitening lotion or powder," continues Miss Johnson. "But this is only a temporary blanket and, during the course of an evening, will wear off."

One of the surest ways to rid the back of any large pores or small blemishes is to bathe it at least once a day and indulge in showers a few times a week. Bess Johnson rightly insists that a needle shower and a brisk rubdown with a rough Turkish towel will do more for cleansing the pores of the skin than any number of applications of creams.

It is true that a back marred by skin blemishes is unappealing to the eye. But even more unattractive is the woman who carries herself poorly and makes a slovenly appearance.

"A few simple exercises will rectify any minor troubles in achieving good posture," Miss Johnson confides. "If you are tall, don't try to look short. That is one of the worst mistakes you can make. It will only bring attention to your crouching figure. At all times keep your head up and shoulders back. You will draw a great deal more favorable comment on a queenly carriage than by attempting to appear smaller than you actually are."

One of the best ways to straighten a curved back and poor shoulders is outlined in an exercise which the star uses herself. Try it. Attire yourself in loose garments—something light in weight—stand with legs together, and arms at the side. Then raise both arms and swing them to the right, then to the left. Stretch them directly in front of you, and then raise them high above your head. Finish by dropping them at your sides. Continue this cycle ten times. After a five minute rest, start with both arms at sides.

"You may find it a bit strenuous at first," counsels Miss Johnson, "but this exercise wil develop back and shoulders which any woman would be proud to display in evening clothes."

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

The most difficult bidding question in the examination, in my opinion, was No. 50:

Both sides vulnerable, the bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 hearts	Double	?

You are South and hold:

♠ K 10 8 5 2 ♥ None ♦ K Q 6 3 ♣ K Q J 5

What call do you make?

The official answer was: "South should bid five hearts. Admittedly this is a 'master bid,' but a strictly logical one."

I did not expect a great many correct answers to this question, hence was surprised when at first glance it appeared that a substantial number of examinees had selected five hearts. On closer perusal, however, I learned the surprising fact that almost all of these answers were based on the assumption that North's four heart bid was an asking bid and that a five heart response would be the conventional, first round control-showing answer. I am pleased to find that asking bids still are being extensively used, but actually they had no place in this examination. I took it for granted that readers would realize that if I wanted to pose any question based on an asking bid I would certainly state the fact. So as not to confuse the issue I used no asking bids nor any response based on the same in the entire examination. Thus, in question 50, North's four heart bid was not a conventional asking bid and South's prescribed five heart free response could not be an answer to an asking bid. It was a rare, but logical, use of a cue bid in a partner's suit. In the official answer I pointed out that if South really "liked" four hearts he would redouble. Hence, here was the opportunity to show a sort of negative liking for hearts which could only be considered as the ability to control the suit. North's hand might easily be such that, with this information from South, he could go to a grand slam, whereas any other bid on South's part, such as the five and six spade bids mentioned in answers sent me, would leave North in the dark about first round control. I regret to report that only about 15 per cent of the answers that reached me earned the 20 point credit assigned to a five heart bid.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 club	1 heart
3 clubs	Pass	5 clubs	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

I am merely reporting this bidding; I can hardly say that I approve it. North's three club bid, even after his original pass, was too strong and South [after that three club bid] should have gone into no trump rather than reach for an eleven trick contract with his 4-3-3-3 distribution. Three no trump could have been made against any opening lead except that of the heart ace, virtually a double-dummy lead. West's penalty double was not too good.

West opened the ace of hearts and, after viewing the dummy, shifted to a small spade. Declarer took the finesse, which held, and then despite West's bid and double took the trump finesse. After West won with the trump king he could lead any card in his hand outside the diamond suit and simply wait for the setting trick with his diamond queen.

Declarer should have given West his due and placed every outstanding key card in West's hand. On winning the second trick with the spade queen the spade ace should have been cashed. A low trump then should have been led. But after East followed suit declarer should have put up the ace, ignoring the finesse. The line of play from that point would be comparatively simple. The king of hearts should be cashed and South's third heart ruffed in dummy. A small diamond should be played to the ace and the third spade ruffed away. A trump lead would put West in and he would have the unenviable choice of leading a heart, giving declarer a ruff and a discard or a diamond up to declarer's K-J tenace.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

There are few cleansing creams on the market that can even touch a certain pink one for efficiency, for softening powers, and for all-around value. This is our well considered opinion after using two whole jars of it; we were distinctly sorry to get down to the last fingerful in the last jar.

The funny thing is that we had a prejudice of sorts against this cream when it first came to the beauty market. We didn't like some of the statements made about it, being a great believer in "straight talk" and a violent protestor against some of the pseudo-scientific talking points that occasionally creep into copy about cosmetics.

What the manufacturers might have said about this cream—and it would have been the truth and nothing but the truth—is that it is one of the best creams and one of the best values for Mrs. Consumer's money to be found anywhere. It's inexpensive AND it's good.

This cleanser isn't liquefying. It's a rich, somewhat spongy type of cream that is a lubricant as well as a grime chaser and, therefore, what almost every woman is looking for. It seems to us to have another virtue. Our experience with it is that it "removes well," the best description we can give you of its trick of not leaving the skin oily. Oil won't ooze back after removal to mar your makeup.

Parent Urged to Take Broad View of 'Lying'

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

You can say to yourself, "Anything my child says that isn't true is a lie. It's morally wrong and I won't have it."

Or can you look at a statement by your child that isn't true in a more liberal and more truly understanding way. Everything that isn't a fact isn't a lie. Your child may be lying when he makes a statement that isn't literally so, but on the other hand, he may not be lying at all. Your response will depend on what the nature of his misstatement may be. And we must consider his age, what may be a lie at 10 may only be a flight of imagination at 3.

First look for causes. One of the most common and most understandable reasons for lying is fear of punishment.

Then there is that less tangible but equally disturbing "story," the story that is half phantasy and half reality. But to the imaginative child the phantasy part may be as real as the real part is to us. This, of course, though mothers call it "telling lies," is really only "telling stories."

Another type of so-called lying is really a type of loyalty: A boy has to choose between telling a lie or being disloyal to his friend or "gang." And he feels that the lesser evil is lying. This is often a disturbing decision to him, but it is something we must respect and which we can talk over with him.

Another [and allied] trait is a childs' exaggerated and usually highly exciting account of some happening. This is usually an attention getter and yields to mild measures, one of which may be a quiet chat afterwards in which you get a version of "how it really happened."

The most necessary thing in dealing with untruthfulness or "romancing" in all its various phases is to be close to your child so you can deeply understand him and what motivates him. This cannot be done by being with your child occasionally or by doing as one mother does: "I plan to spend half an hour with my little girl each day."

Further advice on this subject is contained in our leaflet, "Untruthfulness—Its Causes and Cure." A self-addressed, stamped envelope is required. Address Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Utterly practical and versatile is this tailored dress with shirtwaist lines. Schoolgirls, co-eds, mothers, and business women prefer this style because it may be worn all through a busy day, keeping its freshness and appropriateness under the most trying of conditions. It's a grand model for traveling, too.

In silks, woolens, and cottons it goes simply everywhere, flattering all types of figures. The neckline may be V, with a notched lapel collar, or high and round with a shirtwaist collar that may match or contrast. The sleeves, squared at the shoulders, may be long or short. Around the slender waist may be a self-fabric or lether belt. Buttons are used down the front of the bodice.

The skirt has just the right amount of plaits to assure fullness for grace and comfort in walking.

Style No. 2676 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅜ yard of 39 inch contrasting for the collar and cuffs. These requirements are for the model with short sleeves.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Station, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing ten cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be certain to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

The sprightly spring edition of the Chicago Tribune Book of Clotilde Fashions is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 15 cents the copy, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Swedish Group Opens Splendid Annual Exhibit

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The annual exhibition of paintings and sculpture by members of the Swedish-American Art association has opened in the clubwoman's bureau, Mandel Brothers, to continue to Feb. 11.

The exhibition is nearly national in extent this year as fourteen states are represented. The show is definitly pleasing in character and well hung.

One of the most interesting and amusing of the paintings is the portrait of Charles S. Peterson, who has done so much for the furtherance of art in Chicago. The painting is by Mary C. Peterson. The portrait is an informal study, an attractive glimpse of Mr. Peterson just as he is about to tell another of his famous jokes. He is smiling, slouched in his chair; his eyes twinkle behind his glasses. The artist has lost not one jot of personality in transcribing her impression to canvas.

The finest water color in the exhibit is "The Return" by Carl T. Linden, a winter landscape of fields under snow, hills and trees. A sledge with horses focuses the action. The scene is excellently painted.

Several of the artists have turned to New Mexico for subject material. Among them is Mae Larsen, whose "The Mexican Candlestick" is an attractive still life. "Fall, Indiana Dunes," by G. Ahlman, is pleasing.

Minnie A. Carlson shows two delightfully decorative flower compositions, "Japonica" and "Gaiety." Her work is invariably clever, bright and picturesque. Gustaf Dalstrom offers in a minor key "Landscape."

There is very little sculpture in the show, but the two exquisite busts by Agnes V. Fromen must not be ignored. "Saint Francis" and "Marguarete" are beatuifully modeled; Miss Fromen stands as one of Chicago's foremost sculptors.

WAS COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Miss B. Green, Box 361, Davis, Okla., writes: "For three years my face was covered with large pimples caused by an external condition. I decided to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using them for three weeks I was greatly relieved; and now my skin is as smooth as a baby's." For FREE sample, write to Cuticura, Dept. 85, Malden, Mass.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Behind the Scenes.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 25.—Perhaps the most astonishing thing about the unusually fine performance of Norma Shearer in "Idiot's Delight" is that she is purely a screen product, without any stage background to account for her expertness. That a player without legit stage experience could take a part that Lynn Fontanne had created and exceed even the great Fontanne is something at which to marvel exceedingly.

This is by far the finest thing Norma ever has accomplished on the screen, or at least that is this reviewer's opinion. Coming on the heels of her comeback in "Marie Antoinette," it indicates that she won't yield her place to challengers without a knock down and drag out argument.

It has been suggested that it doesn't make much difference whether Norma clicks on the screen or not because of the fortune that Irving Thalberg left her. So much nonsense and so many myths have been created by the Thalberg will that perhaps we might clean it up here and now.

Thalberg left an estate of $4,469,000. Taxes and probate costs reduced that to $2,500,000. What did Norma Shearer get out of it? She got and gets the interest on one-third of the principal, which amounts to about $15,000 a year, or $300 a week. She didn't get a cent of the principal under the will, which stipulates that two-thirds of the estate goes to the children, Irving Jr. and Katharine, when they are 35. She hasn't even control of the estate, as she is one of three executors, and, therefore, can be outvoted.

It was reported recently, in the trial of the minority stockholders against Loew's, Inc., which controls M-G-M, a suit that was dismissed, that Norma had interrupted work on a picture until the studio paid her a bonus of $900,000.

As a matter of fact, she had as much to do with the suit for $900,000 as your Uncle Joe. The trustees of the Thalberg estate, Bank of America, and Edwin J. Loeb, claimed that Thalberg, even after death, had a continuing interest in the company which his genius helped to build. M-G-M, rather than fight the threatened suit, settled for $900,000, which was a very reasonable figure. That was added to the estate and she gets the interest on one-third of that.

Perhaps this will settle all the arguments that have developed over Norma Shearer's wealth or lack of it. It seems fairly obvious that if she doesn't continue working she'd have about $400 a week to live on from the estate, and while that ordinarily is a lot of money, it isn't a lot of money to a person who has lived the life of a movie star.

One thing you can believe—and that is: When she no longer is box office M-G-M will give her the old heave-ho. They may do it a bit more politely because she is Irving Thalberg's widow, but it will be the old heave-ho nevertheless. So long as she turns in a performance as good as the difficult rôle she plays in "Idiot's Delight" I doubt that Leo the Lion will bark her dismissal.

Chatted with Vivien Leigh yesterday. The youngster, between interviews, photographs, a new hair-do, and the necessity of learning a southern accent, is a bit run down at the edges. She hopes for the best with Scarlett O'Hara, and is relying on the technique gained on the London stage to carry her through it.

As between Shakespeare's Ophelia and Scarlett O'Hara, she thinks that Scarlett will be tougher, if for nothing more than physical reasons. I asked her who was her favorite American actress. I think the answer is Bette Davis, from something she said, but she sidestepped the question so cleverly that she escaped a direct quote.

I asked her to let me go through some of the mail that had come in, since her nomination for the rôle, hoping that the letters would prove that American movie fans had greeted her generously, with cheering messages of encouragement.

There were only a few disinterested letters and cards in the lot. Most of them started off with honeyed words that dissolved into a request for a photograph or an autograph. One lady for some reason sent a two-page description of Atlanta, Ga.

Cary Grant ran away with performance honors in RKO's "Gunga Din" previewed here. This has been quite a week in Hollywood, with "Idiot's Delight" and "Gunga Din" both previewing within a space of twenty-four hours. The RKO special, one of their highest priced pictures of the year and directed by George Stevens, figures to make a lot of money. It is crowded with action and excellently produced and cast.

Cary Grant, Victor McLaglen and Douglas Fairbanks Jr. are three English sergeants around whom the story pivots. The preview crowd enjoyed it a lot, particularly the scene in which Sam Jaffee as Gunga Din saves the British troops marching into an ambush. It is that kind of a picture.

Movie Closeup

For the sixth consecutive year the Chicago Theater has been selected by the American Can company's convention for its annual entertainment, which will be held tonight. Therefore the house will be closed to the public at 5:15 o'clock when the last regular public show will start. The usual schedule will be resumed tomorrow when "Jesse James" opens at the theater.

Two Embroidery Stitches Create Mexican Motifs

Dorothy Dewes Is Engaged to R. K. Juergens

BY JUDITH CASS.

At a small family dinner at home in Lincoln Park West last night Mrs. Edwin Peter Dewes announced the engagement of her daughter, Dorothy Wooldridge, to Richard K. Juergens, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Paul Juergens of Bellevue place.

Miss Dewes is the middle one of the three daughters of Mrs. Dewes and the late Mr. Dewes. She and Mr. Juergens have been friends for many years. His sister, Mrs. John R. Hurley, and Miss Dewes were debutantes of the same season, 1931, which was the year that Mr. Juergens was graduated from Princeton university.

In addition to her debut here, Miss Dewes was presented also in Baltimore, her mother's girlhood home, at the first Bachelors' Cotillion that winter. She attended the Girls' Latin school, and was graduated from Dobbs Ferry and is an active member of the Chicago Junior league. She is active also on the board of the Emerson Settlement house, so she and Mr. Juergens undoubtedly will attend the Emerson house benefit dinner-dance on Saturday night at the Harvey restaurant, 308 South Michigan avenue.

Mr. Juergens prepared at the Hill school for Princeton. He is engaged in business in Chicago.

Mrs. George S. Oram, who is Miss Dewes' older sister, and Mr. Oram did not come from their home in Morristown, N. J., for the engagement party, but they will be here for the wedding in the spring. Miss Elizabeth Dewes is Mrs. Dewes' youngest daughter.

Cushman-Sauer Nuptials Feb. 4.

Mrs. William A. Sauer and her daughter, Miss Rosemary Sauer, are leaving today for New York, where Miss Sauer will be married to Trevor A. Cushman Jr. on Feb. 4. The ceremony will be performed at 8:30 o'clock at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel with Capt. Edward A. Duff, chief of naval chaplains, officiating. Only members of the family and a few intimate friends will witness the ceremony and attend the reception.

William E. Sauer, who is leaving for New York next week, will give his sister in marriage. Several of Miss Sauer's friends are going east for the wedding, among them Miss Jule Cavanagh, who will be maid of honor; Miss Mary Jane Brummel, and Miss Jean Kellogg, who will be bridesmaids. Miss Josephine Cullen, who is attending Manhattanville college, and Miss Barbara Bentley, who is studying at Sarah Lawrence college, also will be bridesmaids.

Garland Patteson of New York, who was a classmate of Mr. Cushman at Yale, will be best man. Three other classmates will usher: James Whitney, Robert Wilder, and Robert Dickerhoff.

Mr. Cushman and his bride will spend several days in New York before going to Binghamton, N. Y., where he is engaged in business. Mr. Cushman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Trevor A. Cushman, who are going to New York from their home in Melrose, Mass., to attend the wedding.

Kieckhefers Home from New York.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kieckhefer of Lake Forest and Miss Dorothy Ott of Milwaukee have returned from a week in New York. Miss Ott and the Kieckhefers' son, Robert, plan to be married next summer at Pine Lake, Wis., where Miss Ott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irving W. Ott of Milwaukee, have a summer home. The engagement was announced last fall when the Kieckhefers and Miss Ott were at El Rancho Robles at Oracle, Ariz., where young Mr. Kieckhefer is living.

Mrs. Kieckhefer and Miss Ott will go west for another visit in about two weeks.

Chauncey McCormick Re-elected Head of Illinois Children's Aid

Chauncey McCormick was reëlected president of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society yesterday at the 55th annual meeting in the Palmer House. Stanley L. Yonce was elected treasurer.

Mrs. Edward H. Brewer was elected president of the Chicago woman's board of the society, succeeding Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, who has served on the board since 1921. Mrs. James F. Oats was made vice president.

A deficit of $11,000 for the year was offset by receipts of $11,200 from a benefit performance of the Ballet Russe last month.

A total of 2,273 children were under care of the society during the year with the number of days' care totaling 667,032. On Dec. 31 last 1,828 children were being cared for, including 931 in boarding homes and 354 in free foster homes.

Lacings Assure a New Flatness in Underlayers

BY RHEA SEEGER.

No matter how many times you gloat over new satin underlayers, those remarkable controls for bulges, hiplines and waistlines still offer new thrills. See the newest arrival, a satin sheath that will achieve a new smoothness for any streamline.

This is made entirely of satin and satin-lastex. Down the extremely low back panel is the up and down stretchable lastex. At the sides the two-way stretch stuff goes crosswise. Down the center of the front is the newest invention of the corset wizards, a flat lacing panel about six inches deep. This, properly laced, will make your diaphragm and tummy as flat as a plate. This is achieved without any discomfort or visibility. The lacing is flat and the eyelets are flat and concealed.

At the side, making for even more suave smoothness, is a half and half closing device, a zipper where it will do the most good, over the hipline, and hooks and eyes from the waist to the top. The garment has tricky hosiery anchors, too, the kind that grip the stockings flatly and stay that way. The brassiere top is form fitting magic; made of lace and soft felt net shaped with three rows of the satin, then divided with a panel of lastex.

Decorative stitching outlines and holds the satin fabric firmly in place. The entire affair is handsomely put together whether you choose the girdle corset model or the svelte all-in-one.

These come in two luscious colors, a nude tint and a lovely ivory shade. These garments give you a brilliant streamline emphasizing youthful contours and a sleek slenderness for any costume. There is a tricky extra strap to swing the shoulder straps into any formation ready to wear under the most unusual necklined gown.

Streamlined Nursery Rime.

Miss Elaine Tobin, 4 year old daughter of the Chicago Black hawks' president, Bill Tobin, was looking through a picture book, pointing out all the familiar characters to her mother. When she came to "Mary and her little lamb" she said: "And there's the little lamb . . . and there's Mary Hadda." (Reported by D. C. English.)

An Eagle at Tea.

A highlight of the week was arriving for tea at a friend's house and finding, sitting on the back of a tall, carved chair a great amber-eyed African eagle with a six foot wing spread. She politely submitted to the stroking of her crested head and an examination of her lovely pinkish breast plumage. Then her black lether hood was put over her staring yellow eyes and she relaxed, proud head dropping to her breast. She was Capt. C. W. R. Knight's pet, here for a few days while Capt. Knight is lecturing in Chicago.

* * *

The eagle, a Coronatus species from South Africa, travels in a second hand trunk bought for ten shillings in Dublin, appears briefly at the close of Capt. Knight's lecture, and is his constant companion. Mr. Grimshaw, the eagle belonging to Capt. Knight that many Chicagoans remember, is in England, "handsomer than ever." On a recent trip to Africa Capt. Knight saw a rare variety of eagle, learned where its eyrie was, and asked that he be notified when it nested. He returned to England and some time later received a cable. "Egg laid," was the laconic message. Capt. Knight flew some 7,000 miles to Capetown and was successful in procuring a young bird. This bird, too, is in England. Once Capt. Knight and a party of guests, wearing Elizabethan dress, held a hunt with falcons on the Salisbury plain near his home. A movie camera recorded the activities.

Crusoe's Island.

A copy of Crusoe's Island in the Caribbean, by Heath Bowman and Jefferson Bowman of Evanston, with its sea blue, palm fronded cover, arrived with Tuesday afternoon's blizzard. Settling down to read it while the snow whirled against the windows was like going off for a vacation in the tropics—a little like, anyhow.

* * *

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Merritt of Bridgeport, Conn., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Althea Jane, to John Ostrom Carlton of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus H. Carlton of Schenectady, N. Y.

Miss Merritt was graduated from St. Margaret's school in Waterbury, Conn., and Sarah Lawrence college. She is a member of the Junior league. Mr. Carlton is a graduate of Dartmouth college.

A Stranger in the Dark

By Frank R. Adams

(Copyright: 1939: By Frank R. Adams.)

SYNOPSIS.

The hero, pursued by a detective, is stopped in a Chicago railway depot by a young man, apparently dying, who gives him his wallet and baggage check to get him his medicine. He gets the sick man's bag, then, seeing the man being carried away on a stretcher, he uses the man's ticket, is on his way to Clovis, N. M., as John Bowman—an innocent fugitive, having taken the blame for missing bank funds to save his father. Before reaching Clovis he confesses his identity to Sheriff Tom Johnson, who boards the train to welcome John Bowman, whose father, Pete Bowman, is dying and longs to see the son separated by divorce from him since babyhood. The sheriff persuades him to take on the rôle. John's sister, Mary, and her fiancé, Charles Ferdinand, manager of her father's ranch, meet him in Amarillo and fly him to the ranch in Charles' plane. Mrs. Lodge, wife of Pete's physician and guest, is with them. Our hero falls instantly in love with Mary and dislikes Charles, a handsome show-off, who is the pet of Pete's sister, Matilda, who had loved Charles' father. The hero meets paralyzed old Pete Bowman, kept a virtual prisoner by Matilda. Pete asks him to stay and help Mary, and gives him his guns. Charles is carrying on an affair with Mrs. Lodge and even Dr. Lodge knows about it.

INSTALMENT XVI.
DANGER AHEAD.

I was aghast. "But can't something be done about a thing like that?"

Dr. Lodge shook his head. "It would take a court order removing Pete from his sister's charge and she and Ferdinand would fight it until long after Pete had died. Besides I doubt if anything could be proved. The nurses who might testify were discharged as incompetents. I've fought it over from every angle and it makes me sick because I love the old man as much as you do. But I doubt if you could do anything yourself. Suppose you started legal trouble,—right away they would contend that you were trying to get control of him so that he would make a will in your favor. And they could bring up a dozen witnesses to testify that you are the black sheep of the family and have never been home since you were a boy."

"I don't give a damn," I said, "I've got to do something."

"It's too late, John," said Dr. Lodge sadly. "He'll be gone any minute. The excitement of a row will only make it sooner. Let him have what little peace there is left."

I didn't approve of Dr. Lodge's advice or tactics. His course seemed to me to be that of a weak man. Still I couldn't afford to offend him. He was the only ally I had.

So I finished my highball and said I was going to bed.

He knew I was antagonistic. "Think of a better way and I'll help if I can. Life is constantly setting us problems that we can't answer. All we can do is wait. . . . That's what I'm doing with mine."

I knew what he was thinking of. "Now that you're getting well you can solve your problem."

"You mean win my wife back?" He shook his head. "No. You can win a woman but I don't think you can ever win her back,—not if you've really lost her. Marriage is a peculiar and dangerous adventure about which you know very little. Neither do I for that matter and I've had two wives."

He paused a moment reflectively. "Selma was my office nurse and in that capacity a very efficient person. I don't suppose she was ever bad-looking but she certainly was not beautiful then. Later when she had time to do something about it she blossomed out. I married her, I suppose, chiefly because she seemed so entirely wrapped up in the things that I was doing. Then, after our wedding, I found that she was no longer my partner. Instead she was in business for herself. Things that had mattered intensely no longer seemed to have any importance. This is not a unique experience with me. I think it happens to most men who marry their professional assistants.

"This accident of mine happened long after I had already been run over by an invisible moving van. The physical trouble merely made me bitter about it. I had too much time to think. I don't blame Selma for being as she is—I made her that way myself. My resentment is at life for giving me a problem which I can't solve. I still love her or it would be easy but I know that my hands are tied. Because of the very fact that I am her husband I can't point out the danger ahead. All I can do is stand by to pick up the pieces—if there are any pieces.

"There, I've burdened you too much with my problems—you've got a couple of pretty sizeable ones yourself. But I don't think you can do anything about yours, either—except wait." He closed his eyes tight as if they burned. "Run along now and I'll try to get a little sleep and forget myself." He picked up a bottle of tablets from a nearby table. "Fortunately no one supervises my prescriptions for myself or stops me if I take a double dose."

I must have shown a questioning protest in my eyes.

Dr. Lodge laughed and said, "No, I'm not about to end it all although that might simplify matters—only for myself, however. I'm merely going to take more of this stuff than I would give to a patient because I know from experience that an ordinary amount won't do the trick."

When I entered my room at the main house I found the door to Mary's quarters standing open and a light burning in there.

"Is that you, John?" she called.

"Yes, Mary." Thank heaven my name really is John.

"I hoped you would return before I went to sleep. Will you please come in?"

Mary was sitting up in her trim little three-quarter bed.

"Sit down," she said, patting the edge of the bed beside her.

I did and with no awkwardness whatever. I wondered at that at first and then realized that in a way it was because I was thinking of her, at least for that moment, as if she really were a sister.

Certainly my emotions were all tenderly protective.

She took my hand and held it casually. "When I was a medium-sized girl—that was a good many years ago—father used to come in and talk to me for a few minutes like this before he went to bed. It made me very happy and content. You do that, too. Things used to get a little snarled up during the day but he always made it all right at night."

"You ought to be asleep. Tomorrow is— "

"'Tomorrow is tomorrow' is what father said. Besides what's a wedding? We modern girls take a little thing like that in our stride."

I laughed at her but my heart ached. She was talking cynically but she was a scared rabbit. Poor kid, life had gotten into a snarl this time that it was going to take more than a few comforting words from me—or even from her father if he could say them—to straighten out.

"That's the second time tonight you've referred to yourself as a 'modern girl.' If I've ever seen anybody who ought to be wearing hoop skirts and pantalettes you are undoubtedly that very female."

She looked at me with a grin. "You'd be surprised, mister, at how wrong you are. I can ride a horse as well as any man—as well as you can even—I can probably shoot rings around you and—and— "

"You chew tobacco and spit, huh? Well, I guess you're tougher than I thought."

"I ought to be. Father was so damn mad at mother for choosing you out of the litter that he tried to make a boy out of me to take your place. He gave up, though, when I began to bulge in the wrong places."

I looked her over with mocking appraisal and, Lord, how dear and sweet and feminine she was—and how brave withal. "I can see that it might be hard for you to fool anybody. However, I take back the crinoline and other props that your grandmother probably wore when she was loading guns for her husband to scalp Indians with."

"You don't scalp Indians with a gun."

"My mistake. I never scalped any. How do you do it?"

"With manicure scissors, darling."

Yesterday I hadn't known of this girl's existence and today I was sitting on the edge of her bed with her hand in my hand and her heart in my heart, although she didn't know about that.

"Tomorrow, if we have time, we'll look for a Navajo who doesn't mind a permanent hair cut." She leaned forward suddenly and folded me in her arms. "For tonight I am very content to know that you are sleeping in the next room. Kiss me, John dear, and be off with you."

She held me quite close and, after a few seconds, I put my arms around her lovely body, too, for the first and last time, I thought, that I should ever hold her that way.

She reached over with one hand and turned out the light. "That's so you won't see that I'm crying when I kiss you good night, John dear."

There were tears on her cheeks.

Loving Married Man Can Earn Only Sorrow

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I am a married woman of 34, and am in love with a married man of 40, and have been in love with him for five years. I have been separated from my husband for seven years. I have three children, the youngest now 10.

"This is my problem. The man I love is extremely bossy at times and makes my life miserable. He leaves me for weeks at a time, never telephoning, calling, or coming to see me. Then he will come back, telling me that I am the only one and that he cannot live without me. I am a highly strung person and this life is getting me down. I am simply no good without the man and less good with him, it seems. What shall I do? I am thinking seriously of leaving this town and making my home elsewhere so that I can forget him. I will take your advice, truly. JANET."

Are you by any chance living off alimony or a separation agreement from your husband? Or have you means of your own for self-support? If the former, we think it pretty snide of you to be using a husband's money for playing around with a successor to whom you obviously have no right, either. Plainly, he is trying to break away from you, perhaps to get back to his own wife's side to rejoin a possible family.

You can chase happiness over the sort of ground you're traveling, Janet, but you never catch up with it by hurting any one.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

ACTING: Acting.

DIRECTION: Strained.

DIALOG: French. Interpreted by stilted English titles.

STORY: A man who has once sinned with a friend's wife, causing the friend to commit suicide, later pays and pays and pays for his crime through his jealousy of a fair young girl he finally marries and whom he suspects of an affair with a violinist. . . .

SETS, SOUND, SCENERY: Interesting.

PHOTOGRAPHY: Sometimes excellent. Sometimes not.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: I guess Sonotone audiences like it. The film's being held over another week.

See you tomorrow.

The American Indian left us a priceless heritage in maize, or corn.

We should scarcely know how to eat if corn and corn products were to be left entirely out of the diet.

Think of how we depend upon canned corn alone for soups, vegetable dishes, and salads. That's saying nothing of the uses we make of corn meal, corn breakfast foods, corn oils, corn sugar, and cornstarch.

Canned corn comes on the cob, of course, but its most popular versions are "cream style" and whole kernel. Cream style corn consists of the cut kernels and the scraped juicy pulp next to the cob. It is popular for use in soups and corn puddings.

Whole kernel corn is just that, and is packed dry. Golden bantam kernels are choice for salads, for heating in butter, or for combining with other vegetables.

Corn does a splendid job of working with other vegetables. Try it with tomatoes, with peas, with diced asparagus, with lima beans [this mixture is known as "succotash"], with sautéed green pepper and pimiento, with sautéed onion.

Into corn salads may go any other canned or fresh vegetable or group of vegetables. Here are a few of the tastiest mixtures:

CORN SALADS

1. Whole kernel corn, sliced hard cooked egg, minced onion, chopped green pepper, sliced celery.

2. Whole kernel corn, canned peas, sliced celery, shredded carrot, and chopped pimiento.

3. Whole kernel corn and canned mixed vegetables; or corn with peas, string beans, cooked carrots, minced raw onion, and shredded salad greens.

4. Whole kernel corn and chopped green pepper on slices of tomato.

5. Whole kernel corn, diced cooked bacon or ham, sliced celery, minced onion.

Cream of Corn Soup
[Serves six]
1 can cream style corn [No. 2]
1 small onion, minced
3 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
5 cups milk

Sauté onion in butter until yellow. Sprinkle in flour and stir. Add milk, a little at a time, stirring to make a smooth sauce. Add corn and heat thoroughly. Place in a double boiler, if it is necessary to keep the corn soup hot for a while.

A little celery or minced parsley may be browned in the butter with the onion, for added flavor.

Of course you want to serve something novel when you have that group of women friends in next week. You'll find it in Mary Meade's "Catering to Bridge Appetites," "Tips on Tea Parties," and "The New Sandwich Maker." These booklets are on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 3 cents each; by postpaid mail, 5 cents each.

WEDDINGS

Miss Virginia Belle Eagle, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Eagle of 2137 West 110th street, became the bride of William Chilton Van Etten, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Van Etten, on Jan. 18 in the chapel of the Morgan Park Methodist church. The bride is a graduate of the University of Kansas. Mr. Van Etten attended the University of Chicago.

After a wedding trp through the south Mr. Van Etten and his bride will be at home in Beverly Hills.

The wedding of Miss Florence Kelley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kelley of Marinette, Wis., to Ralph R. Anderson, son of Mrs. Florence Anderson of Oak Park, took place at the home of the bridegroom's mother on Jan. 17. A reception followed at the Drake hotel. After a honeymoon in Florida Mr. Anderson and his bride will be at home in Oak Park.

tom of having lectures on foreign affairs at the luncheon-meeting next Tuesday. Gen. Frank R. McCoy will talk on "Broader Aspects of National Defense." Gen. McCoy, who recently retired from the United States army, has had a long and outstanding career. He is a diplomat as well as a military man, so the council feels that he is the ideal person to discuss national defense.

The meeting will be held in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House, where the council will hold a luncheon-meeting Saturday. R. H. Bruce Lockhart, author of "British Agent" and formerly of the British foreign service, will be the speaker. His address, "Guns or Butter," is based on recent observations in England and on the European continent.

Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne are giving a dinner party next Monday night for Gen. and Mrs. McCoy, who lived here several years ago when he commanded the 6th Corps area.

Symphony Members to Watch Toscanini.

Members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra wanted seats well down in front of the Auditorium theater for next Tuesday night so that they could see Arturo Toscanini conduct. The committee in charge, headed by Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, and the theater management decided to open the orchestra pit, since the maestro and his NBC orchestra will be on the stage.

There are a few other choice seats for sale, for many of those who have bought tickets and who are not going to be here for the concert turned back their seats to be resold and thus swell the proceeds that will be turned over to the Passavant hospital.

In the large and fashionable audience will be a man who is coming from Los Angeles for the concert, Otto Klemperer, and a woman who is coming from New York for the event. She is Mrs. Robert S. Pirie and she will be in the party of her sister, Mrs. Adlai Stevenson. Mr. Klemperer is the conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra.

Another feminine member of the audience will be the wife of Maestro Toscanini. She will be the guest of Mrs. Kirk, who is entertaining at dinner for her before the concert.

Among others who have planned dinner parties to precede the concert are Mrs. John P. Bent, Mrs. Corson Ellis, Mrs. Daniel Peterkin, Mrs. Emmons Blaine, Mrs. William Scudder, Mrs. James R. Offield, Mrs. George Rasmussen, Mrs. Robert Baker, Mrs. Orville Taylor, Mrs. Alden Swift, Mrs. William B. Cudahy, Mrs. James W. Thorne, Mrs. Arch Shaw and Mrs. Robert J. Dunham.

George Lills to Give Cocktail Party.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lill have invitations out for a cocktail party on Feb. 5 from 5 to 7 o'clock at the Racquet club.

The annual dinner-dance for the benefit of Madonna center will be given on April 29 in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House.

Mlle. Fernande Combet will speak in French on "Curiosities of Olden Days" at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the weekly causerie of the Alliance Française. Mrs. Frank W. Collins will be hostess at tea. At the Saturday morning lecture Mme. Jeanne McAllister will speak on "Sacha Guitry, King of the Theater."

Charles S. Dewey has been elected president of the France-America society to succeed Orville Taylor. The other officers were reëlected. They are: Vice President, Robert Hall McCormick, and secretary-treasurer, Edward H. Bennett. The new directors are Sewell Avery, Charles G. Dawes, Walter R. Kirk, William A. Nitze, Silas H. Strawn and Mr. Taylor.

Grandma Revue to Put Upstarts in Their Places

BY MARCIA WINN.

The oldest and smallest great-grandmother in the minstrel rehersal at the Morrison hotel yesterday was indignant. "My grandson said 'What can a grandma do?' Well, we'll just show him."

With that Mrs. Rosetta Storey, who is 85, shoved her red bandana high on a forehead cross-stitched with wrinkles, pulled up her yellow and brown mammy costume, and twirled a neat ankle in a slithering waltz step.

Mrs. Storey, who has twelve grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren and lives at 5309 South Major avenue, was one of forty grandmothers gathered for a dress rehersal of "Grandma's Scandals of 1939." The show, most of it blackface, will be given on Sunday afternoon by the Chicago chapter of the National Grandmothers' club just to show their grandchildren that they can.

"They used to say grandma's had her day," Mrs. Storey recalled. "They used to say 'Humph, look at her trying to look sweet sixteen.'"

"Well, you just watch them out there now," nodding to the ballroom floor. "How's that for kicking?"

The Dionne quintuplets, dancing with wild glee to "A Tisket a Tasket," held the center of attention. The youngest is 42, the oldest 81, but all were in brief gingham dresses, with red snoods around their bobbed hair. Not only were they cavorting with the vivacity of youngsters, but all protested when the music stopped.

Mrs. Annabelle Whitford Buchan, who was Ziegfeld's original Brinkley girl back in the "Follies" of 1907, was marshaling her cohorts with the lungs and energy of Ziegfeld himself. In between orders she took time out to practise her own Gibson girl act.

Famous Music Teacher Heard in 3 Lectures

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Nadia Boulanger, distinguished French teacher of music and the confidante of many of the most important composers of the present, gave three lectures yesterday. In the morning she spoke at the Arts club, in the afternoon at the University of Chicago, and in the evening at Rosary college, River Forest.

A woman of vast authority and charm of personality, Mme. Boulanger quite won her audiences with the piquancy and interest of her ideas and the informal method she used to communicate them. Her subject at the Arts club was the younger composers of the present, more particularly Igor Markevitch and Jean Francaix. She finished her lecture with a plea to her American audience to pay heed to American composers, choosing Harrington Shortall and Theodore Ward Chanler for special mention. The former is a Chicagoan.

Mme. Boulanger spoke on Gabriel Fauré at the University of Chicago. Her subject at Rosary college was Igor Strawinsky.

Because her songs mean very much to her, Helen Diane Bartush makes them mean a great deal to her audience. That is the principal reason for the success of this resident mezzo-contralto s recital in Kimball hall last evening.

To permit her to make contact with her hearers Miss Bartush has a flexible voice of remarkable natural beauty and a fine command of tonal shadings. Instinctively she understands the use and value of aptly placed accents, of gently managed variants of pace.

A person eager to criticize must fall back on a slight defect in her manner of voice production, a defect which seems to cause the tone to be produced too far back. Thus diction is adversely affected and the smooth outpouring of a legato phrase becomes difficult and at times even halting.

The Housewife

Every household should be equipped with a large can of a good wax for woodwork, floors, and table tops. There is an excellent product on the market that is what we call a staple. You'll use it year in and year out.

Use it on the woodwork to keep it free of smudges. Unlike some waxes, this one will never smear. Use it on the floors to make them shine and to give your room that well groomed look. And apply it to table tops to protect them and keep them free of finger marks. It's as useful for automobiles, too, as it is for furniture.

SEVEN CUBS ARE REBELLIOUS, BUT WRIGLEY IS, TOO

Owner Fires Papers Right Back.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs' score in the contract league after the mailman had tiptoed out for the last time yesterday was: Signed, ten; bouncebacks, seven; unheard from, thirteen.

Technically there were seven bouncebacks, or contracts returned unsigned, but this total did not include Rip Collins'. In a speech at his home in Rochester, N. Y., Rip said his last year's figure had been considerably lacerated, a circumstance that had grieved him to the point that he hadn't been able to stop fretting. Rip said he was undecided whether to mail back the unsigned contract, call Owner P. K. Wrigley on the phone, or jump on a Chicagobound train with a view of having a heart to heart and face to face talk with Mr. Wrigley.

Rip Changes His Views.

Previous to the Ripper's Rochester oratory it was rumored Rip, in a recent visit to Chicago, had told friends that he intended to meet the mailman on every appearance, and that when the contract came he would have the mailman wait while he signed the document so the mailman could take it right to the postoffice and head it back to Chicago forthwith.

Collins said he didn't care to be listed as a holdout and added, "I imagine I'll soon reach an agreement with the club."

They Just Keep Bouncing.

The seven official bouncebacks took a second bounce yesterday. Mr. Wrigley bounced back all seven documents—and without altering a figure therein. The Cub owner-prexy, however, took time out to write to each of the seven gents, reminding him that under the Cub plan of operation the contract merely sets the minimum wage and that all players who prove worth more than those figures will receive raises during the campaign. The plan involves a lot of confidence in their employer on the part of players who have been in organized baseball for a spell, but there are many among Cub veterans who can testify that the big boss does not forget the scheme when the flowers bloom in May and thereafter.

Three signed contracts received yesterday brought the in the fold score up to the announced total of ten. They bore the signatures of Coach Johnny Corriden and Pitchers Ray Harrell and Eddie Carnett.

They're Practically Strangers.

All of the four players signed since the Cubs mailed out twenty-four documents more than a week ago, are slightly under the grade of regulars. Harrell is a former Cardinal reliever, Carnett is a lefty rookie from Los Angeles. The other two are Kirby Higbe, who finished last season with the Cubs, leaving the team when he received word after the pennant clinching game on the last day of the season, that his father had died, and Al Epperly, who also finished last season with the Cubs.

Assuming that all players sign before the training camp takeoff days, the two departures from Chicago still will not be imposing. There will be only six players departing Chicago as the first squad on Feb. 20, although seventeen are scheduled to sail for Catalina Island three days later. The Chicago shipment will include Manager Hartnett, Higbe, Jack Russell, Vance Page, Bill Baker and Bob Garbark. There will be only four taking off from Chicago, a week later, though the total will become thirteen at the docks in Wilmington, Cal. Collins, Capt. Bill Herman, Phil Cavarretta and Eddie Zydowski are the ones who will set out from Chicago.

The delay in signing has not interrupted the work of Robbie Lewis, managing editor of the Cub roster, who has been working feverishly on his brochure these many weeks.

GEHRIG RECALLS A BAD YEAR AND ACCEPTS A CUT

Yankee Iron Man Signs for 1939 Season.

New York, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Lou Gehrig, the New York Yankees' iron man, who usually has waited until well into March to sign his annual contract, today set his signature on a document which assures the world champions of his services at the plate and first base for the 1939 season.

Gehrig, who has played in 2,122 consecutive games for the Yanks, last year enjoyed the position of the highest paid player in the game, with a contract calling for a $39,400 salary. The figure was not justified by the former Columbia university star's performance, however, for he had one of the poorest seasons of his career. He batted only .295, the lowest record he had had since he broke in with the New Yorkers in 1925. He finished that season with the same figure. Since then Lou had batted .300 or better until this season.

How Much? He Won't Tell.

The amount of salary for 1939 wasn't revealed, although it was known last week that Gehrig undoubtedly would be asked to take a considerable reduction. One version today was that he had been trimmed $5,000 to an annual check of $34,000; another had him accepting a mere $2,000 cut, and a third report said that the slash off of last year's total was a negligible one.

Gehrig's hitting slump last season began so early that at one time he was dropped in the batting order from fourth to sixth. His eagerness to sign early this year, in contrast to his near holdout dickerings of the last two seasons, probably was caused by his ineffectiveness of 1938. After a conference in the home of Ed Barrow, newly elected president of the club, in which both said a "compromise agreement" was reached, Gehrig said that he couldn't wait to get back to make amends for his showing last season.

Hopes to Do Better.

Gehrig could give no explanation for his hitting collapse other than the law of averages, which, he pointed out, sooner or later has caught up to all heavy hitters. Lou said he hoped to do better this season. As far as his consecutive game record goes, Gehrig made it plain that he will continue to add to it until Manager Joe McCarthy feels that he is not doing his work properly.

Lou began his string of successive games on June 1, 1925, when he broke into the lineup as a pinch hitter. He replaced Wally Pipp at first the following day and has been there ever since.

Gehrig and his wife plan to drive to Florida next month.

YANKS, GIANTS REACH TERMS ON BROADCASTING

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Radio broadcasting of all major league baseball games in New York next season was assured tonight when the Yankees and Giants agreed to terms with a combination of three advertisers.

Eddie Brannick, secretary of the Giants, who announced completion of the deal, said broadcasts would emanate from station WABC in New York. Sunday games will not be broadcast.

Brannick did not disclose the amount involved in sale of the broadcast rights, but unofficial estimates of about $100,000 to each club were made several weeks ago when Owners Horace Stoneham of the Giants and the late Jacob Ruppert of the Yankees decided to abandon their policy against broadcasting.

The Brooklyn Dodgers sold the rights to their games early last month for a reported $75,000.

Ontario Aggies Defeat Michigan Hocky Team, 4-3

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Ontario Agricultural college scored twice in the final five minutes to defeat Michigan's hocky team, 4 to 3, tonight. Michigan led, 3 to 1, going into the final period.

The Third and Final Knockdown in Title Fight

The champion, Joe Louis, leaves the ring after scoring his second one round victory in defense of his title. He set a record, got $34,685, and crawled out looking for new foes to conquer.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—New York's baseball writers are petitioning officials of the Giants for a new pressbox to replace the one built less than ten years ago. There is no clamor, however, for an improved layout in Yankee stadium, wherein are found the most unsatisfactory facilities in the majors for visiting correspondents. . . . Mike Kelley, owner of the Minneapolis club, has announced he will have nothing more to do with major league sponsors. Mike wants to develop his own players and dispose of them at his own prices. . . . Bill Kirchem, whose 216 pounds made him invaluable at tackle on the Tulane football team, now is preparing for the track season. He's a sprinter. . . . Heinie Brock, comedian with the Hollywood Ice Follies, now touring New England, was a star diver at the Illinois Athletic club a decade back. . . . The first game of the first world series in 1903 was given two paragraphs in New York newspapers.

Joel Bennett, Gorham, N. H., golf professional, made three holes-in-one in 1938. . . . Blasé New Yorkers still deem jai alai a competitive sport. . . . Bill Clark, one of the few survivors of the old Baltimore Orioles, contends the 1938 New York Yankees could not compare with his team. . . . Eugene Corri, dean of Europe's boxing referees, never has fought a round. . . . Jack Dempsey's newest ring protégé, Ned Brown, was swimming and diving champion of a Birmingham high school. . . . The Wake's nomination for the man with the hardest assignment for 1939 is Walter Pate, nonplaying captain of the American Davis cup team. Walter has to find a replacement for Don Budge. . . . Northwestern's water polo team has won or tied for nine Western conference championships in thirteen years. . . .

Madison Square Garden is the scene of most of New York's high school basketball games. The preps take over the arena at 10 each Saturday morning and keep it busy throughout the day. . . . John McCloskey, who managed the Milwaukee Brewers years ago, has patented an aluminum cap for batters to wear as protection against bean balls. . . . Mrs. June Robertson, wife of Jocky Alfred Robertson, is a stockholder in the Ice Palace, Miami's new hocky rink. . . . The Creighton university eleven will meet San Francisco university on the west coast next Sept. 24. . . . Western conference basketball teams still use the old style seamed ball. Most prep quintets have been playing with the molded ball for several years. . . . Cy Young, whose pitching feats earned him a niche in baseball's new Hall of Fame, is sergeant at arms of the Ohio legislature. . . . Jimmy Dykes will have established a record for managerial longevity when the White Sox open the season in April. No other pilot has served the club as long as Jim's six seasons. . . .

Now We're Getting Some Place.

It's surprising the trafic engineers haven't solved the driving problem in Chicago. It's really quite simple. The answer is a twelve lane superhighway; one each for the left turners, buses, and cruising taxicabs; one for the guy who has no place to go and all day to get there; and one for the gent who has no place to go but insists on breaking his own and every one else's neck getting there. Then, of course, we'll need two lanes for the women and five for the drunks. The last one would be reserved for you and me, Arch, if some parker doesn't beat us to it.

Artists' Model Punches Way to I. A. C. Title

William Snell of the Evanston Y. M. C. A. and Homer Williams of the Savoy Athletic club were outstanding winners in the finals of the seventh Illinois Athletic club amateur boxing tournament in the I. A. C. gymnasium last night.

Snell, 20 year old model at the Northwestern art school and Waukegan Academy of Art, scored a one round technical knockout over Lee Christians of the Lincoln Turners to win the heavyweight championship. Williams, 1936 south sectional Golden Gloves featherweight winner, conquered Robert Jarrell of the Catholic Youth organization in three rounds to win the 126 pound title.

Thomas Retains Title.

Hiner Thomas of the C. Y. O. successfully defended his middleweight crown by getting the votes of Referee Tommy Thomas and Judges Rube Metz and Sergt. H. Vance in his three round fight with Edward Girard of the Savoy Athletic club.

Livingston Osborne, chairman of the I. A. C. sports committee, presented Thomas O'Connell, head of the C. Y. O. boxing board, with the trophy emblematic of the team championship. The C. Y. O. won the award for the sixth straight time by scoring forty-three points.

Savoy A. C. Is Second.

Savoy A. C. was second with 23 points, Evanston Y. M. C. A. third with 5, and Lincoln Turners fourth with 3. Buckley gymnasium of Peoria and Randall gym of Mount Vernon, Ill., tied for fifth with two, and Union Park and Chicago Elevated Advertising club tied for seventh with one apiece. Results:

112 POUNDS—Al Noto, C. Y. O., beat Anthony Bausone, C. Y. O., [3].
118 POUNDS—Frank Bausone, C. Y. O., beat Willie Moon, C. Y. O., [3].
126 POUNDS — Homer Williams, Savoy A. C., beat Robert Jarrell, C. Y. O., [3].
135 POUNDS—Harry Sparrow, C. Y. O., beat Al Jackson, C. Y. O., [3].
160 POUNDS—Hiner Thomas, C. Y. O., beat Edward Girard, Savoy A. C., [3].
175 POUNDS—Altus Allen, Savoy A. C., beat Hubert Hood, C. Y. O., [3].

Baseball's Gambling Table

A Story of Expensive Failures and Surprise Bargains in Big League Player Deals

This is the sixth of a series covering major league transactions in which, for better or worse, big money was spent either with a minor circuit or to move an athlete from one major team to another.)

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

THERE is one distinction Al Simmons, when he gets to the end of his major league career, will be able to take with him and undoubtedly retain indefinitly. Although a player with the ability a club usually prefers to keep, he has been the most salable baseball chattel of all time. He even sold himself once, thus getting the start that soon moved him into the big time where, partly because he lacked the spark which makes for popularity with the hero worshipers, he has made four stops.

Al Simmons.

Al, the real name, as everybody must know by this time, is Aloysius Harry Szymanski, which for the sake of clarity had to be shaved down when it reached the box score, liked baseball as a kid around Milwaukee's south side. His Polish parents were none too well fortified financially, and, admirably enough, Al decided he could at least keep sugar in the bowl by playing a little semi-pro ball. It was from there that he moved up the ladder with startling rapidity. He didn't wait for snooping scouts to come to him, but went seeking what he wanted.

Brewer Boss Listens and Signs Chesty Al.

The late Otto Borchert was sitting in his Milwaukee ball club office one day when a husky kid, wearing among other things a slightly tattered turtle neck sweater, strutted in with rolled cap in hand. There was nothing apologetic about the lad. He knew he was good and admitted it.

He told his story. He was a semipro player on Milwaukee's south side and if Borchert hadn't heard about him it was too bad. He wanted a chance at a job in organized ball. He was there, he explained, because of what Connie Mack had told him. The confident Szymanski, just a semi-pro, mind you, had written Mack requesting that he be taken to Florida with the Athletics on the next training trip. Connie still receives such letters by the dozens. He advised Al to seek a chance with the Milwaukee club, not appreciating that in the near future he would pay big money for this player who now was available for nothing.

Borchert was a barrel chested, blustery German with a kindly nature and an inclination to believe that any kid with the necessary enthusiasm could play baseball and play it well. He heard the sales talk through and signed Simmons. This was only one of the moves that swelled the robust Borchert bank account, and Otto afterward loved to tell how little he knew about baseball, giving an uproarious chuckle at the conclusion of each narration.

Mack Pays $30,000, but He Saved Carfare.

Milwaukee introduced Al to organized ball in 1922, but his swing was contrary to custom, so he was shipped to Aberdeen of the Dakota league, in which there was plenty of acreage. His unorthodox stance didn't make any difference. He batted balls from one Dakota to the other; so Milwaukee recalled him. An Athletic scout was there for a final glimpse at Wid Mathews and when he saw Simmons he wired to Mack that he preferred the latter. But the Athletics purchased Mathews and that remains a matter of regret.

Simmons went south to train with the Brewers in 1923, but when the trek northward started he found himself deposited in Shreveport, a long way from his favorite Mitchell street, the gay white way of Milwaukee's south side Polish community. However, he was back, funny batting stance and all, before the season closed. He hit and fielded beautifully at Shreveport. He did the same the month he played with the Brewers. So Connie Mack paid $30,000 for the boy he could have had for train fare two years before.

When Simmons reported at the A's camp in 1924 and took a few turns at the plate, the other Mack hirelings began to snicker. They were outspoken in predictions that fellows who hit with one foot in the bucket, as Al did, never would make good. Mack knew about this stance. He himself didn't like it when his scout tried to swing him from Mathews. But Al had kept on hitting so Mack not only bought him but, when hearing his stars lament the rookie's style, cautioned, "Let him hit his natural way."

There was nothing wrong with the Simmons stance. It merely looked bad. He hit .308 for the Athletics in 1924, his freshman year. In 1925 it went up to .386 and thereafter, including 1932, it was .344, .392, .351, .365, and .322. Then during the world series of 1932 in which the Cubs were the losers, as usual, Simmons was sold to the White Sox along with Jimmy Dykes and Mule Haas. Connie Mack

SCORES THREE KNOCKDOWNS IN TITLE DEFENSE

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 25.—Sleepy eyed Joe Louis, the greatest fighting man of his day, rifled his paralyzing fists at John Henry Lewis, light heavyweight champion of the world, a few seconds after they entered the ring at Madison Square Garden tonight and the result was inevitable. Referee Arthur Donovan stopped the bout after 2 minutes and 29 seconds of the first round to save John Henry from annihilation.

Only once before has a heavyweight championship battle ended so swiftly. The last time Louis went to the ring wars he disposed of Max Schmeling, a superbly trained athlete, in two minutes and four seconds. No fighter in the long history of pugilism ever has won two successive championship contests in one round.

First Punch Decides Bout.

Lewis was knocked down three times, which does not include two occasions when he momentarily was lying helpless on the ropes. The first time he hit the canvas he took a count of two. The next time it was for three seconds, and after he had taken a toll of five on his third trip to the floor the referee walked across the ring and lifted Louis' arm in token of victory.

The blows fell hard and fast. They fell on his head and on his body. They fell everywhere but on his heart. His heart and his heart alone was still in the fray when Referee Donovan mercifully called a halt to the one sided match. As his handlers led him to his corner and out of the ring toward what probably will prove fistic oblivion the curtain had rung down on one of those magnificent spectacles of brutality that only the prize ring knows.

The bout, which was the first heavyweight championship engagement in the United States between colored men, drew a paid attendance of 17,350 and receipts of $102,105.34. Louis' share, 40 per cent of the net, amounted to $34,685.11. Lewis received $11,741.17, 17 per cent of the net. This was the fifth time Louis has defended his title since wresting the crown from Jimmy Braddock at Comiskey park, Chicago, on June 22, 1937.

One Man Fight from Start.

Joe was the aggressor from the start. He backed John Henry toward the ropes with lightning like left jabs immediately after the bell. There was no hint, however, in the zephyr like start of the terrific tornado that soon was to break. Every one figured Lewis, recognized as one of the sport's most skilful boxers, would be able to stand off the champion for at least a few rounds.

Joe landed the first real punch, a right to the jaw, after 20 seconds of fighting. Even those who had seen the former Chicago Golden Glover destroy Schmeling at Yankee stadium last June were unable to realize at the time they again were sitting in at a bout that in a flash was to have thousands gasping with amazement and roaring with excitement by turns.

Lewis' One Punch Misses.

Lewis lashed out with a right that grazed the champion's shoulder. This was the closest he came to scoring a punch this historic night. Joe came right back with a left to the jaw, and John Henry, who never had been stopped in his long career, got that far away hook in his eyes. Another left sent him sprawling to the floor, but he was up at the count of two.

Louis, who never took a backward step, pumped a left and right to the stomach and then lifted a right to the jaw. The impact sent John Henry through the lower strand of ropes, where he almost fell on this typewriter. After the referee untangled him Louis again came in with a left hook that floored the light heavyweight titleholder for a count of three.

Crowd Calls For Halt.

While John Henry stood swaying on cellophane legs, ready to be stiffened by another solid punch, Joe shot a right to the jaw that sent him down for the last time. Before the referee called an end to the fireworks the fans were shouting for him to stop it. The fact that John Henry was game enough to take further punishment was no reason that he should be permitted to do so.

Louis had a pull of nearly twenty pounds in the weights. He scaled 200¼ and Lewis 180¾ when the men appeared at the New York boxing commission offices at noon. The

RED WINGS AND BLACKHAWKS TO BATTLE TONIGHT

Bitter Rivals to Clash on Stadium Ice.

The Lineup

CHICAGO.		DETROIT.

TONIGHT'S GAMES.

New York Americans at New York Rangers.
Detroit Red Wings at Chicago Blackhawks.

The Detroit Red Wings will battle the Blackhawks tonight in the Stadium in the fifth game of the eight scheduled for the season. It will be the first meeting of the teams with Paul Thompson guiding the Hawks. Chicago fans who have been thrilled for years at the sight of Paul Thompson being pitted against his goal tending brother Tiny, will be disappointed tonight because the Hawks' new boss has a severely bruised right elbow and will not be on skates.

Nevertheless there will be two Thompsons in the game for Detroit will have Bill Thompson, a 20 year old rookie up from their Pittsburgh farm, as a right wing replacement for Eddie Wares who is out of the game because of injuries. The new Thompson is not a relative of Tiny.

Bruneteau Is Back.

Mud Bruneteau, who was the Wings' leading scorer until an injury took him from the game over a month ago, will play in tonight's encounter.

The Wings will face the Hawks tonight without Bucko McDonald. He has been sold to Toronto's Leafs for $10,000 and the Wings' new right wing, Thompson. Bucko's place has been taken by young Jack Stewart, also up from the Pittsburgh club.

Although the name of Charley Conacher, the league's leading scorer for a number of former seasons, does not appear high in President Calder's latest scoring list, nevertheless the big bombarder must be showing something for Manager Adams in late games has been using Conacher in his starting lineup.

Barry Leads Wings.

Marty Barry is the leading point maker of the Detroit team. He has accounted for 23 points to date, 8 of which were made in the four games against the Hawks. Syd Howe, with 20 points is the Wings' second best and the youthful Eddie Liscombe is third with 15.

Severe injuries have played havoc with the Detroit aggregation this season. At some time or other Doug Young, Scotty Bowman, Herb Lewis, Mud Bruneteau, Eddie Wares, Alex Motter, and Charley Conacher have been forced to sit on the side lines for a number of games because of various ailments.

Baldy Northcott, who is suffering from a severe cold, will be replaced in tonight's game by Jack Shill. Because of Coach Thompson's enforced absence Northcott may be called upon for a bit of sub duty.

Expect Fast Game.

The game is sure to bristle with action for a bitter rivalry exists between the teams, both of which are Chicago owned. It will also be a battle for fifth place, a position now held by the Hawks by a half game. A 3 to 3 tie is the nearest the Hawks have come to a victory in the last six meetings of the teams. Thompson will be gunning for his second victory since he became the Hawks' boss seven games ago.

Wagner, Ens, Gooch Sign Again as Pirate Coaches

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 25.—(AP)—President W. E. Benswanger announced today that Honus Wagner, Jewel Ens, and Johnny Gooch of Nashville, Tenn., had signed new contracts to coach the Pittsburgh Pirates this year. Wagner has served six consecutive seasons, Ens four, and Gooch two on the Pirate coaching staf. The 1939 season will mark Wagner's twenty-eighth year as player or coach in the National league.

Lincoln Park Casters Gain Tribune Final

George Cik, G. B. Almy, and A. R. Westra of the Lincoln Park Casting club last night joined the finalists in the Chicago Tribune tournament conducted as a part of the International Outdoor Sportmen's show in the International Amphitheater, Halsted and Forty-third streets. Cik was first with 98 points, Almy second with 96, and Westra third with 95.

The championship competition will be held Sunday, final day of the show. The winner will receive a trophy offered by THE TRIBUNE. Members of the Jackson Park Casting club will compete tonight, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

It's Conservation Day.

Today has been designated Conservation day at the show, which is open from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m. Conservation is being emphasized through displays of the federal, Illinois, Wisconsin, and Minnesota conservation departments, which maintain educational exhibits at the show.

Bonnie of Glensome, a Labrador retriever owned by Michael Lebold of Chicago, won the retriever dog trial in the open class yesterday afternoon. Bob of Banter, also a Labrador, owned by Emanuel Schmidt of Chicago, was judged best in the novice division.

Double Victory for Collie.

Countess of Cumberland, a collie owned by Mrs. M. M. Guthrie, was first in the working judging of the puppy contest last night. This collie also won the 9 to 12 months class. First in the 6 to 9 month class went to Pinocchio of Windover, a shetland sheep dog owned by Mrs. Walter H. Peterson, and first in the 4 to 6 months group to Kora Von Kushner, a dobermann owned by Leo Kushner.

Vines Defeats Budge in 3 Sets at Chapel Hill

Chapel Hill, N. C., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Ellsworth Vines tonight scored his seventh pro tennis triumph over Donald Budge, former amateur star, two out of three matches. Scores were 4-6, 7-5, 7-5. A crowd of 4,000 watched the play.

needed some money. The price always has been reported as $100,000. It wasn't announced. The actual price was $150,000, and J. Louis Comiskey, the Sox owner, paid it in three annual instalments. The Athletics wanted it that way because of income tax.

Comiskey Gets Back Part of Original Outlay.

Simmons' career with the Sox wasn't exactly happy either for himself or the Sox, who also paid $33,333 on the last year of his three season contract. Simmons couldn't hit homers in spacious Comiskey park. The infield was moved, at great expense, to bring the outfield wall nearer. Al still didn't hit and he said it was the wind coming in from the lake. His failures led Comiskey in the fall of 1935 to offer him a $12,500 contract, a fifty per cent slice. Simmons announced he had torn it up. Al didn't know it, but at the same time he tore up the welcome mat on the Comiskey door step.

Al was sold to Detroit for $75,000, a move which enabled Comiskey to recoup a bit on his investment. Simmons played one year with Tigers and was sold for a mere $15,000 [probably $10,000 in money] to Washington. When the deal was made Al announced he was "glad to get away because he was under pressure all the time." Last fall, near the end of his second season with the Senators, he had an argument with his owner, Clark Griffith who fined him for battling verbally with grandstand hecklers.

Griffith resolved to be rid of the Milwaukee Duke, but not in a way by which the latter could benefit. Simmons wanted his unconditional release so that he could sell himself again. All American league clubs waived. Several National league clubs refused to waive, but Griffith wouldn't accept the $7,500 he could have had. He wanted to perpetuate Simmons as an ungrateful employé. He sold him for $3,000 to the Boston Bees and just to be nice about the whole thing, the Duke didn't object.

Association Owners to Approve Schedule Today

Club owners of the American association will meet in the Morrison hotel today and tomorrow. Among business to be transacted is formal approval of the league's schedule for the 1939 season.

Loyola Hopes to Play for the National Title

If Loyola university defeats De Paul in its annual game sponsored by the C. Y. O., Feb. 8 in the Chicago stadium, Lenny Sachs, coach of the Loyola squad, will issue a challenge to all Catholic teams to decide the national Catholic college basketball title.

The game between Loyola and De Paul will be for the state Catholic title. The Loyola quintet has played twelve games, winning them all.

"I look for a very tough game with De Paul, but I think the boys are good enough to beat them," Sachs said yesterday. "If they win, I believe we have a good chance of defeating any other Catholic college team in the country. De Paul has a very strong team this season, and if we win, I am going to challenge all Catholic college squads to decide the national Catholic champion."

LEADS IN SCORING.

Mount Zion, Ill., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Redman of Mount Zion is leading the Cenois conference basketball scoring race with a total of 108 points.

Goal Protested by Montreal Hocky Team Rejected

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—A protest by the Montreal Canadiens against an allegedly offside goal which gave the New York Americans a tie here Jan. 15 was thrown out today by the board of governors of the National Hocky league.

The action at the board's monthly meeting sustained a decision of President Frank Calder, who moved at the opening of the meeting to abide by the decision of Linesman Norman Shay, who said the disputed goal was properly scored.

A new rule was adopted coupling a $25 fine automatically to any ten minute misconduct penalty. President Calder said the rule should operate in favor of most players, since referees would consider carefully before meting out such banishments in the future.

Wallace Wins Place on U. S. Olympic Team

Oconomowoc, Wis., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—George Wallace of San Francisco earned a place on the 1940 American Olympic skating team today when he won his second successive 1,500 meter trial on Lake Fowler. Wallace's average for the two races was 2 minutes, 24.7 seconds, compiled with performances of 2:27.6 today and 2:21.8 yesterday. Delbert Lamb of Milwaukee was second with a 2:27.6 average and Tony Neberz of Chicago third with 2:29.1.

Charles Leighton of Minneapolis and Lamb also were awarded positions on the Olympic squad, Leighton on the strength of his average time in the 500, 1,500, and 5,000 meter events, and Lamb for his efforts in the 500 and 1,500 meter races.

Kucera Victim of Fall.

Al Kucera of the Chicago C. Y. O. was the victim of an unfortunate mishap. Kucera, paired with George Hare of Amsterdam, N. Y., struck a bad spot on the straightaway with only a half lap left to go. He stumbled and fell. If Kucera had been able to finish, his time probably would have been fast enough to qualify him for the Olympic team. The officials permitted Kucera to skate again, alone. He was nervous and shaken, however, and placed only seventh with an average of 2:31.7.

Chicago already has placed two skaters—Eddie Schroeder and Leo Freisinger — on the Olympic team. Whether it will have more depends upon what Neberz, Kucera, Bob Heckenbach, and Vic Ronchetti do in the 10,000 meter event, which closes the competition tomorrow morning.

It's a Long Grind.

The 10,000 meter event is equivalent to approximately six miles. The field will be limited to twelve skaters, with only the best permitted to enter. With below zero weather, the ice more than ten inches thick and all the top notch skaters in good condition, there should be some very fast times in the 10,000 meter event.

Earl Solem, president of the Illinois Skating association, has ordered that all members, except winners of Chicago Tribune Silver Skates, must compete in the tri-state Derby in Elgin Sunday. The former Tribune Silver Skates winners, Schroeder, Kucera, Ronchetti, and Heckenbach, will participate in the St. Paul winter carnival.

The order of finish today and average times:

1. George Wallace, San Francisco, 2:24.7.
2. Delbert Lamb, Milwaukee, 2:27.6.
3. Tony Neberz, Chicago, 2:29.1.
4. Bob Heckenbach, Chicago, 2:30.
5. Charles Leighton, Minneapolis, 2:30.1.
6. George Hare, Amsterdam, N. Y., 2:30.9.
7. Al Kucera, Chicago, 2:31.7.
8. George Shimek, Cedar Rapids, 2:34.2.
9. Vic Ronchetti, Chicago, 2:34.8.
10. Dick Werner, Haledon, N. J., 2:35.
11. Marvin Swanson, Minneapolis, 2:35.4.
12. Allen Potts, Brooklyn, N. Y., 2:35.6.
13. Lowell Miller, Elgin, Ill., 2:36.3.
14. Frank Bostrom, Bell, Cal., 2:36.6.
15. Jerry Guttormsen, Kenosha, Wis., 2:36.7.
16. Jim Deswarte, Milwaukee, 2:36.8.
17. Mick Andruch, Chicago, 2:37.6.
18. Don Johnson, Minneapolis, 2:38.4.
19. Steve Gadus, Chicago, and Harley Herbrechtsmeier, Kenosha, Wis., tied, 2:38.6.
20. Carl Kalisek, West Allis, Wis., and Larry Dennis, Cedar Rapids, tied, 2:39.4.
21. Armin W. Massin, Glencoe, Ill., 2:41.7.
22. Ray Doersan, Chicago, 2:41.8.
23. Tom Baacke, Chicago, 2:42.
24. Louis Schneider, St. Louis, 2:42.7.
25. Ralph Dames, Oconomowoc, 2:44.
26. Bud Handlan, St. Louis, 2:49.

Northwest S. C.	150	Swift Playground	20
Tilden S. C.	110	Unattached	10

Johnny Serro, Northwest Skating club, and Helen Swierkos, Tilden Skating club, were the winners of the class A senior men's and women's races of the Austin-Cragin Sportsmen's second annual speed skating meet held last night in La Follette park.

The C. Y. O. Skating club and the Northwest Skating club finished in a tie for the club championships, each club scoring 150 points. Tilden Skating club tabulated 110 points for third place honors.

The half mile race for juvenile boys [under 14] supplied the biggest thrill for the spectators. Eddie Planert won the race, but not without a final drive on the last turn which brought him up from fourth place to the front.

CLASS A SENIOR MEN'S ONE MILE—Won by John Serro, Northwest Skating club; Marshall Kleumundt, C. Y. O. Skating club, second; George Spaulten, Northwest Skating club, third. Time, 3:28.4.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

OFFICIALS MAKE TRIBUNE SPORTS EVENTS SUCCESS

Staf of 125 Works as Unit When Seconds Count.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

While members of The Tribune Officials' association are awaiting for the third Golden Gloves physical examination, which will be held Tuesday evening in Trafton's gymnasium, they may contemplate an achievement in sports promotion unique even for the most efficient organization of its kind in the country.

In recent years the 125 members of the group who conduct Golden Gloves bouts in the four Chicago sectionals, the Tournament of Champions and the international Golden Gloves matches with Europe, have established records for efficiency which stand alone. For instance, as many as three sectional Golden Gloves tournaments have been held in one evening. Three years ago six rings were in use at three city tournaments on the same night.

It's a Big Tournament.

The Tournament of Champions requires operation of three rings for three nights in order to reduce the field of more than 400 boxing champions to the thirty-two semi-finalists. These achievements need no further mention.

The Golden Gloves officials are the nucleus of The Tribune Officials' association only because they work more nights and longer hours to put on these bouts and because, and almost without exception, they assist in promotion of Silver Skates, the swimming races, and the annual All-Star football game. There are many officials who assist only in Silver Skates or the swimming meet, which annually requires five afternoons including four sectional meets to complete.

And the Show Goes On.

Tuesday night these officials set another promotional record. Because Silver Skates had been postponed twice, the Derbies were held on the first available evening. Thus, accidentally, they coincided with the date for Golden Gloves physical examination. More than 400 boxers reported at Trafton's and 113 races were held in La Follette park. The Golden Gloves group registered the boxers and assigned them to sectional tournaments. Physicians gave complete examinations marking eight items on each boy's medical card. From 4 o'clock when the first skaters reported in La Follette park for their racing numbers, the Silver Skates officials organized more than a thousand competitors, arranged them in preliminary heats, semifinals and championship events. Judges, timers, announcers, track supervisors, and inspectors donated their services. Physicians treated superficial cuts received by a few skaters who fell and were prepared to handle any emergency.

Everybody Lends a Hand.

It is unfair to mention the name of any one official for all are equally important where the individual assignment was to judge or time the races or to make out heat cards. And in this brief review neither is it possible to overlook the fine work of other agencies which coöperated with these officials.

The officials of the Chicago park district, Illinois Skating association, the workmen who removed the snow and sprayed the ice Sunday and Monday, the police detail, all contributed to the speedy and successful conduct of the twenty-second Silver Skates Derbies. And particular mention must be made of the staf of La Follette park. All their facilities were at the disposal of the officials of the meet.

The Amateurs Do Their Part.

So much for the enthusiasm of the men behind the guns. Silver Skates and Golden Gloves would not occupy their position of preëminence in sport were it not for the hundreds of skaters and amateur boxers who enter the amateur competition for fame and the trophies which are emblematic of supremacy. To them goes highest praise. If the officials have helped them enjoy these sports the more, then that is the award of merit each official received Tuesday night.

SHORT ODDS ON JOE LOUIS CUT FIGHT BETTING

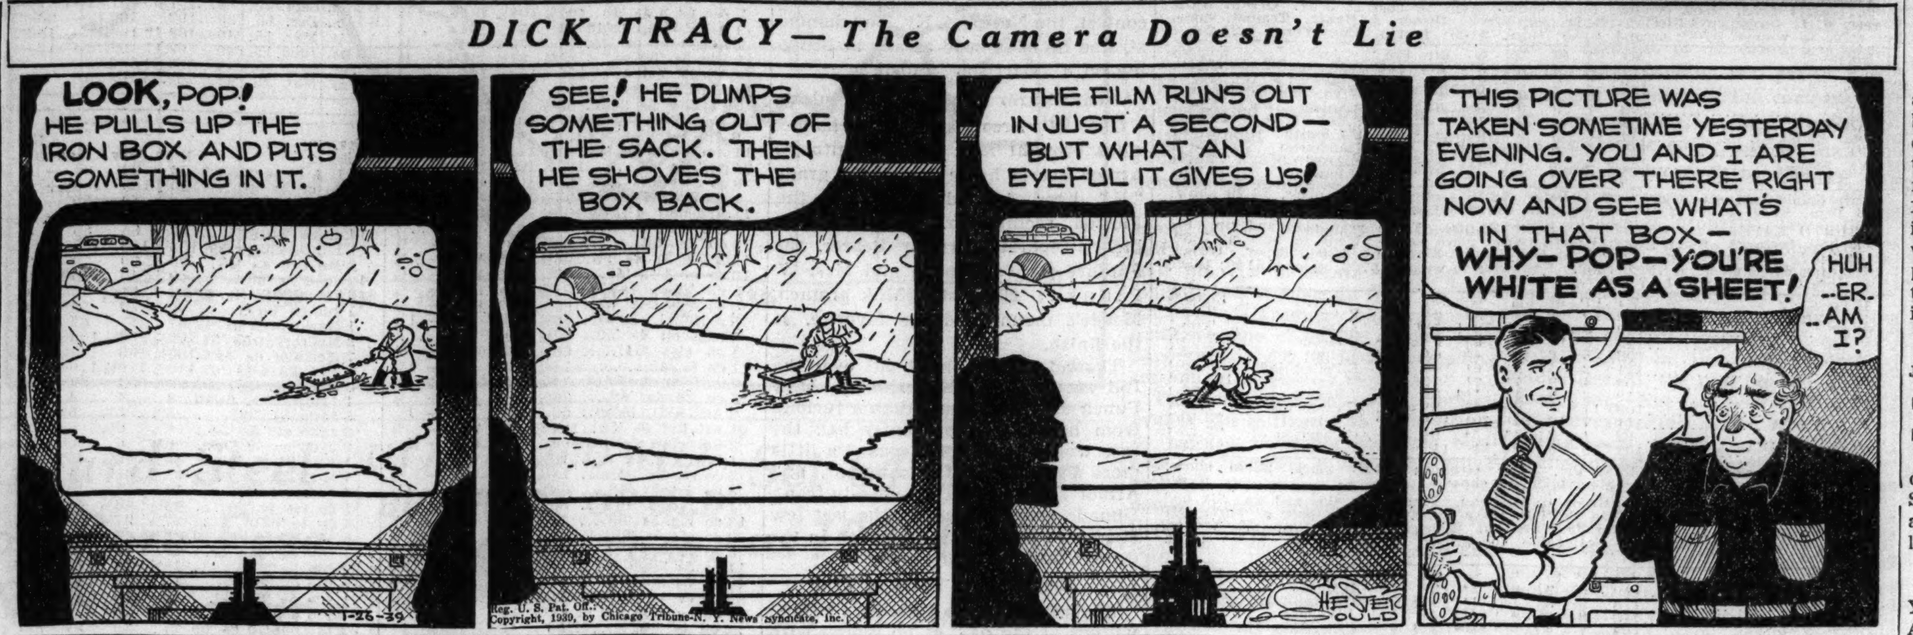
New York, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Betting on the Joe Louis-John Henry Lewis fight was almost nil. The fans made Louis such a prohibitive favorite that even those who leaned weakly to Lewis hesitated.

An hour before champion and challenger entered the ring Louis was quoted 1 to 10 to win the decision. They were offering as high as 3½ to 1 that Louis would knock out John Henry. Even money was available John Henry would not come up for the third round.

With such sweeping sentiment favoring the champion, the wonder of it was the battle attracted such a crowd.

MOON MULLINS—PUTTING IT IN WRITING

DICK TRACY—The Camera Doesn't Lie



'I GUESS I WAS DAZED A LITTLE,' SAYS JOHN HENRY

New York, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Perched on the rubbing table in his dressing room, John Henry Lewis said: "They should not have stopped it. I was all right."

His condition and his subsequent remarks, however, belied the statement. Fifteen minutes after the fight in which he failed to lift Joe Louis' heavyweight crown in Madison Square Garden tonight, Lewis appeared to be dazed, and his failure to remember the number of times he was knocked down indicated clearly that he definitly was not "all right."

"I thought there was a rule in this state that a fighter must be knocked down three times before the bout is stopped. And I was only down twice," he remarked.

Manager Vindicates Referee.

There wasn't much to say in John Henry's dressing room. He had had his shot at the title and failed. He was beaten.

"I was dazed at the last, I guess," he said. "I never jumped up without taking a seven or eight count before in my life like I did tonight. Yes, he's a hitter. He makes your eyes go in and out when he brings across that right. And he hits to the body as if he had a baseball bat."

"Would you fight him again, knowing the way he can hit?" he was asked. John Henry straightened up. His eyes were still misty from the beating.

"Would I fight him? I'll fight him anywhere."

Louis' comment was characteristically simple. "I was out to get him as fast as I could," he said. "He's a good game fighter and I didn't want to take any chances with him. I hope John Henry isn't hurt badly, because I sure put everything I had in my punches.

John Henry Didn't Land.

He sat as he always does, quiet, shy, and a little diffident before the jostling crowd. There was no boasting.

"Well," he continued, "of course I want to fight the best way there is. So I go out and start hittin' him. That worked with Schmeling. It worked tonight. Don't know what punch it was finished him. Guess it was that right-hand right plumb on his jaw over in the far corner.

"He didn't hit me none. He threw a couple a punches, I guess, but they didn't land. Long as you keep punching the other guy ain't got much chance."

Galento Would Be O. K.

"I'll fight any one they get for me. Wouldn't mind fightin' that Galento at that. I don't pay no mind to what he says about me, but I think I could whip him.

"You know, he ain't foolin'. He's that proud of that title he'd beat up his own brother if it was on the line."

Danno O'Mahoney Throws VanSaxon; King KongWins

Danno O'Mahoney of Ireland threw Arthur Van Saxon last night in the Rainbo Fronton arena in 11 minutes 20 seconds. King Kong threw Jack Claybourn with a series of body slams in 21 minutes 10 seconds. Walter Palmer won over Farmer Mack in 13 minutes when Mack was disqualified.

Louis Batters Down Lewis in 1st Round

This was the first of four championship matches Promoter Mike Jacobs has planned for Louis in 1939. There are indications, however, that it will be increasingly difficult to find four men willing to risk their lives in the same ring with the Brown Bomber. If Joe Louis isn't the greatest piece of fighting machinery this generation has known, then prosperity is definitly here, everybody goes back to the factory tomorrow and Francisco Franco's forces haven't a chance to take Barcelona.

Even Galento Cools Off.

Even garrulous Tony Galento, who has knocked out several stumble bums in recent months, is losing his enthusiasm for a title match. He was around the ringside tonight telling reporters "that guy Louis is a bum; I could have knocked out John Henry with one punch," but there wasn't much sincerity in his delivery.

Tony Musto, 202½, of Chicago, won a six round decision over Freddie Fiducci, 190¼, of Newark, N. J., in the bout that concluded the card.

In the preliminaries Jim Howell, Harlem, 220½, outpointed Bob Smith, Detroit, 210½, in four rounds; Eddie Booker, San Francisco, 147, and Holman Williams, Chicago, 146, fought a six-round draw; Pat Comiskey, Paterson, N. J., 195, defeated Label Shapson, Bronx, 257, in four rounds; and Tommy Tucker, East Rockaway, N. Y., 179½, outpointed Bill Poland, Bronx, 185½, in six.

RE-ELECT WOOD HEAD OF JUNIOR SOCCER GROUP

John W. Wood was reëlected president of the Junior Soccer Association of Illinois last night at the annual meeting in the Morrison hotel. Albert Kautt was named vice president, succeeding W. W. Wilkins of Mooseheart. John Josephson was reëlected secretary-treasurer for a second term.

MOTHER THINKS JOHN HENRY HAD A TOUGH BREAK

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Mattie Foster, mother of John Henry Lewis, said "it was tough luck" tonight when told of her son's first round knockout defeat by Champion Joe Louis.

She spent the time in another part of the new home John Henry recently had built for her while a group of friends listened to the bout at a front room radio.

With Gene Kosovski scoring five baskets and a free throw and Petchul getting five field goals, Tilden Tech's seniors handed Harrison its first defeat in the central section of the Chicago Public High School Basketball league yesterday, 31 to 19.

The victory gave Tilden a tie for first place with Phillips as Phillips beat Manley, 44 to 29. Each team has won three, lost none, and tied one. They played a 32 to 32 tie on Jan. 12

Dubofsky Gets 18 Points.

Dowell registered twelve points for Phillips, but Dubofsky of Manley made eighteen points of which four were free throws. Phillips led at the half, 15 to 14.

By repelling Tuley, 35 to 19, in a west section senior game, Austin pulled into a tie with Tuley for third place, each having won three games while losing two.

Foreman Seniors Win.

In the junior division, McKinley beat Foreman, 34 to 29, to advance into a three way tie for second place in the west section with three won and one lost. It was the fifth consecutive defeat for Foreman. The Foreman seniors scored their first triumph in five starts by nosing out McKinley, 31 to 29.

The Lake Forest academy heavyweight basketball team defeated Morgan Park Military academy, 37 to 28, at Morgan Park in a Midwest Prep conference game. Moore paced the victors with six baskets and six free throws. In the lightweight game, Lake Forest triumphed 25 to 11. Lineups:

MEADE BRINGS IN THREE WINNERS; ARCARO ADDS 2

Eddie Scores on Armor Bearer at Hialeah.

Armor Bearer Comes Up at Finish.

One of Arcaro's great "hand" rides brought Mrs. Payne Whitney's Armor Bearer home first in the grade "B" handicap, which topped the Florida racing card. Only a few inches separated Armor Bearer, the Fanfare farm's Dunade and Mrs. W Plunket Stewart's Milk Punch, Meade's mount and the favorite, at the finish.

These three fought it out over the full six and a half furlongs. Milk Punch drew away less than a furlong from home and apparently had the race won when Arcaro coaxed a little more speed out of his mount, and Armor Bearer stuck his nose in front. Dunade also came up in the last few strides to nose out Milk Punch in the camera finish for the place.

Meade Runs Total to 27.

Armor Bearer was Arcaro's second winner of the day, as he scored with Blind Pig in the fourth race. Meade's winners were Jock's Betsy, Feng, and Green Melon to bring his total for thirteen days up to twenty-seven.

COTTON

Trading in cotton futures yesterday on American exchanges was restricted by uncertainty regarding the European political situation. Early weakness in securities had little effect. Mills were fair buyers and more than offset the effect of foreign selling and scattered liquidation. Closing trades were .01 to .06 cent a pound higher.

Spot cotton closed unchanged to .02 cent higher, with New York, 9.04 cents; New Orleans, 8.67 cents; Houston, 8.42 cents, and Galveston at 8.39 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Investors' Guide

DIXIE-VORTEX.

Investors' Guide: I read recently that the Dixie-Vortex company had merged with some other concern. How did this come about, and what effect will it have on me as a holder of Dixie-Vortex common? Is there any difference to speak of between the common stock and the class A? Please tell me how this company has been getting along—T. H.

Answer: The merger you have in mind involved the dissolution of the Dixie Securities corporation, which is being merged into Dixie-Vortex. Dixie Securities is a holding company whose chief assets are Dixie-Vortex class A and common stock, so the net result of the transaction is simply to eliminate Dixie Securities. Those who have held stock in Dixie Securities will now hold stock in Dixie-Vortex directly.

The merger is primarily a bookkeeping transaction and you as a stockholder in Dixie-Vortex will not be appreciably affected by it.

The company, as you probably know, makes various kinds of paper cups and dishes and other paper products. Its net income in the twelve months ended Sept. 30 was $729,000, or $1.39 a common share, against $946,000, or $2.46 a share, in the preceding twelve months. Peak net income of $950,000 was made in the full year 1937. This compared with $876,000 in 1936. Net income of its predecessor, the Vortex Cup company, reached a top of $714,000 in 1930 and then fell off to $312,000 in 1935.

The A stock is similar to an ordinary preferred stock. It is entitled to yearly dividends of $2.50 a share, and these are cumulative if not paid. Nothing can be paid on the common unless A payments have been made.

Dividends on the A stock have been earned comfortably and paid regularly. On the common $1 was paid in 1938, $2 in 1937, and $1.50 each in 1935 and 1936. The A stock is a business risk—fairly well protected now but needs watching — and the common is somewhat speculative.

"BREAK-UP VALUE."

Investors' Guide: My broker keeps talking about the "break-up value" of some shares that he is trying to sell me. I don't quite get what he means. Can you help me out?—O. T.

Answer: The term "break-up value" is used only in connection with investing companies' shares and has the same meaning as "net asset value." It represents the theoretical liquidating value on shares in an investing company at a given time and is based on the assumption that all assets could be liquidated at the quoted market prices at that time.

REQUEST BILLION DIRECT SUBSIDY FOR RAILROADS

Vital to Defenses, Wheeler Says.

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—An outright federal railroad subsidy between one and two billion dollars was advocated today by Harry A. Wheeler, Chicago, president of the Railway Business association. He made public that organization's national legislative program.

Harry A. Wheeler.

The association represents the views of companies manufacturing and selling railway equipment. It does not officially represent the views of railway managements.

The subsidy—and Wheeler said his association had decided to eschew congressional requests to "disguise" the word subsidy under some such term as "contingent loans"—is based upon three grounds set forth as urgent necessities: National defense, public safety, national economics.

View on Defense Situation.

So precarious is the national defense situation as to railroads, that if war were declared tomorrow, and unlimited funds were made available, "it would take not less than two years to put the railroads into shape to handle the military requirements of 1918," he asserted.

As to public safety, Wheeler said that operating economies by the railroads during depression years had brought many lines, especially secondary lines, "to the danger point."

Supported by arguments advanced by Dr. Lewis C. Sorrell, professor of transportation at the University of Chicago, economic adviser to the association, Wheeler pointed out that prudent, peacetime rehabilitation of the railroads would prove a semi-permanent major factor in national economic recovery. This would come through direct and indirect effects upon heavy industry, he said.

Would Not Penalize Others.

Both Wheeler and Sorrell urged that questions arising from past financing and competition with highway and water transportation be met frankly and constructively. Both argued that the other form of transportation should not be penalized under a program of direct subsidies to railroads.

The program in general recommends outright federal expenditures over a ten year period of $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 a year for improvement of right of way and structure to a point at least of minimum military defense requirements.

This, they argued, would leave railroads in a position—except those in or approaching financial distress—to embark on a parallel 10 year equipment rehabilitation program, involving nationally about 100,000 new freight cars and 1,000 new locomotives a year, with other phases similarly geared.

These two items would involve about $150,000,000 a year expenditures for locomotives and about $220,000,000 a year for freight cars.

In Four Credit Groups.

Dr. Sorrell pointed out that consideration of the national rail problem involved consideration of the carriers in four credit groups, based primarily on earnings. He said these groups had not shared proportionately in earnings in business improvement in 1936 and 1937, and would not profit equivalently in a future upturn unless the present competitive differentials were equalized by subsidies which would make possible lower rates.

Reorganization alone would not be enough, Dr. Sorrell said. Operating efficiency would have to be increased by consolidations, forced if necessary.

Would Aid Business.

Immediate, emergency assistance would help business generally by helping the railroads as a group, but should be given only to those roads in intermediate classifications — not those in reorganization, Sorrell said.

Both men emphasized their subsidy proposals were contingent upon a declaration against public ownership and operation of railroads "as a measure of public economy" as well as for reasons of general national economic policy.

Wheeler is a director of First National Bank of Chicago, and of other banks and insurance companies, and of the Benjamin Electric Manufacturing company.

Cuneo Press Will Retire Part of Preferred Stock

The Cuneo Press, Inc., yesterday announced that it will retire 10 per cent of its preferred stock. The company notified stockholders of its offer to purchase 2,000 preferred shares at the call price of $107.50, plus accrued dividends to March 15. If the offer is not taken up the company has the privilege under its charter of making a formal call for redemption of the stock.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today nominated Jacob Crane of Illinois to be assistant administrator and director of project planning of the United States Housing authority.

Trade Balance in '38 Favors U. S. by Billion

Export sales of American goods in 1938 exceeded imports by $1,133,567,000, the United States department of commerce reported yesterday. The favorable balance of trade was more than four times that of the preceding year, when exports topped imports by only $265,499,000.

The value of both imports and exports in 1938 was less than in 1937. The decline in exports, the department said, was due entirely to lower prices prevailing in 1938. The physical volume of American goods shipped to foreign countries was approximately equal to 1937.

The 1938 exports totaled $3,094,095,000, compared with $3,349,167,000 in 1937. Imports were $1,960,528,000 against $3,083,668,000.

War Fears Aid Purchases.

The growth in the favorable trade balance resulted from larger sales of food products, metal, machinery, airplanes, and other products in demand from countries striving to rearm. American purchases of agricultural commodities also declined sharply as a result of the better crops harvested in this country last year.

The United States sold more of every agricultural commodity except cotton last year. Cotton sales fell as a result of the curtailment of purchases by Japan, which previously had been one of the biggest consumers of American raw cotton.

December foreign trade was below the level of the preceding year, the department said. Export sales in December were $268,756,000, compared with $323,403,000 in December, 1937. Imports totaled $171,474,000 against $208,833,000 in the preceding year.

December Gains Over November.

The December export total was larger than in November. The gain was described by commerce department officials as contrary to the usual trend at the end of the year. The gain was accounted for by larger sales of manufactured articles, including wood pulp, copper, gasoline, automobiles, and machinery.

The 1938 figures disclosed that the United States made material progress in recovering foreign markets for its agricultural products. Exports of wheat were the largest since 1930; corn, the largest since 1922; tobacco, the best since 1931. Exports of oranges were the largest on record.

GERMAN, DUTCH CURRENCIES SELL AT LOWER PRICES

German travel marks fell ½ cent in terms of American currency, closing at 20.80 cents. Benevolent marks also dropped a half cent to 20.75. The registered mark was quoted at 40 cents against 39.98 cents on the preceding day.

The Dutch guilder fell 0.04 cent to 54 cents. Earlier this week it lost about ¼ cent on rumors that German troops were maneuvering near the Dutch border. The reports were denied. The British pound closed 1-16 cent higher and the franc unchanged.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York announced engagements of gold totaling $546,000 in England for shipment to the United States.

COURT DISMISSES ACTION AGAINST LONDON LLOYDS

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 25.—[Special.] — Circuit Judge Victor Hemphill today dismissed a quo waranto suit challenging the right of London Lloyds to operate in Illinois. The suit was brought in the name of the people, with John J. Barber as relator. Judge Hemphill ruled that the state insurance code provides that no person other than the director of insurance can challenge the right of any insurance company to operate.

The quo waranto suit had challenged the right of London Lloyds to operate in the state because of alleged failure to comply with provisions of the insurance code relating to deposits. Edmund J. Burke, downstate attorney representing the relator, indicated that the decision would be appealed.

Closed State Banks in County Quicken Pace of Liquidation

BY HAROLD SMITH.

Aided by improvement in business generally, Cook county's closed state banks approached complete liquidation at an accelerated pace as last year drew to a close. This was disclosed in figures made public yesterday by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett. The data show the receipts and disbursements, for the final 1938 quarter, of the 138 state banks of the county that are still in receivership.

The new statement shows that the banks' liquidation in the quarter was much improved over that of the September quarter, and was not far behind that of the closing quarter of 1937.

During the latest three month period the banks took in a total of $2,571,762. Receipts for the September quarter were $2,211,022 and for the December, 1937 quarter, $3,080,027. The two latter totals are or 139 banks, the Citizens State Bank of Glencoe having been taken from receivership in the last quarter.

Portfolios Drying Up.

The income decline over a year's time is partly explained by the drying up of the banks' portfolios as liquidation progresses, and by the exhaustion of remaining good assets.

About $1,476,400 of last quarter's receipts came from inventory collections, which include interest, income, and money realized from stock assessments. Most of the rest represents refunds of funds the receivers advanced to protect assets.

Twenty-one of the banks paid out a total of $853,573 to depositors in the last three months of last year, the figures show. Fourteen banks made repayments totaling $563,187 during the preceding three months. Twenty-five banks repaid $1,060,208 in the closing three months of 1937.

Creditors Get $1,331,747.

Payments to creditors, including the depositors, totaled $1,331,747 in the latest quarter. For the preceding quarter the total was only $860,940. For the last quarter of 1937 it was $1,546,756.

Disbursements in the last quarter were $2,741,178, or $169,415 less than receipts, according to Barrett's figures. The September quarter's disbursements of $2,225,009 were $13,987 below receipts. In the final 1937 quarter the disbursements totaled $3,347,690, or $267,663 less than receipts.

Of the newly reported disbursements the largest share, $117,924, went for deputy, clerical and stenographic help. Attorney's fees accounted for another $44,820. A total of $30,684 was paid out in interest on Reconstruction Finance corporation loans and for bills incurred before suspension. The receivers were paid $5,880. Miscellaneous expenses totaled $61,402.

Guard Steel by Pore Free Nickel Coating

Coraopolis, Pa., Jan. 25.—[Special.] —The Standard Steel Spring company will open a new electroplating plant here Monday. It is especially designed to handle large sections of steel for finishing with nickel plating of a pore-free type, it was announced today by W. F. Rockwell, chairman of the company's board of directors. Elimination of the pores in the nickel plate prevents corrosives from attacking the steel under the plating.

First shipments from the new plant will go to the Texas oil fields where the inroads of corrosion are increasing production costs, he said. Thorough trials of this pore-free coating, which ranges up to twenty times the normal thickness of nickel plating, have demonstrated its resistance to corrosion in the wells.

Expected to Extend Market.

Besides its use on machinery and parts in the oil fields the new material is designed for uses in which ordinary steel corrodes severely. In the latter connection it will extend the market for steel in the manufacture of barrels, tanks, and other containers for shipping and storing corrosive chemicals.

"The new electroplating process which makes this material possible requires accurate technical control," Rockwell said, "but as the process is largely automatic, the results can be duplicated regularly in commercial production.

Will Study New Process.

"The nickel deposit which constitutes the heavy plate is malleable and withstands abrasive as well as corrosive attack. Thus, this new product adds to the list of economical structural materials with corrosion resistant surfaces.

"A fellowship has been established at the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research to study the process and assure its scientific application to new fields of use."

REVISED LABOR ACT IS PROPOSED BY SEN. WALSH

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.] — Revision of the National Labor Relations act was proposed today in a series of amendments introduced by Senator Walsh. These carried out recommendations prepared by the American Federation of Labor.

Dealing principally with procedure, the amendments were described by their sponsor as designed "to guarantee fair and equitable administration of the law by the national labor relations board."

One of the amendments provides that the NLRB "may" investigate petitions for an employé election filed by an employer and order such an election.

UTAH RADIO WILL BUY PART OF OLD GRIGSBY PLANT

Plans New Financing; Stock to Be Offered.

The Utah Radio Products company, Chicago, is making arrangements for the purchase of a part of the plant of the old Grigsby-Grunow company at 5903-33 West Dickens avenue, it was disclosed yesterday. Payment will be made through new financing.

Utah Radio makes radio parts largely for use by companies assembling radio sets. It is now located at 812 Orleans street. The site to which it proposes to move its machinery and manufacturing facilities is known as the Grigsby-Grunow No. 4 plant, which once formed a part of the largest radio factory in the world.

Offered to Stockholders.

A part of the financing will consist of an offering of shares to stockholders on a basis of one share for each six shares held. The price will be $1.75 a share. Offering will be made Feb. 8 and rights to subscribe will expire Feb. 21. Fuller, Cruttenden & Co. proposes to take up any unsubscribed portion of the offering.

In addition to the proceeds from the sale of 77,325 shares, the company plans to arrange a bank loan through a subsidiary.

Incorporated in 1928.

Utah Radio was incorporated in Illinois on Aug. 1, 1928. It later acquired through stock exchange the Caswell-Runyan company of Huntington, Ind., and the Carter Radio company of Chicago.

Its principal products are radio cabinets, cedar chests, and radio parts, including condensers and loud speakers. It also manufactures parts used in automobile radios.

The executive committee of the Chicago Stock exchange has approved the application of Utah Radio to list the additional stock.

U. S. PRODUCTION OF ELECTRICITY CONTINUES GAIN

Electricity generated by the nation's power and light industry in the week ended Jan. 21 increased to 2,289,659,000 kilowatt hours. The Edison Electric institute's weekly report yesterday disclosed that the energy total for the week was 0.9 per cent higher than that of the preceding week and 8.6 per cent over that of the corresponding 1938 week.

Production of electric power has advanced gradually since the start of the year. Gains of other leading geographical areas were the central industrial region, 11.4 per cent; Pacific coast, 7.6 per cent; Middle Atlantic, 7.2 per cent, and Southern states, 6.3 per cent.

Electricity generated by the Commonwealth Edison group [Chicago area] totaled 146,453,000 kilowatt hours in the week ended Jan. 21, an increase of 10 per cent over that in the corresponding 1938 period.

DECEMBER JOBS IN RESERVE AREA NEARER '37 LEVEL

George J. Schaller, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, reported yesterday that industrial employment in the 7th reserve district rose in December to within 7 per cent of the December, 1937, level. Earlier in 1938 employment in industrial plants was 32 per cent less than in 1937. December pay rolls, Schaller said, were down 2 per cent from 1937. This compared with an extreme 40 per cent decline recorded in July.

Both employment and pay rolls showed gains over November. The number of employés was 3.4 per cent higher and pay rolls were up 3.1 per cent.

December retail trade exceeded trade in the corresponding month of 1937 by a small margin. Schaller said preliminary data indicated department sales since Jan. 1 have averaged about 6 per cent less than in the 1938 period, partly because of one less business day in the 1939 period.

100 Million Housing Note Issue Sold on First Day

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said tonight an issue of $100,000,000 of notes of the United States Housing authority was subscribed yesterday, the day it was offered. The notes, bearing 1⅜ per cent interest and maturing in five years, were the first issued by the authority and are guaranteed by the treasury.

Set 64 Billion as 1938 Income of Americans

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Commerce department experts estimated in a report made public today by Secretary Hopkins that Americans received $64,200,000,000 in various forms of income in 1938. The figure was 7 per cent less than in 1937 but 40 per cent more than in 1933.

Harry Hopkins.

At the same time, Hopkins said at a press conference that within two or three weeks he will divulge his program for helping business.

The income figure Hopkins disclosed was the total of wages, dividends, rents, relief and other payments received by Americans. In 1937 the amount was $69,000,000,000.

Not "National Income."

Department experts said the estimated total was not what they technically call national income, which is the total of wealth produced, and which in a recession year like 1938 probably would be less than the income payments to individuals.

President Roosevelt has set $80,000,000,000 as a national income adequate to yield taxes sufficient to balance the federal budget.

Compared with the record year of 1929, the income payments were down about 18 per cent, but living costs were 14 per cent lower in 1938 than in 1929.

The secretary said that, except for two press conferences held between the times he was appointed and confirmed, he had talked to no newspaper men and that there was no truth in stories purporting to place him in the rôle of conciliator between the administration and the utilities, or warring labor factions.

Consulting Business Men.

However, Hopkins reiterated that he was consulting numerous business men individually about their problems. He said he would spend the next two days with the business advisory council of sixty industrial and financial leaders who will hold their monthly meeting in the department.

Hopkins disclosed he had asked Dr. Willard L. Thorp, statistician for a private business research organization, to be his special adviser on business and other economic problems.

In the early days of the Roosevelt administration Secretary Roper, Hopkins' predecessor, nominated Thorp to be chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, but congress declined to confirm Thorp after criticizing his allegedly radical economic theories.

Chicago Firm Gets $605,500 Chanute Field Building Job

The Lipman Construction company, Chicago, has been awarded a $605,500 contract for the superstructure on the 2,200 man air corps barracks at Chanute field, Rantoul, Ill. The building will be four stories high and of brick and concrete. Work will start within thirty days.

FEAR TOO MANY HOGS WILL REVIVE TROUBLES OF PIG SLAUGHTER ERA

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Marketing authorities said today hog farmers were heading toward the same kind of trouble that brought on the government's pig slaughter program in 1933.

Encouraged by existence of abundant corn and other feed, farmers are sharply stepping up hog production. The 1938 pig crop was 15 per cent larger than that of the preceding year and the agriculture department says a 14 per cent increase this year is indicated.

Unless consumer purchasing power expands at a much greater rate than is now expected pork and lard supplies will be excessive and prices much lower, economists said.

Agriculture department reports place the 1938 pig crop at 71,088,000 head, compared with 61,907,000 in 1937. The department predicts that if feed supplies continue ample the 1939 pig crop may exceed 80,000,000.

PLANE STOCKS CLIMB; REST OF LIST IRREGULAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 25.—Stock market prices closed irregularly lower today. Unsettlement over the European situation again was regarded the dominating influence.

The list opened weak, recovered most of the losses in a forenoon rally, then slipped again. In the last half hour, a moderate upswing enabled prices to move up from the lowest levels. Trading was relatively quiet, volume of 903,300 shares comparing with 1,699,700 in the preceding session.

The apprehension over foreign events was mitigated to some extent by several favorable domestic business developments, it was said. These included the sharp gain in electric power output, improved steel operations in Pittsburgh, the slow rise in steel orders reported by Iron Age, and an increase in car loadings.

Aircraft Issues Strong.

The aircraft group made the strongest showing of the day, reflecting reports that France has placed large orders with United States plane makers. Curtiss-Wright, which stands to benefit from the orders, advanced ½ point. Douglas, Boeing, North American Aviation, Sperry, Glenn Martin, United Aircraft and Consolidated Aircraft showed gains running to 1 point. Wright Aero jumped 2 points.

Steels were hard pressed. United States Steel dropped 1½ points in the heaviest volume. Bethlehem lost the same amount. Republic and Youngstown declined fractionally.

Copper shares were subjected to heavy selling at one time, reputedly on fears that the earthquake in Chile might seriously affect the large holdings of important United States companies. Anaconda and Kennecott slumped more than 1 point each in active supply. International Nickel lost 1⅝ points.

Rail Shares Are Weak.

Rail shares closed fractionally lower, after recouping some of their early losses. Some firmness developed in the public utility section in late dealings. North American and Consolidated Edison both rallied to close unchanged. Commonwealth Edison and American Waterworks edged fractionally higher.

General Motors, the most active in its group, closed ¼ point higher. Chrysler slipped ¼ point. Rubbers closed fractionally lower.

Oils were mixed. Texas corporation and Socony-Vacuum pointed higher. Standard Oil of New Jersey and Phillips Petroleum gave ground.

NAZIS MAY AGREE TO PAY BONDS OF AUSTRIA IN U. S.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Germany may assume responsibility for certain Austrian obligations held in America and negotiate directly with bondholders an adjustment of $18,000,000 of debts. This prospect developed today through an exchange of notes between the United States and Germany. Such action has been demanded by the American government.

The $26,000,000 public debt for relief purposes contracted by Austria, in default before Germany absorbed Austria, would be left in abeyance, taking on a status similar to the defaulted war debts of other European governments. The Berlin government reiterated its technical position of not having to assume responsibility for these obligations.

However, it expressed willingness to negotiate with the United States government for a reasonable indemnification of American holders of Austrian loan bonds.

Germany already has concluded agreement for the indemnification of creditors of Austrian loans in Great Britain, France, and the Netherlands.

Interest Payment Ordered on Bonds of Surface Lines

Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday ordered receivers for three Chicago Surface Lines companies to pay semi-annual interest due Feb. 1 on 5 per cent first mortgage bond issues. The companies are the Chicago Railways, Chicago City Railway, and Calumet and South Chicago Railway. The interest payments will total $1,855,575. Interest has been paid regularly on the $72,718,350 outstanding first mortgage bonds since the companies went into receivership in 1927.

FCC to Confer with Justice Agents on Western Union

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—(AP)—The Federal Communications commission said today it had instructed its lawyers to confer with the justice department concerning the refusal of the Western Union Telegraph company to file tarifs covering the rates for incoming cable messages. The Western Union advised the commission in October, 1938, that it would "definitly refuse" to file these schedules. The refusal, the FCC said, appeared to be based on the contention that the commission lacked the necessary authority.

United Air Lines reported yesterday that December business totaled 6,882,080 revenue passenger miles, a gain of 57 per cent over December, 1937. December's mileage dropped 23 per cent from that for November.

Hecker Profit in Quarter Is Half Million

The Hecker Products corporation and McIntyre Porcupine Mines, Ltd., yesterday reported increases in profits for the three months ended Dec. 31. Nash-Kelvinator corporation reported a loss for the period.

Hecker Products [formerly Gold Dust corporation] had a profit of $508,592 in the three month period, equal to 29 cents a share on the common stock. This compared with profit of $213,976, or 12 cents a share, in the corresponding 1937 period. The principal business of the company is the manufacture of food products. Its fiscal year ends June 30.

Gold Producer Earns Million.

McIntyre Porcupine, large Canadian gold producing property, had a profit of $1,002,372 in the December quarter. This amounted to $1.25 a share. In the corresponding 1937 period profit was $954,519, or $1.20 a share.

Nash-Kelvinator operated at a loss of $1,579,702 in the three months ended Dec. 31, the first quarter of its fiscal year. Net loss was $783,046 in the corresponding period of the preceding year. Officials said the delay in the introduction of the company's 1939 line of automobiles affected the results. Production was delayed by labor difficulties.

The American Hide and Leather company had a net profit of $324,668, equal to 33 cents a share on the common stock after preferred dividends. This compared with a net loss of $179,486 in the last half of 1937.

Bliss & Laughlin, Inc., Chicago steel company, had a 1938 profit of $52,062 compared with $659,881 in 1937, C. O. Kalman, chairman, reported to stockholders.

REVIVE REPORT L. J. ROSENWALD MAY QUIT SEARS

Officials of Sears, Roebuck and company would not comment yesterday on reports that Lessing J. Rosenwald, chairman, would resign at the company's directors meeting tomorrow. The meeting will be held in Atlanta, Ga. Should Rosenwald, who is 47, retire, it will be the first time in forty years that a Rosenwald has not been in a key position with the company.

Sources close to the company have said for some time that Rosenwald would resign. Rosenwald termed the rumors "sheer gossip." During the last year, Securities and Exchange commission records show, Rosenwald has sold substantial holdings of the company's stock.

The reports are that Gen. Robert E. Wood, president, will succeed Rosenwald as chairman. Gen. Wood will attain the company's mandatory retirement age of 60 years in June. The retirement provision does not apply to the chairmanship. D. M. Nelson, vice president, may assume the presidency, according to the same sources.

BANKER WARNS FUNDS MUST BE IN LIQUID FORM

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Dr. Walter Lichtenstein, a vice president of the First National bank of Chicago, today attacked the view that commercial banks are no longer under the necessity of keeping their funds in liquid form. He spoke before the Wisconsin Bankers association.

Bankers cannot afford to adopt such a view, he said. He said that in the event of abnormal withdrawals, banks would have to borrow from the central reserve banks or dump large amounts of bonds on the market. An attempt by banks to liquidate a large amount of bonds, he added, would break prices.

"It was made evident to every one in the spring of 1937," he said, "that the market for government bonds and others in the event of a crisis is a pretty thin one."

Lichtenstein said investments, once of secondary importance to banks, now represent 50 per cent of total deposits.

Sprague Given Until Feb. 6 to File Plan for Elevated

Col. A. A. Sprague, trustee for the Chicago Rapid Transit company [elevated lines], was granted a continuance to Feb. 6 in federal court yesterday for the filing of a reorganization plan. Sprague is to submit a plan for reorganizing the company as a step in merging the elevated railways and the Chicago Surface Lines.

AIR LINE ADOPTS TRUST PLAN TO BUY EQUIPMENT

Uses Rail Method to Get Costly Planes.

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—With the cost of superairliners climbing into "big business" figures, Pan American Airways corporation today announced creation of an equipment trust—the first in the history of aviation. The trust will finance the purchase of new airplanes on a "pay as you fly" basis.

Juan T. Trippe.

Juan T. Trippe, president of the large international air line, said arrangements have been made for sale of $2,500,000 of trust certificates. These will pay 4 per cent interest and mature serially on a semi-annual basis, from Jan. 1, 1940, to Jan. 1, 1944. Pan American's directors also authorized the issuance of $1,000,000 more of the certificates at a later date.

Banks to Take Certificates.

Trippe said there would be no public offering of the notes, banks having arranged to take the entire amount.

The equipment trust method of financing the purchase of new equipment long has been used by railroads. Air transport observers saw in Pan-American's step a plan which is certain to contain possibilities, at least, for all commercial air lines.

Hitherto Pan-American, as well as the other companies, has bought its airplanes and flying boats for cash, directly out of its capital funds.

This method worked well with planes costing around $100,000. Now, however, new technical and engineering advances have presented the companies with the problems of planes costing from $250,000 to $750,000, with even bigger and costlier craft in the offing.

Pan-American will establish the Pan-American Aviation Supply corporation as the vendor in the transaction. Supply corporation will buy the new airplanes from the manufacturer, and, in turn, transfer them to the trustee, which will be the New York Trust company.

Airways Pays 30 Per Cent.

Pan-American Airways will pay 30 per cent of the purchase price of each plane and the remaining 70 per cent will be paid through the sale of the trust certificates.

In that way Supply corporation will receive the full purchase price and turn it over to the manufacturer. Then the air line will lease the newly purchased equipment from the New York Trust company, paying a rent. The rent will include the 30 per cent of the purchase price paid at the outset and additional semi-annual instalments sufficient to enable the trust company to retire the certificates progressively semi-annually and pay the 4 per cent interest.

Over the five year period necessary for Pan-American to complete the payments and obtain outright ownership of the planes, the investment in aircraft will be protected by insurance.

Company officials said operating records show that the life of airplanes to be much longer than the five year period of the plan.

Chicago-Philippines Rate Reduced by Mackay Radio

New York, N. Y., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—The Mackay Radio Telegraph company today announced a reduction in message rates from Chicago to the Hawaiian and Philippine Islands, effective Jan. 27. The reductions will range up to 20 per cent.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Bonds moved a shade lower again today. Political uncertainty abroad contributed to market unsettlement, brokers said. Domestic issues did well, and, while some speculative favorites lost fractions to one or more, numerous others showed equal gains.

The foreign dollar list showed the largest losses. Japanese 6½s lost 5⅝ at 77¼ on the sale of eleven bonds. Most Italian issues were weak, with Rome 6½s of '52 down 2 at 64, and Italian 7s of '51 at 70¼ losing over a point. Poland 8s dropped ⅞ at 33⅛. On the other hand, German 5½s of '65 were up 1 at 16¼.

United States governments, along with low yield issues generally, tilted downward. The federals showed losses in some cases as great as 8-32 of a point, and the Associated Press index of ten low yield bonds lost .1 of a point at 110.9.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks closed irregularly lower in quiet trading yesterday. Of the 99 issues traded, 29 advanced, 46 declined, and 24 were unchanged. There were no declines among the actively traded stocks. Transactions were 30,000 shares, compared with 51,000 on Tuesday. THE TRIBUNE average of 20 stocks closed at 10.45, off 0.07.

Most of the actively traded shares closed higher. Middle West added ⅛ point to its gain of Tuesday, closing at 7⅝. Transactions in this stock amounted to 5,580 shares. Commonwealth Edison advanced ⅛ to 27, and General Motors was up 1⅛ at 44⅞.

Marshall Field, General Household Utilities, and Butler were unchanged.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks weakened yesterday in light trading, dealers reported. Losses ranged from 50 cents to $3. City National bank stock lost $1, Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, 50 cents; First National, $1, and Harris Trust and Savings bank, $3.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—(AP)—There was a slightly better demand for sheetings in Worth street today as some sections of the country reported depleted supplies from January white sales. A better tendency developed in combed lawns at steady prices. Burlap and rayon were quiet along with print cloths and broadcloths.

Commodities

Trading in commodity futures was inactive yesterday. Some metals were able to move higher under the leadership of copper. Other commodities were narrowly irregular.

Copper futures transactions increased, and prices advanced .02 to .05 cent a pound. It was reported that the Chilian properties of Anaconda and Kennecott copper companies were not affected by the earthquake in Chili. Lead was higher, zinc steady, and tin slightly lower.

Commission house and Cuban buying provided only a minor check to steadily increasing hedging sales in sugar futures. Domestic sugar closed off .02 to .04 cent a pound lower. The world contract held steady early on light speculative buying, but the close was slightly uneven.

Coffee futures declined under selling credited to European and outside interests. Santos closed .07 to .09 cent a pound lower. Rio ended .02 cent lower to .04 cent higher. Rubber dipped .14 to .18 cent a pound. Hides, silk, and cotton finished slightly higher.

Butter futures steadied on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. Trading was not active and prices held within a narrow range. January storage butter rose ⅛ cent to 24½ cents a pound. February storage, after recording a ¼ cent loss at the opening, recovered to close unchanged at 23⅝ cents a pound.

Purchases by the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation increased nearly 55,000 pounds to 403,000 pounds. The Dairy Products Marketing association reported Pacific coast purchases on Jan. 23 of about 54,000 pounds.

NEW INDUSTRIES FOR CHICAGO AIM OF TRADE GROUP

'39 Drive Outlined; Study Advertising Proposal.

The Chicago Association of Commerce will conduct an intensive drive in 1939 to attract new industries and pay rolls to Chicago, members were told at their annual Palmer House yesterday.

Oscar G. Mayer.

Oscar G. Mayer, meat packer and association president, said the organization is particularly interested in the promotion of Chicago as the nation's aviation manufacturing center.

"The production of airplanes for defense," he said, "is destined to become a great industry, which should be located well inland, not on the tidewater where all our leading plants are placed today. Chicago with its level terrain, good climate, and inexhaustible well of skilled labor is the ideal spot for this important development."

Consider Advertising Campaign.

Mayer said the association is considering sponsoring a national advertising campaign to make other sections familiar with the city's attractions.

"The need of better and more constant advertising of Chicago is becoming more and more apparent," he continued. "Many cities and states are spending large sums of public and private funds to attract visitors. Merely to say that Chicago has the Field museum, Shedd aquarium, Adler planetarium, and Art Institute, and is an ideal summer resort, is not enough. We are giving consideration to special events, to make the city more attractive to tourists and vacationists."

Mayer said other objectives of the association include reduction of delinquent taxes, construction of a great convention hall on Navy Pier, a modern zoning ordinance, reorganization of the Chicago plan commission, more intensive vocational training in the schools, and the creation of an anti-noise commission.

Subway Discussed.

The Chicago subways, which are to be built, were explained to the association members by Joshua D'Esposito, PWA subway project engineer, and Charles E. De Leuw, city subway engineer. Both said the recent start on subway building was forcing settlement of the traction unification problem.

De Leuw said the subways would give direct benefit to all users of the rapid transit lines whether or not they ride in the tunnels. The running of many trains in the tunnels, he said, would lessen trafic and running time over the elevated loop.

D'Esposito said the subways should provide the spur for a big building program.

PERMIT TO RUSH DECATUR TRACK SPUR IS ASKED

The Illinois Central railroad yesterday asked the Illinois commerce commission for authority to rush completion of a spur track at Decatur. The track would enable the Archer-Daniels-Midland company to start construction of a soy bean plant there. Employés of the Illinois Terminal railroad—a downstate electric line—have been opposing the building oif the spur.

Joseph H. Wright, general counsel for the Illinois Central, told the commission the Illinois Terminal line is seeking to block the Illinois Central because it wants to reap the benefits from an industry which has been developed by the Illinois Central.

Wright said industrial agents of the Illinois Central had induced the Archer - Daniels - Midland company, which has its home office in Minneapolis, Minn., to locate its plant at Decatur. Illinois Central officials said the plant would be one of the largest industrial enterprises in Illinois.

Cut in Food Distribution Taxes Asked by Grocers

Reduction of existing taxes on all forms of food distribution and the cessation of all present discriminatory taxation were recommended yesterday by the directors of the Independent Grocers Anti Food Tax Council. The council, which is an organization of retail and wholesale grocers, is holding its annual meeting at the Congress hotel.

Business Bits

R. E. Kramer, vice president in charge of sales of the H. Channon company, has been elected president of the mill supply firm. He succeeds Frederick W. Copeland, who resigned to become president of the Sullivan Machinery company. Copeland's father, Frederick K., was president of the latter company from 1892 to 1928.

C. W. Kress resigned as president and director of the S. H. Kress & Co. His brother, S. H., was elected to succeed him.

W. C. Mullendore, executive vice president of the Southern California Edison company, will speak at the dinner of the Illinois Manufacturers' Costs association Jan. 31 in the Hotel La Salle.

Samuel N. Pickard, president of the Wisconsin Bankers' association, will discuss bankers and public relations at the luncheon of the Chicago Financial Advertisers Friday in the Great Northern hotel.

WORLD'S WHEAT MARKET SHOWS STEADIER TONE

Great Britain Purchases Large Quantities.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Tuesday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$ .70⅛	$ .69⅝	$ .93¾
Corn	.51¾	.51¾	.60¼
Oats	.28⅞	.28½	.31½
Rye	.47	.46⅞	.73½
Soy beans	.83½	.83¾	1.04½

The world's wheat markets showed a firm undertone yesterday. Futures on the Chicago Board of Trade advanced ⅝ cent at one time to a new high since Jan. 4. Selling in Chicago against purchases in Kansas City and Winnipeg to close spreads caused a recession from the best prices. Closing trades were unchanged to ¼ cent a bushel higher.

A much better milling demand for cash wheat was reported in England. Purchases of 1,750,000 bushels from Australia, 500,000 bushels from Canada, and an undisclosed amount of wheat from other countries were disclosed. In the last three days Great Britain is estimated to have bought more than 5,000,000 bushels of cash wheat. Liverpool futures closed ⅝ to 1½ cents a bushel higher.

British Buying Flour.

During the last two weeks British bakers have bought three months' supply of flour, according to a report from Thomson & McKinnon's Liverpool office. British millers have covered these sales with purchases of wheat, largely from Argentina, Australia, and the Danube region, it was said. Brokers pointed out that reports recently indicated part of the English emergency reserve of wheat would be held in the form of flour, which can be stored to better advantage than grain.

Crop comments on winter wheat from the west and southwest were somewhat more favorable. The crop looks better as the result of rains recently, according to the weather bureau summary.

Corn Prices Firmer.

Corn was firmer early in sympathy with wheat and on reports of a better export demand. Sales of 200,000 bushels were said to have been made to Great Britain. It was reported that the day's total business was much in excess of this figure.

Closing trades on corn futures were unchanged to ¼ cent a bushel lower. Local selling was largely responsible for the reaction from the early high. Country offerings showed no evidence of increasing.

FARM SUBSIDIES NECESSARY, SAYS BUSINESS GROUP

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—(AP)—George H. Davis, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, said tonight an all day conference had convinced officials of the chamber and other business leaders that the government must continue to subsidize farmers.

The conference, called by Davis to "see what might be done about the critical agricultural situation," was attended by about fifty persons. They represented farm groups, processors and distributors of farm products, bankers, and transportation organizations.

Davis said sharp opposition was voiced to the present crop control program, with its system of acreage allotments, benefit payments, commodity loans, and marketing quotas. He said the conferees agreed that farmers should be paid subsidies on crops consumed domestically.

LINK H. C. HOPSON WITH ASSOCIATED GAS SUBSIDIARIES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—(AP)—The federal power commission received testimony today that H. C. Hopson, utilities magnate, was active in the affairs of service company subsidiaries of the Associated Gas and Electric system prior to 1939.

James H. Shinn, an official of the so-called "61 Broadway [New York City] companies," testified he frequently carried direct instructions from Hopson to service company officers.

This was said to be the first time the commission had been able to show that Hopson was connected with the companies which sell legal and technical services to Associated Gas operating companies. The commission is seeking to determine whether the Associated Gas management was inimical to the public interest.

Wabash Proposes to Sell $7,500,000 of Certificates

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—The receivers of the Wabash railroad today applied to the interstate commerce commission for authority to issue $7,500,000 of receivers' equipment trust certificates bearing 3½ per cent interest. The receivers said they have arranged the sale.

Bill Would Void Oil Leases if Undrilled in 90 Days

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 25. — (AP) — Oil leases would be voided ninety days after being drawn if drilling operations have not been started during that time under a bill introduced in the house by Charles H. Weber, Chicago Democrat.

Rejected C. I. O. Packers Let Meat Spoil.

Sioux City, Ia., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—A compromise agreement today settled the C. I. O. strike that has interfered with operations in the Swift & Co. packing plant here for 119 days. The settlement provides that all except sixty-five of the striking employés return to work as soon as production arrangements can be made. The strikers taken back will return as new employés.

The sixty-five who may not return to their jobs were the leaders in a sitdown strike that started the trouble last Sept. 29. While engaging in the illegal and unauthorized sitdown, the strikers permitted more than $10.000 worth of meat to spoil.

Company Is Upheld.

Swift officials had held that the question at issue was whether a company must continue to employ workers who wilfully and deliberately destroyed property they were paid to preserve, and whether the employés were to be excused of responsibility for that misconduct and for the orgy of strike destruction which followed.

Included in the settlement announced today was a stipulation obtained by the union from the National Labor Relations board stating that the return of the other union members to employment shall not be considered a discriminatory act against the sixty-five sitdown leaders.

Plant Never Idle.

About 225 men actually took part in the strike, which was called by the C. I. O. over a minor dispute that involved neither wages nor hours. One hundred and fifty men stayed in the plant and many of the strikers returned to work, permitting the company to operate on a limited basis. In addition to the 65 radicals only 158 of the original group still were on strike when the settlement was announced.

The long labor dispute was accompanied by violence that reached such proportions that National Guard troops were called to preserve order, and more than fifty strikers and sympathizers were indicted for criminal actions.

In a labor board ruling returned two weeks ago the company was ordered to recognize the C. I. O. affiliated United Packing House Workers' union.

PRICES OF HOGS ADVANCE; PORK IS UNCHANGED

Hog prices yesterday were steady to 10 cents higher. Medium and weighty stock again showed the most improvement despite the fact that heavy cuts of meat are no higher than they were two weeks ago. Heavy loins sold wholesale at $12.50 a hundred pounds, the same as two weeks ago. Top light loins, which are scarce, brought $15.50, up 50 cents in the two weeks.

Other classes of live stock declined. The bulk of steers and yearlings sold 25 to 50 cents lower than on Monday. Only a few choice cattle escaped the price cutting. Top steers brought $13.50, with the bulk from $9 to $12.50.

A slump of 15 to 25 cents occurred in lambs. Top loads were off 25 cents, at $9.15. Yearlings were quoted 25 cents lower at $8.00. A few old ewes reached $4.75, a steady price.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Sweet Pea Planting Time.

January 25, 1939.

EXPERIMENTS in the Du Page county farm's private flower garden last year demonstrated that sweet peas started from seed sown indoors in January make the best showing. The head gardener says the blossoms cut from the sweet peas last year were the best he has ever raised.

The trial will be repeated this year. Sweet peas that are to produce plants to be brought to the blooming stage in an outdoor garden in the spring are being sown this week.

Gigantic, one of the sweet peas started indoors shortly after the first of the year, made an outstanding showing. This variety regularly produces five white blossoms on a long stem. Many sweet peas produce only three blossoms on a stem.

Midwinter Planting List.

The Gigantic is among the sweet peas to be sown this week. Others on the midwinter planting list include Fairyland, which is rose pink; Enchantress, salmon pink on cream, and Vista, light purple on white ground.

The farm's gardeners say that many home gardeners do not realize fully the value of early planting. Starting sweet peas indoors in January may seem like a waste of time to many inexperienced growers because it means that the plants must be nursed along in a greenhouse for more than two months before they are safe outdoors.

The secret of obtaining excellent blossoms where the sweet peas are planted early in the year apparently lies in allowing the plants plenty of time to produce sturdy stems and big masses of roots. At the farm the sweet peas are started in flats kept in the greenhouse. The seeds are sown in ordinary garden soil, to which has been added a little sand.

Transplanted to Pots.

When the plants are two inches tall they are transferred to 2½ inch pots, one plant to a pot to allow plenty of room for the roots to develop. After the plants have had time to get a good start in the pots, the pots are shifted to cold frames where the temperature is around 35 to 40 degrees Fahrenheit, or just above the freezing point, at night.

Sweet peas thrive in cool weather; they suffer from heat. Although most plants are not put out in the open garden in this region until May, sweet peas will do well outdoors in April, provided they are protected from freezing temperatures. Last year the sweet pea plants grown at the farm were transplanted from the cold frames to the outdoor garden on April 10. Snow fell after that, and the only protection given was a covering of burlap sacks. This double thickness of burlap was all the plants needed to prevent them from being injured by the cold weather.

STEEL PRICES ARE REPORTED HOLDING FIRM

National Production Rate Dips to 52 Per Cent.

The price structure of the steel industry is being maintained despite a decline in the steel business, Iron Age, trade journal for the industry, reported yesterday.

"The steel price situation seems to be having little or no bearing on current steel purchases, despite published reports to the contrary," the magazine said. "Careful investigation discloses no new elements of price weakness, but instead a firming up of quotations that were weak during much of last year. The purchase of about 10,000 tons of sheets by an automobile manufacturer is said to have brought no concessions."

Cause of Slackening.

The slackening of recovery in the steel industry is caused by the general uneasiness of private business over the unsettled situation abroad and in domestic affairs, it said.

"In the domestic scene close watch is being kept on the new congress, which has not yet had full opportunity to demonstrate its asserted independence on certain federal policies that have been regarded as discouraging to business," Iron Age said.

The national rate of ingot production this week has fallen one point from last week's output to 52 per cent of potential production.

Chicago Rate Declines.

Chicago operations declined 3 points to 46 per cent. Pittsburgh mills, on the other hand, climbed 2 points to come even with the Chicago rate. The Cleveland-Lorain district gained 9 points, but losses were recorded for Youngstown, Southern Ohio, Wheeling-Weirton. Plants in the south, however, advanced 5 points to 65 per cent.

Steel sales have broadened steadily since the start of the year, the magazine stated, but not as much as had been predicted. Some companies, however, said their January sales will be 20 per cent more than December.

Railroads have been the most consistent customers. Automobile makers have bought only small lots for immediate needs.

Local Loan Gives
You the Service
You Want

The easier we make it for you to borrow the more we save you in time and money. Our aim is to offer you whatever plan will enable you to borrow most easily. We make liberal Furniture and Auto Loans, but most of our loans are to employed men and women on their signature only because the average employee is entitled to this service. If steadily employed you are entitled to—

$25 TO $300
SALARY LOANS
On Your Signature Only
WITHOUT CO-MAKERS
OR ENDORSERS.

You may make your own repayment terms [repaying any time within 20 months] and you are charged only for the actual time you have the money. We cannot tell you all about our service in an advertisement. Just phone or call at one of the following offices.

Your loan request can be taken over the telephone so you can obtain the money more quickly when you call in person. You'll be surprised to find how rapidly the money is advanced.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

The finishing touch. Lewis goes down for third time in first round, and Louis, standing by, waits for Donovan to stop fight. (Story on page 21.)

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]
